Mens and Other Atems.

The Japanese princes have harems just like those of the Turks and Mermons.

In England they manufacture eighty miles of Atlantic telegraph cubic every week. That cable is to be surely laid this time.

Cooper says that "the tear that is wiped with address may be followed, perhaps, with a smile." An exchange says, if it is a woman's tear, the perhaps is unnecessary; you can generally dry it with a dress.

A man recently broke off a marriage because the lady did not possess good conversational powers. A wicked editor, in commenting upon the fact, says, "He should have married her and then refused her a new bonnet, to have developed her powers of talk."

MARRIED ON HORSEBACK.—A wedding took place at Sherwood, IR, recently, the contracting parties being Mr. Josiah W. Crandall and Miss Helen B. Hurst. The ceremony was performed at the officiating elergyman's residence, the bridal party being on horseback, and the bride and her three brides maids, (Miss Fanny C. Hurst, Julia Shellenburg and Mary M. Thurber,) dressed and mounted en cavalier. The novelty of the ceremony attracted a large company of the neighbors.

The leaves of the elder if strewed among corn of other grain, when it is pat in the bin, will effectually preserve it from the ravages of the weevith. The juice will also kill bedbugs and mag-gots. If insects never touch elder Jushes. The leaves of elder scattered over cabbages, cucumbers, squashes and other plants subject to the ravages of insects effectually shield them. The plum and other fruits may be saved by placing on the tranches, and among them, bunches of the leaves."

ATTACKED BY CROWS. A gentleman of Wheeling went hunting a few days since, and not finding any better game, he took a shot at a flock of crows tha better game, he took a shot at a flock of crows that were cawing in the woods. He wounded one of the birds in the wing when it fluttered to the ground and the gentleman picked it up. The hurt bird fluttered and cried most piteously, when suddenly the whole flock came to its assistance and made an attack upon the hunter. They fluttered about his head and picked and scratched him with such violence that he was obliged to defend himself with a stick, and was finally compelled to let the wounded crow go, and beat a retreat.

THE PASSION FOR DISPLAY .- The world is crazy for show. There is not one person in a thousand who dares fall back on nothing but his real, simple self for power to get through the world, and extract enjoyment as he goes along. There is too much living in the eyes of other people. There is no end to the aping, the mimicry, the false airs, and the suppose that the strength of the series of the people. perficial arts. It requires rare courage, we admit, to live up to one's enlightened convictions in these times. Unless you consent to join in the general cheat, you are jostled out of reach. There is no room for you among the great mob of pretenders. If a man dares to live within his means, and is resolute in his prepared to the product of the produ lute in his purpose not to appear more than he real ly is, let him be applauded. There is something fresh in such an example.

Collar Bones of the Tiger.—Mr. Buckland, in the Field of June 11, under the heading "Collar-Bones of the Tiger," says: "The figer, I believe, is unable to climb trees." Allow me to call his attention to "Shakspaer's Wild Sports of India," p. 115: "While I think of it, let me mention that tigers sometimes get up into large trees, and that two were thus killed in the Raipore district of the Nagpore province." Rice, in his "Tiger-Shooting in India," p. 45, says of the collar bones: "These are two small bones about four inches long, bent like a bow; embedded in a mass of muscle in the tiger's fore-arm; they are quite disconnected from any other bone, they are quite disconnected from any other bone, and are only to be found in the panther, tiger, or lion. The natives superstitiously regard them as 'charms' against evil. . . . The Bheels call these bones 'goojbul,' and says their use is to give more force to the tiger's blow, when with his paw he strikes down his prey."—SMOOTHBORE.

A RUNNING ARCHRISHOP.—Soon after Whately first arrived at his country house of Still-Organ the hay was ripe, and a number of men were called in to mow and make it. They were resting for a moment to refresh themselves on the food which the Archbishop supplied them. "Are you good runners?" he said. "Yes, your Honor," replied several; "we ran agin' the east wind yesterday, and bate it." "Well, now, I'll give this half crown to the man that first touches that tree." The tree grew at the other end of the field, and the field was a wide one. Up sprang all the mowers, and the Archbishop the other and of the field, and the field was a wide one. Up sprang all the mowers, and the Archbishop standing behind, gave the word, "Once twice, thrice, and away!" Away they went, and the foremost were nearing the tree, when rapid steps were heard behind them, and a pair of long legs swept by them all. It was the Archbishop himself, who, touching the tree, turned round and laughed immoderately—an exercise in which, a moment given to blank astonishment, the whole field joined; and he put the half-crown back into his own pocket.

All about Dimples.—Dimples are the perpetual smiles of Nature—the very cunningest device and lurking-place of Love. When earth is dimpled by dells and valleys it always seems to laugh; when the ocean is dimpled by the breeze, it sparkles with joy beneath the sunshme of heaven. We can not look for frowns on a dimpled face: frowns and dimples will not associate together. How soft, how rogish, how beautiful are the dimples in the elbows and shoulders, the pretty hands and feet of the rosy babe! Mothers dote upon those darling dimples, and delight to kiss them. But perfectly enchanting dimples, at least to the eyes of an enthusiastic young man, are those which come peeping out of the cheeks around the mouth of "sweet seventeen," when sweet seventeen essays some arch provoking sally, peeping out, and flying away the moment after, coming and going with the most bewitching coquetry.

A Canine Postman.—Mr. Robert Nash, church-

A CANINE POSTMAN.—Mr. Robert Nash, church-warden of Otford, has a fine black retriever, who warden of Otford, has a fine black retriever, who regularly goes to the post-office in the village, about twenty minutes past seven in the morning, and conveys the letters, newspapers, etc., for his master, with, unerring precision. The sagacious animal walks straight to the office, and the postmaster, or mistress, places the letters, etc., on the counter, when he siezes them in his mouth, and goes to his master's house, and will not deliver them to anyone besides Mr. Nash; if he cannot find him at once, he searches the house and premises till he succeeds in doing so. This interesting animal invariably goes from his master's house at a walking pace, and returns with his letters, etc., at a bounding trot; thus showing a good example to human letter-carriers, which they will do well to follow.—Dover Chronicle.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CASE .- A soldier in Sher An Extraordinary Case.—A soldier in Sherman's army, with throat cut from ear to ear, was thought to be mortally wounded, by a council of surgeons; but the one under whose immediate care he was, thought he was justified in making an experiment for the good of others, at the same time having great hopes of saving the man. He first commenced his task by cutting through where the two upper ribs meet the sternum, and through this orifice, for forty days, he has been fed five gallons of milk per week, and sometimes his appetite required five per day. He is fat and hearty, and the surgeon thinks in two weeks he will have him able, and the inside of his throat so nearly healed as to allow him thinks in two weeks he will have him able, and the inside of his throat so nearly healed, as to allow him to swallow by the natural passage. He at first introduced a stomach pump and thus fed his patient, and after a few hours would clear his stomach in the same manner, thus producing artificial digestion, till it was no longer necessary. A silver tube is now used to feed him.—Louisville Journal.

used to feed him.—Louisville Journal.

The Life of Dr. Raffles, just published, the following story is told, in connection with a preaching journey in 1814: On our way from Wem to Hawkestone we passed a house, of which Mr. Lee told the following occurrence: "A young lady, the daughter of the owner of the house, was addressed by a man who, though agreeable to her, was disliked by her father." Of course he would not consent to their union, and she determined to clope. The night was fixed, the hour came, he placed the ladder to the window, and in a few minutes she was in his arms. They mounted a double horse, and were soon at some distance from the house. After a while the lady broke silence by saying, "Well, you see what a proof I have given you of my affection: I hope you will make me a good husband." He was a suriey fellow, and gruffly answered, "Perhaps I may, and perhaps not." She made him no reply, but after a silence of some few minutes she suddenly exclaimed, "Oh, what shall we do? I have left my money behind me in my room." Then, said he, we must go back and fetch it. They were soon again at the house, the ladder was again placed, and the lady remounted, while the ill-natured lover waited below. But she delayed to come, and so he gently called, "Are you coming?" when she looked out of the window, and said, "Perliaps I may, and perhaps not; then shut down the window, and left him to return upon the double horse alone."

Thorough theoretical and practical instruction in all branches pertaining to a finished Business Education. The Philadelphia College stands first in the State, both in point of reputation and local advantages. The point aimed at is; to place Commercial Education where it belongs—in the front rank of useful instruction. To tais end a most thorough course of busines training is adopted and carefully enforced, under the personal supervision of competent Professors in the various departments. The most perfect system of practical training over devised has been put in operation, and is successfully carried out, affording to students advantages such as have hitherto been considered possible only in connection with the counting house. After becoming proficient in the science of Accounts, Penmanship, Commercial Calculations and Commercial Law, the student is advanced to the Practical Department, where he becomes an actual Book-keeper and Merchant; passes through the different Houses; acts in turn as Teller, Cashier, &c.; learns the duties and responsibilities of each office, and becomes thoroughly informed not only in the forms which are in universal use, but in managing the affairs of business with system and dispatch. Scholarships issued at or e voint, are good for an unlimited period in the eighteen Colleges comprising the "chain."

STOMACHH LIVEB AND BOWELS. Cures Dyspepsia, Liver complaint, Headache, General de-billly, Nervousness, Depression of Spirits, Constipation Colic, Intermittent Ferers, Gramps and Spasms, and all Complaints of either Sex, arising from Bodily Weakness whether inherent in the system or produced by special

Nothing that is not wholesome, genial and restorative in its nature enters into the composition of Hostetier's Stomach Bitters This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind, no deadly botanical element; no fiery excitant; but it is a combination of the extracts of rare balsamic herbs and plants with the parest and mildset of all diffusive stimularies. est of all diffusive stimulants

It is well to be forearmed against discan e, and so far as human system can be protected by human m. ans against maladies engendered by an unwholesome atmos, here, im-pure water and other external causes, Hostetter's Bitters may be relied on as a safeguard. In districts infested with Fover and Sque, it has been found in fallible as a preventive and irresistable as a remedy, and thousands who sesort to it under apprehension of an attack, escape the scourges and thousands who negleet to avail themselves of its protective qualities in advance, are cured by a very brief course of this marvelons medicine Fever and Ague patients, after being plied with quinine for months in vain, until fairly saturated with that dangerous alkaloid, and not unfrequently restored to health within a few days by the use of Rostet

The weak stomach is rapidly Avigorated and the appe-tite restored by this agreeable Torni, and hence it works wonders in cases of Dispepsia and in less confirmed forms indigestion. Acting as a gentle and painless aperients, as well as upon the liver, it also invariably relieves the Constipation superinduced by irregular action of the dis gestive and secretive organs.

Persons of feeble habit, liable to Nervotes Attacks, Lonness of Spirits, and Fits of Languor, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The testimon von this point is most conclusive, and from both sexes.

The agony of Billious Colic is immediately assu. god by a single dose of the stimulant, and by occasionally r. sorting to it, the return of the complaint may be prevent di As a general Tonic, Hestetter's Bitters produce effects which must be experienced or witnessed before they can be fully appreciated In cases of Constitutional Weak. ness, Premature Decay and Debility and Decreptitude arising from Old Age, it exercises on electric influence A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF LADIES' In the convalescent stages of all diseases it operates as an invigorant. When the powers of nature are relaxed, it operates to re-enforce and re-establish them.

Last, but not least, it is The Only Safe Stimulant, being tirely free from the acid elements present more or loss in in all the ordinary tonics and stomachies of the day.
