Those men have the worst opinion of women who are conscious that women ought to have the worst of them.

Pride is never so effectively put to the blush as when it finds itself contrasted with an easy but dignified humility.

Sensibility is a star that can lead one only when the sky is clear. Reason is a magnetic needle that guides when the sky is wrapped in darkness.

Petroleum is superseding all other illuminators on British railways. It is more brilliant than any other oil, and it is also much cheaper.

A tall Kaffir rat-eater is giving exhibitions in England. He wears a cap and apron, and eats from 30 to 40 rats per day.

A young married couple may well be content with a mere martin's box of a house if it will hold (so or so) no matter how humbly furnished it is in the interior.

A censorious man is a most disagreeable companion. Nobody likes the society of a man who, like doomsday, calls to mind all the faults of the whole human race.

Have courage enough to review your own conduct; to condemn it where you detect your faults; to amend it to the best of your ability; to make good resolves for your future guidance, and to keep them.

Some Indiana booksellers bid in a lot of very cheap Bibles at a New York auction sale last week. They thought they had a great bargain, until, on checking off the invoice, they found the Bibles were in Choctaw language.

"Henry, my love, I wish you would drop that book and talk to me; I feel so dull." "A long silence and no reply. "Oh Henry my foot's asleep." "Is it? Well, don't talk, dear; you might wake it!"

Pyrographic wood is now quite fashionable for fitting up and ornamenting ship's cabins. Pyrographic wood is that wood which is impressed, by burning, ornamental designs and figures. The process is called fire writing.

At no time of life should a man give up the thoughts of enjoying the society of women. "In youth," says Lord Bacon, "women are our mistresses, at a riper age our companions, in old age our nurses, and in all ages our friends."

We had heard that America was languishing for an aristocracy. A proof of the statement comes by the last mails. "Ladies are about to be employed at Philadelphia as reporters." This will make it necessary for all speakers to be gentlemen.

An actor, now a member of a Pennsylvania regiment near Richmond, has written to his friends, telling them that his officers promise to let him have the lease of the Richmond Theatre as soon as the Federal arms take that city. Patriotism may be in the heart, but certainly speculation is in the eye of this gallant soldier.

Old Master Brown brought his fiddle down, his face was angry and red, "Now, Anthony Clair, go seat you there, along with the girls," he said. Then Anthony Clair, with mortified air, and his chin bent down on his breast, crept slowly away, and sat all day by the girl that loved him the best.

At Painesville, O., there is a man, Valentine Pines, 62 years old, whose bones have all become limestone. Ossification has been going on ever since he was 11 years old, when his knee was badly injured, and the joint became ossified. For thirty years he has been unable to open his jaws, and for forty years he has laid on his side on a bed. Food is placed in his mouth and nature gets it into his stomach. His appetite is good, and so is his memory and his general intelligence.

Mummy Wheat.—Scientific experiments, made in Egypt, prove that "mummy wheat" will not germinate. Hence there is every reason to believe that the ears hitherto ostensibly obtained from mummy wheat proceed from grain accidentally contained in the mold into which the former was sown, or else some sort of wheat desired to "reap where he had not sown."

Miss Madam Tleston, daughter of the late Cornelius Tleston, of Williamsburg, Mass., was married a few weeks since, at Oxford, Ohio, to Rev. Calvin Fairbanks, after an engagement of thirteen years. Preparations for their wedding were being made twelve and half years ago, when Mr. Fairbanks was imprisoned in Kentucky for assisting slaves to escape, and he has just been released. During all this time Miss Tleston did not relax her efforts to secure his release.

WHAT DOES "ECONOMY" MEAN? In our use of the word "economy," it means merely sparing or saving; economy of money means the saving of money, economy of time the sparing of time, and so on. But economy no more means saving money than it means spending money. It means the administration of a house—its stewardship; spending or saving, that is whether money or time, or anything else to the best possible advantage. In the simplest and clearest definition of it economy means the wise management of labor; and it means this mainly in three senses, namely, first, applying your labor rationally; secondly, preserving its produce carefully and lastly, distributing its produce reasonably.

TOUCHING ALLUSION.—At the closing exercises of the American Board which met week before last in Worcester, Mass., Rev. Mr. Jessup, of the Syrian mission, who had deeply interested the assembly throughout the series of meetings uttered a few earnest words, expressive of his deep interest in Syria and his desire to return as soon as possible to his work there. He spoke, as only a father could, of his little motherless children, whom he must leave behind. He spoke also of his aged father, Judge Jessup, of Pennsylvania, Vice-President of the Board, who has recently been visited with two successive strokes of paralysis. "All is gone of my father," said he, "except that which belongs to heaven. He remembers nothing which pertains to his secular affairs. But he remembers the American Board. He cannot find the way to his own house, but he has no trouble in going to the house of God. He cannot call the names of his own family, but he can conduct the family devotions as he has always done. The side toward the heaven is bright, that toward earth is dimmed.—He remembers those lamps of golden ore in the mountain of California, which, worn all around by the action of the elements, project from the rock to turn their bright faces toward the heavens, and to respond with an answering light to the radiance of its own glory."

Through theoretical and practical instruction in all branches pertaining to a finished Business Education. The Philadelphia College stands first in the State, both in point of reputation and local advantage. The point aimed at is to place Commercial Education where it belongs—in the front rank of useful instruction. To this end a most thorough course of business training is adopted and carefully enforced, under the personal supervision of competent Professors in the various departments. The most perfect system of practical training ever devised has been put in operation, and is successfully carried out, affording to students advantages such as have hitherto been considered possible only in connection with the counting house.

After becoming proficient in the science of Accounts, Penmanship, Commercial Calculations and Commercial Law, the student is advanced to the Practical Department, where he becomes an actual Book-keeper and Merchant; passes through the different Houses; sets in turn as Teller, Cashier, &c.; learns the duties and responsibilities of each office, and becomes thoroughly informed not only in the forms which are in universal use, but in managing the affairs of business with system and dispatch.

Graduates issued at one point, are good for an unlimited period in the eighteen Colleges comprising the "chain."

Diplomas are awarded to those who fulfill the prescribed course of study, and pass the requisite examination. For further information send for a circular. Address: BRYANT, STRATTON & CO., Philadelphia.
