FIRE. -The house of Mrs. John M. Rollins in Cumberland Valley, seven miles south of Bedford was entirely consumed by fire last Friday night .-The fire was so far under way, before it was discov ered that but few of the effects in the house were saved. Mrs. Thomas Hunt an invalid eighty-five years old, was carried out on her bed. The loss of Mrs. Rollins is stated at $1,000. A lady, the daughter of Mr. James Rea, living with Mrs Rollins, lost property valued at $700. The fire is thought to have been the work of an incendiary. No insurance.

LECTURE. - An interesting lecture was delivered on Tuesday evening, in the Presbyterian Church in this place, on behalf of the Sanitary Commission, by the Rev. J. Park, of Wisconsin. The speaker facts, strikingly showing the comprehensive and beneficent workings of the Sanitary Commission. One statement made, might be accepted as conclusive evidence of the ability and economy exhibited in the management of the extensive operations carried on by the Commission. Seven millions of dollars have been expended, at a cost of only three per cent., for collection, disbursements, agents, &c., giving ninetyseven cents to the soldier out of every dollar con-

Another fact stated illustrates the results of the labors of the Commission on a vital point-that of health. Comparative tables have been published showing that the relative deaths, from sickness and wounds in battle, have been greatly diminished since the beginning of the war, and the health of our armies, as shown by the percentage of deaths, greatly exceeds that of the European armies. The improvement in the sanitary condition of our armies is directly traceable to the labors of the Sanitary Com-

The Escape of Lieut. Conley.

In our last paper, we alluded to the escape of Lieut. Conley from Rebeldom, and his safe return to his home in Schellsburg. We have since had a conversation with him, and gathered interesting details. Lieut. Couley was among the prisoners taken He confirms the statements made at that time of the massacre of more than two hundred colored prisoncations referred to, it is said, were found at Grant ers by the rebels. He saw the squads of rebel soldiers as they severally returned from shooting the negroes, and heard them state how many each shot. tions for oil unmistakable. The discovery, it is We do not remember of seeing any serious denial of the massacre; which was in effect, admitted in some of the Southern papers. In the official report of the capture of Plymouth, the negroes taken, were reported as "lost." The paper, (a Charleston one,) in publishing the report, remarked, that "our readers will understand what "lost" means." Lieut. Conley was detained at Andersonville a short time. presented an instructive and impressive array of He had an opportunity of inspecting the place of confinement, in which so many of our brave men have been starved to death. They were all herded in a field of sixteen acres, surrounded by a high board fence, made in such manner as to prevent the passage of a man through or over it. There were no trees, awning or shelter of any description in the enclosure. The rations, were one pint of corn meal a day. The recital of the sufferings of the prisoners, in this pen, fit only for the hardiest dumb beasts, has already to often excited the horror and indignation of the civilized world, to be cularged upon here More than a hundred a day died during the summer months, with no attempt, as far as we have ever noticed, on the part of the rebel authorities to mitigate the sufferings of their prisoners.—

The Lieut was held at Macon two months, and was taken from that place to Charleston on the 29th day of July. On the fifth of October last, he was ordered to Columbia, S. C., and took passage on the no trees, awning or shelter of any description in ordered to Columbia, S. C., and took passage on the cars on the morning of that day. The prisoners were placed in the common box or freight cars .-Mention was made of the articles most useful to There was not sufficient room on the inside for all, and puite a number were placed on the roof of the cars out side. Shortly after ten o'clock in the night the the light was a sentinel, who as the car passed, discovered the three men, two of whom were already moving for the woods near the road. He instantly brought his gun to bear and fired upon the remaining one, Lieut. Conley, whose clothes near a vital part of his body were pierced through by the bullet.

The Lieut. Probably saved his life by instantly, as he saw the sentinel raise his piece, throwing him self over beyond the cross ties. He immediately plunged into the woods, the train passing on without stopping. From this time, their whole route to within a few days travel of Knoxville, lay through the woods and untraveled byways, traveling in the night and laying by, during the day. They found without exception, the negroes friendly, and remarkably well informed in regard to every thing touching the rebellion, and particularly its effect upon their condition. They were supplied with food corn bread, sweet potatoes &c., throughout their whole journey to the mountains, by these faithful friends. They arrived in Knoxville after thirty nine days travel, and many narrow escapes. DIED.

SKILINGTON.—John H. SKILINGTON, of Bedford Co., Pa., died in the U.S. General Hospital, at Alexandria, Va., Sept. 14, 1864, of Typhoid Fever, aged 25 years, 2 months and 2 days. About two months before his death he was drafted into the U.S. service in the "three years call." Knowing his inability for military duty on account of considerable deafness and a week constitution, he had been deterred from volunteering as he had desired to do. Notwithstanding this, to the astonishment of his friends, (enemies he had none.) he was taken as a drafted man, to the impropriety of which his early death testifies. For several years previous to his death he was a consistent member of the M. E. Church. His actions and life testify of the kind he the consultance of the man the happy and fortunate possessor. These good qualities had won for him many friends. Indeed "to know him was but to love him." He was a consistent christian, true friend, dutiful son, and kind brother. Like thousands of the brave defenders of our homes and liberties, his was not the privilege to have dear brother. Like thousands of the brave defenders of our homes and liberties, his was not the privilege to have dear and loved ones accompany, him to the shore of the cold stream of death. Although there were no doubt many friends around him, yet there were none among them that could show the teneer solicitude of a Mother's heart, a Sister's kindness, or a Father's love. His mother needed no assistance or comfort that her "John" could supply. In a letter to his brother in the volunteer service, he exhorts him "to live as a christian and put his trust in God." Friends, although you could not comfort John by your presence and sympathy as he was entering the "valley," yet his Saviour was with him all the way through, giving him light and strength to aid in his passage, that he might "fear no evil."

Mesers. Jones & Evans—Gentleman:—My mother-in-law has been so greatly benefitted by your Hoofland's Ger-man Bitters that I concluded to try it myself. I find it to be an invaluable tonic, and unhesitatingly recommend it to all who are suffering from dyspepsia. I have had that disease in its most obstinate form—flatulence—for many years, and your Bitters has given me ease when every-thing else had failed. Yours truly, JULIUS LEE.

Rev. W. D. Seigfried, Pastor of 12th Baptist Church, Philadelphia, December 26th, 1863.

Messrs. Jones & Evans—Gentlemen: I have recently been laboring under the distressing effects of indigestion, accompanied by a prostration of the nervus system. num erous remedies were recommended by riends, and some of them tested, but without relief. Your Hoofland's some of them tested, but without relief. Your Hoofland's German Bitters were recommended by persons who had tried them, and whose favorable mention of the Bitters induced me also to try them. I must confess that I had an aversion to Patent Medicines, from the "thousand and one" quack "Bitters" whose only aim seems to be to palm off sweetened and drugged liquor upon the community, in a sty way; and the tendency of which, I fear, is to make many a confirmed drunkard. Upon learning that yours was really a medicine preparation, I took it with happyeffect. Its action was not upon only the stomach, but upon the nervous system, was prompt and gratifying. I feel that I have derivedigreat and permanent benefit from the use of a few bottles. Very respectfully 2 rs, W. D. SEIGFRIED, No. 234 Shackama xon St.

I have for years, at times, been troubled with great disor-der in my head and nervous system. I was advised by a friend to try a bottle of your German Bitters, I did so, and have experienced great and unexpected relief; my leadth has been very materially benefited. I confidently recom-mend the article where I meet with cases similar to my own, and have been assured by many of their good ef-fects.

Gentlemen: In reply to your inquiry as to the effect produced by the use of Hoofland's German Bitters, in my family, I have no hesitatien in saying that it has been highly beneficial. In one instance, a case of dyspepsia of thirteen years' standing, and which had become very distressing, the use of one bottle gave decided relief, the second effecting a cure, and the third, it seems, has confirmed the cure, for there has been no symptoms of its return for the last six years. In my individual use of it I find it o be an unequalled tonic, and sincerely recommend its use to the sufferers.

Truly yours,

JACOB BROOM,
