A writer of a modern book of travels relating the of his being cast away, thus concludes: "After having walked eleven hours without having tracked the print of a human foot, to my great comfort and delight I saw a man hanging on a gibbet; my pleasure at the cheering sight was inexpressible, for it convinced me that I was in a civilized country."

There is this difference between those two temporal blessings, health and money—money is the most envied, but the least enjoyed; health is the most enjoyed but the least envied; and the superiority of the latter is still more obvious when we reflect that the poorest man would not part with health for money, but that the richest would gladly part with all his money for health.

A professor of geology exhibiting in Cornwall, England, borrowed a penny from a miner and turned it very speedily into a sovereign. "And is that my penny?" asked the miner, "let me see it." He took the sovereign and putting it in his pocket said: "I'll keep it in this shape: I don't want it turned back again."

Mr. Whittico, Solicitor of the War Department, in a recent speech in Boston, said that there could be no impropriety in stating that on the first day of October he had received under the last call over 120,000 volunteers, and he had been informed by authority to which he gave the highest credit, that the last draft, when completed, would furnish all the men who would be needed for the war.

A young man in Boston married a wife a few weeks ago, went out into the back yard in the evening and has not been heard of since. His wife subsequently received a letter from him, stating that he had left her because he was unworthy of her, and before she would receive the letter, he should be no more.

The Superintendent of the Public schools of Boston reports that many of the pupils are overworked to such an extent as to constitute an evil of great magnitude. This evil exists in both the upper and lower classes, but it is more fully developed, and more injurious in its effects, in the highest divisions, where the pupils are competing for medals. The average attendance is thirty two thousand.

AN OLD DISEASE.—"And what is the matter with you?" asked Arabella of a harty invalid with shodder straps; "why ain't you with your regiment?" "Me? Oh! I'm sick—I've got something the matter with my liver."

"Ah! Yes; 'tis White?" replied the maiden, scornfully; and off she went to dance—would you have thought it?—with a civilian.

Through theoretical and practical instruction in all branches pertaining to a finished Business Education, The Philadelphia College stands first in the State, both in point of reputation and local advantages. The point aimed at is to place Commercial Education where it belongs—in the front rank of useful instruction. To this end, most thorough course of business training is adopted, and carefully enforced, under the personal supervision of competent Professors in the various departments. The most perfect system of practical training ever devised has been put in operation, and is successfully carried out, affording to students advantages such as have hitherto been considered possible only in connection with the journeying home. After becoming proficient in the sciences of Accounts, Penmanship, Commercial Calculations and Commercial Law, the student is advanced to the Practical Department, where he becomes an actual Book-keeper and Merchant; passes through the different Houses (acts in turn as Teller, Cashier, &c.); learns the duties and responsibilities of each office, and becomes thoroughly informed in all the forms which are in universal use, but in managing the affairs of business with system and dispatch.

Scholarships issued at one point, are good from an unlimited period in the eighteen Colleges comprising the Chain.

Diplomas are awarded to those who fulfill the prescribed course of study, and pass the requisite examination.

For further information send for a circular. Address: BRYANT, STRATTON & CO., Philadelphia. Jan. 29, 1864—9 mo.
