

BEDFORD PA. FRIDAY, JULY 15, 1864.

A company of hundred day men from Bloody Run and Hopewell reported for duty at Harrisburg, last Friday.

THE NEW PAPER.—A gentleman pretty well known in this county, writes as follows from Ray's Hill, concerning Over's paper: "I have heard nothing concerning Over's movements since I was in Bedford. Has he given up the enterprise? If he has not, it will be our duty to induce the people not to take his paper. I feel satisfied it is only a scheme to divide the party, for a selfish purpose. We are all well pleased with the appearance of the Inquirer, and we feel assured that with a continuance of its present character, that your ultimate success will be beyond your most sanguine expectations."

In answer to our correspondent's inquiries we may say that Over has not given up his enterprise. His paper will be out perhaps next week. We are told that he intends to send it to the old subscribers of the Inquirer in hopes that they will not return it. In the meantime we have a bit of information in regard to the origin of the movement that does not surprise us in the least. It corroborates fully our first intimations on the subject and confirms the view in regard to the character of the movement taken above by our correspondent.

Sick and Wounded Penna. Volunteers. Information respecting Pennsylvania soldiers in the Hospitals of Philadelphia, may always be had by application to J. S. PARKER, chief of the Hospital Commission, at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association, No. 1094 Chestnut street.

During the past week we have been in New York for the purpose of procuring a fast power press. We have succeeded in finding one, admirably adapted we think to our wants.

All varieties of press work from a small card to a large sized newspaper can be executed in the best style on it. We expect it will be in operation in a few weeks in our printing office. During our absence our friend Mr. Durbin has had charge of the Inquirer, and most of the original matter in this week's paper is his.

Rev. A. Essick of St. James Church Gettysburg will preach in the Lutheran Church on Sabbath at 10 o'clock.

The Rev. S. J. Nicolls of Chambersburg, will preach in the Presbyterian Church next Sabbath at 10 o'clock A. M., and Rev. J. M. Crowell of Philadelphia, at 7 P. M.

The 2nd Quarterly Meeting for Rainsburg circuit will be held on Saturday and Sabbath the 30th and 31st of July at Hartley's Church.

G. BREKSTRESSER, Pastor.

DISTINGUISHED ARRIVALS.—An unusual large number of visitors have been registered at the springs this week. On Wednesday Miss Lane, Miss Harriet Buchanan, Dr. Henry Carpenter and James Buchanan arrived. A number of his and J. Davis' friends from town went to the Mt. Dallas Station to meet him, and returned to the springs with him. Gen. Buell who is staying at the springs rode in the same carriage by the side of Mr. Buchanan. A "Col." Plume of Philadelphia was conspicuous on the occasion. The "Col." is the person who swung his hat and hurled loudly in town one day last week, when it was reported by the allies of the rebels that Washington was captured. A young man who has been in the rebel service under Imboden was very appropriately in the company.

A subscriber at Six Mile Run sends us three new names for the Inquirer, and adds "the above are all good men—I will try and get you some more." Perhaps one of our readers and subscribers may get an idea from this, and act on it. Our power press, that is to come, will enable us to supply a reasonable number of new subscribers. Say one thousand.

SPECTACLES, SPECTACLES.—Let those who cannot see? The greatest relief and improvement on the sight can be secured by using the celebrated Periscope Crystal Spectacles which have proved so beneficial to thousands of people since first introduced and are the best remedy for weak and afflicted eyes. Every person using glasses will find to his advantage by consulting a thorough practical optician, as only such is able to suit them properly.

M. Polachek Proprietor of the Columbus Optical Institute is in town at the Washington Hotel, and invites the public in general to call on him immediately, as his stay in Bedford will be only for a very short time.

DISAPPOINTED.—A subscriber writes that "I, as well as others of your subscribers were very much disappointed in not finding a list of the drafted men in the Inquirer of the 8th inst." We should have printed the list if we could have procured it in time. In conversation with Capt. Eyster we got the impression that he intended to send us a list of the draft of July 6th in time for insertion in the Inquirer of the 8th, but none was received. We should have been glad to have published it as a matter of interest to our readers.

Episcopal service will be held at the Springs next Sabbath morning at 10 o'clock, and in the Lutheran Church in the evening at 6 o'clock, on which occasion the Rev. M. Mombert of Lancaster will preach.

A FERRIBLE FALL.—The inmates of the Bedford Hotel were aroused during the night of the 14th inst. by the falling of a heavy body on the pavement between the dining and bar-rooms. Upon hurrying to the place a terrible sight presented itself. A man named W. Swindler, agent for John W. Jenkins, No. 275 Baltimore Street, Baltimore, Maryland, who had been stopping at the hotel for several days had arisen in his sleep and thrust himself out of the window and fell a distance of fifteen feet. He was terribly cut and bruised, his nose was crushed flat, but no limbs were broken. He had returned from the Springs about ten and a half of clock and retired and this fearful accident occurred directly afterwards.—He is recovering very rapidly.

TRADING "BAD EGGS" FOR GOOD ONES.—The world presents some strange characters and it occasionally requires strange circumstances to develop them. We were forcibly reminded of this piece of sage experience by a ludicrous "deal" of a "fellow citizen" which came to our understanding not long ago: thus A gentleman was quietly enjoying his leisure and ease on the sidewalk fronting his own, neat, cozy residence. His attention was called to a scene in an adjoining lot across the way. There he saw a boy coming out of a stable with a great hat full of eggs. He was met at the door by the proprietor, a close fist, tight-fitting three cent shaver, who would scale a "greased pole" forty five feet high for a quarter. Shylock closely scrutinized the eggs, taking up one at a time and shaking it, then another, and another until the "bad eggs" of the worst brand. The gentleman lost sight of the boy and man, hat and eggs, for a few minutes, when he was not a little surprised to discover the boy leaving his (the gentleman's) own residence with the identical hat well filled with eggs. His first conclusion was that the boy had been endeavoring to sell them to his family. "Hi! boy, what have you got there!" shouted he. Old Shylock answers, "I want to get a new breed of chickens and I sent a few eggs over to exchange." The gentleman having seen the examination felt sure that his people had been trading "good eggs" for bad ones, and upon examination found all as he expected, and that the old skinner had taken this method to trade old eggs for new ones.

MORALE.—What will a miser not do, to turn an honest penny. LEFT FOR THE FIELD.—On last Tuesday morning, Lieut. Doyle, of Co. I, 21st Pennsylvania Cavalry, left again for the scene of active operations in Virginia. This gallant officer has been spending some time in the bosom of his family at New Paris, this county, on a convalescent furlough. While nobly leading a charge, dismounted, on the 3rd of June last, at Bethesda Church, in Virginia, he received a Minie ball through the fleshy part of the right arm below the elbow. The wound was very sore and painful at first but is now fast healing up. The Colonel, Lieutenant-Colonel and 1st Major were all wounded in the same charge. The Colonel is also recovering rapidly and will soon be able to take the field. Lieut. Doyle is well known in the western portion of this county as ardent and enthusiastic admirer of our free and liberal institutions, having been born in Ireland and tasted the tyranny of England, Liberty to him is no unmeaning fanciful term, and while the Great Ruler of the Universe endows him with the power to strike for the maintenance of our free institutions, that long will he be found periling his life, if necessary, for their preservation. In the field he is represented as the fearless, brave, intrepid officer, the idol of his men and superiors; and whose moral courage is only equalled by his desire to crush the rebellion, and crush it quickly.

Letter from the 35th Regt. P. V. From a letter addressed to a friend in this place under the date of vicinity of Petersburg, Virginia, July 8th, 1864, we make the following extracts for the benefit of those who have friends in that regiment: "It is so very warm here now that a man can hardly breathe. I am now, and have been for the last week, in the rear making out Pay Rolls and Descriptive Lists. We expect to be paid off in about two weeks. The cars run from City Point to this place, once in a while they run up to the trestle work about twenty yards from the front. You would have laughed this morning had you seen the engine hitched to an old molar gun weighing nine tons; she throws a hundred pound ball. The conductor of the train said we might look for 50,000 more troops inside of two days. "Old Grant" has the "bag," if he can only get the rebels into it; if he does, he'll pull the string mighty tight on them.

"It is a very nice thing to see two armies entrenched, and having a small duel every day. We can go up to Gen. Smith's headquarters and get a fine view of both armies. We can look right into Petersburg, and with a glass see people walking the streets.—Our battery that commands Petersburg throws the shells right into it. We set it on fire two nights ago and after some exertion on the part of the 'rebs,' they put it out. We could hear the alarm bells very distinctly.

"Our regiment has lost very heavy during the campaign. The boys are all worn out, but they have the hope that this will be the final blow to Rebellion.—Everything looks favorable so far. I suppose that you have heard by this time that Adam Carn a Company was taken prisoner, except Adam and a couple of his men. I saw Will Eiler of the 139th, their regiment lay on the extreme left of our line.—He says that their line advances some every night.—Our regiment went out into the rifle pits last night—they are relieved every forty-eight hours. A person dare not 'poke' his head above the pits, in the day time, if he does, he can look for a dozen of bullets to come at him. The rebels have the advantage of our right wing. They have an inflating battery across the Appomattox, which they open now and then upon our pits, but when they commence, our fellow soldiers, the battery at Gen Smith's headquarters throws right into her, so that they have to leave.

"We have one good institution in the army and that is the United States Sanitary Commission, if not more. They give the boys with paper, they could not write. They give it out every day. The Eighth Corps received a very fine lot of vegetables from the North, such as onions, cabbage, pickles, potatoes, and a great many other articles. I presume you folks in Bedford had a nice time on the 4th of July. A very quiet time, indeed.—Editor.] We in the field had a more 4th, nevertheless, are willing to sacrifice all holidays for the Country.

"Yours Very Respectfully, D. W. KADABAUGH."

NEGLECTED COUGHS AND COLDS. Few are aware of the importance of checking a Cough or "Common Cold" in its first stage; that which, in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected, soon preys upon the Lungs. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" or Cough Lozenges, afford instant relief.

DIED. On the 9th inst., near St. Clairville, Minnie, daughter of John and Sarah Ake, aged 1 year, 11 months and 8 days. The deceased came to her death by accidentally falling into a well.

On the 12th inst., Adam, son of Jacob Dibert, aged 2 years, 8 months and 8 days.

By EDWARD MAYHEW, M. R. V. S., Author of "The Illustrated Horse Doctor." One Vol. 8vo.

A Companion to the Illustrated Horse Management. NEW EDITION.

THE ILLUSTRATED HORSE DOCTOR.

Being an accurate and detailed account, accompanied by more than 400 pictorial representations characteristic of the various diseases to which the Equine race are subjected; together with the latest mode of treatment, and all the requisite prescriptions written in plain English.—By EDWARD MAYHEW, M. R. V. S., author of several Works on Veterinary Art.

[From the London Globe.] Every gentleman who possesses or cares for horses would do well to keep this book in his house. Mr. Mayhew's treatment of the most diseases to which horses are liable is very clearly laid down and the method of keeping horses well and to a prolonged old age, is that of common sense.

[From the Era.] No one with the least equine knowledge can require to be told that Mr. Mayhew is the man for the task which he has undertaken, and most satisfactorily accomplished. His high reputation in the veterinary art, and his qualifications as a practical writer on domestic animals, render him the very person for supplying an intelligent and interesting work on the diseases of the horse, which would be devoid of mere professional localities, while, at the same time, his skill as a draughtsman, and humor as a witty observer of life, enabled him to illustrate with his pen and pencil, in a most interesting and readable manner, the various diseases to which the horse is liable, and to give us a list of the kind which we know; and what gives it an additional charm, is that the author so thoroughly sympathizes with the public mind which he describes. It is an apt and concise, and at the same time, so thoroughly informing, yet highly amusing; acceptable to the profound horse doctor, yet the work of all others for the book shelves in every gentleman's study. We give it our unqualified approbation and recommendation.

Either of the above books will be sent by mail on receipt of $2.

MANHOOD—How Lost, how Restored. Just published, a new addition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure (without medicine) of Spermatorrhoea, or seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotence, Mental and Physical Inactivity, Impediments to Marriage, &c. also Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance. 22¢ Price in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents. The celebrated author in this admirable essay clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or application of the knife—pointing out a mode of cure, at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically.
