Our Prisoners Dead.

During the months of August and September the Union prisoners confined in the various Southern prisons died off like so many flies, and with as little concern on the part of the rebel authorities, as if they had been of as little importance. It is said that at Andersonville above 15,000 died. A number of Bedford county's sons have thus laid down their lives to satisfy the insensate fiends of slavery. We have not heard the names of all, and suppose that many more than we have heard of, have sufferred. alike terrible fate.

First amongst those who have famished in the stockades of Georgia, we name Ephriam F. Barnet, of Woodberry, this county. Mr. Barnet was drafted some time during the year 1868 and enlisted in the service, and was attached to Company I, 149th, Regiment Pennsylvania Veteran Volunteers. He was captured somewhere in Virginia, and was conveyed by the rebels to camp Louton Georgia, where he died some time in November last of Fever and Diarrhœa. Mr. Barnet was a young man of active mind, fine talents and considerable energy and industry. He was respected by all who knew him, and his untimely end is deeply deplored by the com munity in which, for a series of years he had resided. He has left a young wife, who in the morning of her days, is thus shrouded with the dark and dreary mantle of affliction.

SAMUEL BARNET, of Woodberry, who en listed in Company A. 184th Regiment of Pennsylvania Volunteers some time last Winter, a Nephew of Ephraim F. Barnet, died at the same place about the same time. He leaves a widowed mother to mourn his sad and terrible end-

GEORGE WILSON, formerly of Rainsburg this county, who enlisted in Capt. Compher's Company of the 101st Regiment of Pennsylvania Volunteers, died of scurvy at Florence, South Carolina, in October last. Mr. Wilson had served three years, and was taken prsoner at Plymouth, North Carolina, on the 30th of April last, and from that time until his death he languished with starvation. He leaves a wife and several children to mourn over his untimely fate.

GEORGE H. AGNEW, of this place, who enlisted in Capt. Filler's Company (K) of the 55th Regiment

The Last relict of British Occupation of Bedford gone.

One day last week a "Yankee" Map Agent, name nknown, purchased from an old lady named Stiffler, residing in this place, the flag which floated, over the residence of the British commandant of Fort Bedford, before the Revolutionary War, for the trifling sum of $50. The flag is a fine specimer of silk manufacture in the days of the Georges .-The history of the flag as near as we can learn runs about thus .- When the Revolution broke out a small garrison was station here, the soldiers became patriots and the officers beat a hasty exit. The flag of the commandant tell into the hands of Mr. Naugle, then a citizen of Bedford the father of Frederick Naugle, Sr., After his death and the death of his wife, it became the property of his sister-in-law. who was married to a gentleman named Stiffler, the father of Anthony Sitffler, late of this place, by whom it was inherited, and upon his death, a year or two ago, it became the sole property of his wife, who sold it as above stated, for the paltry sum of fifty dollars, hardly its original cost. For many years after the Revolution the old citizens were want to meet on the anniversary of its capture, and drink flowing bowls and indulge in patriotic toasts over the happy event which transferred the British authority to that of the Continental Congress. It has been displayed on a number of important occasions and was always admired for its beauty and richness. It is undoubtedly over one hundred years old. The town authorities should have purchased it many years since and prevented any one from carrying it off as a mere speculation.

A QUEER CASE .- The Altoona Tribune has the A QUEER CASE.—Ine Altoom Problem France has the following.—"The substance of the subjoined item came to our ears some weeks since, and has been noticed in a few of our exchanges, but being unable to obtain satisfaction as to the reality of the case, we refrained from publishing anything in relation to it. Having recently, however, received a history of the case, with the names of the parties, from a reliable source, we give it a place. It appears that with one of the companies organized in this place, (for the nine months service,) in the summer of 1862, went a man who left a wife and small family. On the Bloody field of Antietam he fell, was buried, and his wife afterwards had his body disinterred, the Cemetery. A year afterwards she married again, and in due time a child was born, the fruit of the second marriage. He had been held by the Rebels until the late exchange at Savannah. Of course the arties are in a queer fix ; but all will agree that the soldier who was once killed, twice burried, starved two years in Rebel prisons, and yet came home alive, is certainly entitled to his wife. "Truth is stranger than fiction." The query is, "who was burried in the Cemetery ?"

ATLANTIC MONTHLY .- The January number of this excellent Magazine, contains articles from Bryant, Longfellow, Hawthorne, Lowell, Bayard Taylor, Holmes, Whittier and other distinguished writers. The publishers say that at no time has the Atlantic been so flourishing as now. Its subscription list has increased so largely that during the year 1864 it had an average monthly sale of over 43,000 copies, making an aggregate for the year of more than half a million numbers. The publishers feel that a success so marked as this can only be due to. the fact that they have enlisted in the service of the magazine many of the first writers of our country, whose pens are constantly at work to impart inter-est to its pages. They have made arrangements for a continuance of contributions from all these leading authors, and have introduced into their plan for the coming year some new features which will give the Atlantic additional popularity. The January number is printed from new type, and the publishers have endeavored to make its mechanical excellence commensurate with the remarkable literary contents of the number.

In her death, not only her family, but also her church, of which she was a pious and consistant member for the last seventeen years of her life, and her entire community, have been brought to mourn. She was truly a Christian woman. It seemed to those well acquainted with her, that her whole heart was full of that warm love that man-ifests itself in the experise of the Christian graces. Her that her whole heart was full of that warm love that man-ifests itself in the exercise of the Christian graces. Her many virtues justly entitled her to that high esteem in which she was held by all. Large was the concourse of people who came, through the inclement weather, to pay their last tribute of respect to her mortal remains. May the Lord comfort the bereaved family. Our loss is her gain. Death has relieved him of a life made burdensome by starvation and mal-treat-ment. Who can read the sad and sorrowful recitals of the sufferings of these young men, without shuddering at the atrocity of the fiends who have been revelling in Richmond ? A day of retribution is near. Already a wail has gone up; a few short months more and "vengeance is mine."

Ministerial Support.

This is the season of the year in which pleasant interchanges of gifts are made among friends, and all the kindlier feelings of the human heart find ex-pression. We are pleased to learn that the good people of our town and neighborhood have not for gotten their ministers. The pastors of the Lutheran and German Reformed churches have received large contributions in the way of provisions, fuel, and other necessaries.

These are times which tell severely on the pastors of country churches, and they must suffer unless their of country churches, and they must suffer unless their salaries are increased, or relief comes in some other way. It is a matter of amazement that people with large incomes, every want supplied, and large provision made for the future, should allow their ministers to be burdened with care, depressed by anxiety, and unfitted by positive and present suffering for their work. But it is gratifying to know that there is a growing disposition to increase salaries, or otherwise provide for the necessities of clergymen and their families. We have heard of a minister who recent ly received a purse of one hundred and fifty dollars from his neonlo. We have heard of a minister income the under the u from his people. One church, a few weeks since, added six hundred dollars to the salary they promis-added six hundred dollars to the salary they promised a year ago. Another very small congregation advanced their pew rents to a thousand dollars, and provided a pleasant parsonage. But when we began to write we simply intended to call attention to a short article we have taken from one of our exchanges. It reads as follows: A correspondent has sent us a paper containing the year 1860. It has been promoted to Second Leut., he makes a good officer and is liked by his command. They are rather strict with us in regard to furlough he is inspected by the Brigade General, of everything he has. If an officer, his whole company is inspected also. From all appearances. I think the greater part of the boys will get home this winter. If all goes well, as of late, I hope the time will soon be at hand, when, the Rebellion shall be conquered, and all return to our homes, with the assurance of a lasting and honorable peace. The Beedford boys are all well and in fine spirits. The genjoyed their Christmas and New Year as well as could be expected. Everything was quiet, even the constant shelling at Dutch Gap ceased on New Year. A miracle to the army of the James. But I shall close. More anon. TYPO.

Churches, deacons, and trustees may read in these figures the wide difference between the value of what they promised their minister in their call to them, and what he actually receives, it he is forced by them to accept the same nominal salary. Is this just 1— is it honest?—is it in accordance with the law of God ? Can the church which suffers such a state of things to continue, ask for the blessing of heaven, with the hope of receiving it ? hope of receiving it?
