Copperheads Quail Before the Storm.

Last Tuesday afternoon long | ere night began to bring its sabre mantles over and about the towering Alleghenies, the people began to flock into town, to swear once more upon the altar of their Liberties and if they have any effect, it will be to stim that the country "must and shall be preserved."-At the dividing point between darkness, and the expiring rays of light which were ebbing out, closing p a glorious day, the Somerset Brass Band came into town playing in melodious harmony several of our National airs.

At the first tap of the Court House bell the thronged streets moved en mass in solid column toward that place of convocation the hand discoursing fine mu sic on the way. The House was jammed in less time than it takes us to record a fact. Ladies were justled two and froe seatless, while hundreds of men stood for long hours listening to the clear, and unan swerable argument of Gen. Koontz, and the caustic scathing of the opposite speaker of the night previous, by Col. Jordan.

The meeting was organized by calling the. Hon. Samuel L. Russell of Bedford to the chair, and the election of the following Vice-Presidents :

Bedford borPresident, S. L. Russell, Bedford borVice-Presidents, Capt. Geo. Smith Bloody Run borJas. M. Barndollar.
Broad Top. Colerain, Cumberland Valley, Hopewell, Harrison, Liberty,	Martin Hetrick, Harry Bruner, Jas. E. Ray, Martin Fichtner,

COMMITTEE ON RESOLUTIONS. -- Woodberry Mid-dle, Jas. Madara, Woodburry South, C. W. Acheum Chairman; D. C. Long: Providence East, Samuel Stailey, L. H. Diehl; Providence West, Solomon Williams.

Gen. William H. Koontz, the Union nominee for Congress, was then introduced to the audience and in an able and eloquent speech of over an hour's duration he held the audience spell-bound while he presented the state of the country and the issues which are now about to be submitted to the people.

Resolved. That we cordially endorse the platform and candidates so manimously presented for our sul-frages by the recent National Convention at Balti more : and that with such principles and such stan-dard-bearers we go forth into the Presidential con-test for the integrity of the Union and the perpetua-tion of our Government, hopeful of a speedy sup-pression of the rebellion, and of the restoration of peace to our suffering country, on an honorable and lating basis his Honor, Ex-Judge Kimmel. This gentleman, recently being one of the judicary, is now looking for ward to the time when he again shall occupy the same position, responded cheerfully to his fellow citizens, frequently calling them ""Gentlemen of the Jury," which, was certainly very appropriate, for in remarks he said, that the Democracy were the only people capable of deciding the great issue that is now before the American people, and at the same time he alone, separate and apart from that "great people'' went on to show the "gentlemen of the jury" the many times, "yea times without number" that Abraham Lincoln had broken the Constitution of aforesaid and deserves punishment at the hands of those who have heretofore preserved us a nation stage of the meeting I was reminded of the scene before Pontus Pilate, when the Jews cried out, "cru-cify him ! crucify him !" He aroused the people to such a pitch, that it was almost impossible to get them back to their former state of mind without doing them some mental injury. He spoke of the six shooters that might be used in case those loyal men, who, on the 29th ult., at Chicago, were celebrating the birth day of Benedict Arnold, were insulted by any of Lincoln's soldiery, and so this able gentleman continued from one degree of abuse to another and that the Democratic party is loyal and always has Gen. A. H. Coffroth, made a rambling incoherent speech, running over with frothy and pointless a-buse of the administration. One Vorhees, announced as a cousin of the Indiana Copperhead Congress man, essayed to add his mite to the billingsgate of previous speeches. The speeches were all charac terized by violent denunciations of the Government violence and resistence to the laws of the land. *

often heard before on similar occasions, a tirade of abuse against the Government. The first speaker called to the floor was a gentleman named Johnson, from Cambria county ; a man on his own testimony, besmeared with Copperheadism. This gentleman proceeded, frequently interrupted by loud cheering of the many boys who frequently throng the speaker's stand on such occasions. The substance of this gentleman's address was the same as that of all speakers of that class. He spoke of the days when Democracy held the reins of Government, when peace and plenty flooded the land, when the poor man could dwell securely within his humble habitation, or scripturally speaking, "under his own vine and fig tree, none daring to' molest or make him afraid," all of which existed under democratic rule, but forther stating that the time had now arrived when things were just the reverse. Men were dragged from the wives of their bosom and cast into dark and filthy cells for simply expressing themselves in regard to the present administration. He also cited his hearers to the injustice done the Southern chivalry both before and since the war began, and now it was our duty as humane people to put this strife to a close by peace, &c., &c.
