Yes, sir farming is a profitable business when rightly managed. If it were not so, when rightly managed. If it were not so, why is it that where but a few years ago the roads through our country were lined with log huts for habitations and evidences of poverty met the view of the passer-by at every step, we now see large, handsome farmbouses, great harms growled with long that the state of the land well timbered, and will be good farming and meadow land when cleared, with several fine nevertailing springs, which water nearly all the fields and wool-land. There is a every step, we now see large, handsome every step, we now see large, handsome farmhouses, great barns crowded with plenty, and all surrounded with evidences not only of plenty, but of wealth. And why is it that of plenty, but of wears ago, were worth the house, and a good Spring House, a good Spring House, and a good Spring House, a good Spring House, and a good Spring House, a good Sprin only a few hundred dollars, or perhaps nothing, are now buying, in addition to their already large farms, those of their neighbors? Yes, sir, and paying for them, too. This is the state of things here on the Western Reserve, and our country affords many better sections for farming than this. One reason why there are so many failures in farming is, as he stated, the shiftlessness of those who pretend to be farmers. Another great reaenough for anything else is just fit to be a farmer (though I hope this notion has less supporters than formerly), and that all the education a farmer needs, or ought to have, is to know how to road, write, and is ast up accounts." There is an old couplet which expresses another reason for the lack of suc cess in farming:

"He who, by the plow, would thrive Must either hold himself, or drive.

A man, to be a successful farmer, must atend to his business himself. From my own experience for the last ten years as a farmer and my acquaintance with farming communities, I do consider farming a profitable and pleasant business, and I know of no man of energy and good judgment, with a taste for farming, that has not been successful. - New York Observer.

HOGS IN THE APPLE ORCHARD.

Nodody sends as many apples to market as my neighbor John Jacobs. He always has apples to sell, and gets the highest pri-Felks prefer large apples, and such are always in Jacob's barrels. You may search them with a candle, and not find a knotty fruit or a worm hole. Such Rhode Island Greenings and Roxbury Russetts I have never met with in the old States .-They are as handsome as any thing in the virgin soil of the West. I was going to Jacob's orchard last summer and I had the curiosity to call and examine for myself. Says I, "Neighbor, what is there in your soil that makes such smooth, large apples? They are a third bigger than anything I can get, and my trees look as well as yours." "The secret is not in the soil," John replied with a twinkle in his eye, "but on it. Do you see those grunters there? My pork brings me fifty cents a pound-eight in flesh, and the balance in fruit. I began to pasture my orchard ten years ago with hogs, and since that time I have had no trouble with wormy fruit. Apples, as a general thing, do not fall from the tree unless something is the matter with them. The apple-worm and curculia lay their eggs in the fruit, and the apples drop early. The pigs devour the apples, and by September every unsound apple is gone, and I have nothing but fair fruit loft. The crop of insects for the next year is devoured by the pigs. They root around under the trees, keep the soil loose, manure the land some, and work over what I spread. The apples help the pigs, and the pigs help the apples.' I saw John's secret at once, and have prof-

In turning the orchard into a pasture, put in pigs-not landpikes, with snouts like levers. You might lose trees as well as insects in that case. Depend upon it, he cannot be much of a man. Of course he may wish to engage in other pursuits for the purpose of making money. But if he prefers to stand behind a counter and measure out dry goods or groceries, and thinks it more "respectable" than cultivating the soil, he either lacks the instincts of a gentlemen, or is weak in the upper regions. I would not walk ten rods with such a man if I could help it, or have any intercourse with him further than was necessary. I should expect him to say something that was disagreeable. "But farmers are not all gentlemen.

True. Some of the most conceited and disagreeable men I ever knew were farmers. But such men, however much they may affect to despise those engaged in other pursuits, have no real love for agriculture and no genuine self-respect. Ignorant, prejudiced, without culture, ill-bred, self-satisfied, with low tastes and sordid desires, they are incapable of appreciating the dignity of their avocation. - Genessee Farmer.

Do NOT feed off pastures too closely, as the grass will be a long time starting again, especially in hot and dry weather. It is bad policy to keep so much stock that pastures are always very short. The leaves of grass perform the office of lungs. Therefore, let plants have top enough, that the breathing may not be obstructed.

ACENTS WANTED FOR The Secret Service, The Field,

The Dungeon, and The Escape, BY ALBERT D. RICHARDSON,

N. Y. Tribune Correspondent.

The most interesting and exciting book ever published, embracing Mr. Richardson's unparalleled experience for four years; travelling through the South in the secret service of the "Tribune" at the outbreak of the war, with our armics and fleets, both East and West, during the first two years of the Rebellion; his thrilling capture; his confinement for twenty months in seven different rebel prisons; his escape, and almost miraculous ionraws by night of nearly 400 miles. It will abound in sturing events, and contain more or any other work yet published.

Teachers, ladies, energetic young men, and especially returned and disabled officers and soldiers, in want of profitable employment, will find it peculiarly adapted to their condition. We have agents clearing $150 per month, which we will prove to any doubting applicant. Send for circulars. Address JONES, BROS. & CO.

COUTZ'S CELEBRATED Horse and Cattle Powders.

These Powders have proved, after a trial of several years, to be superior to any preparation of the kind in use. The chief superiority of these powders arises from the fact that they are composed of medicines that have Laxative, Tonic and Purifying properties. The haxative ejects crudities from the stomach and intestines, the tonic gives strength to the system of the Horee, and the purifying medicines contained in them cleanse the blood, and lay the foundation for a vigorous and healthy circulation. The use of them improves the wind, strengthens the appetite and gives the horse afine, smooth and glossy skin—thus improving the appearance, vigor and spirit of this noble animal. These powders are not intended, as most powders are to bloat the animal, so as to give him the appearance of being fat when not really so—but to remove the disease and promote his general health. the cultivation, with a good frame house upon it.

5. Three acres in fee simple on the Allegheny river, just below the inouth of the Clarion river. There is room on this tract for a half dozen wells. The "Allegheny and Clarion River Oil Company," of Philadelphia, are now sinking several wells immediately opposite this property, with excellent prospects of success.

In presenting the above basis to the public, it is confidently believed that it cannot be excelled by that of any other company yet organized. The two leases on Cherry Run are themselves worth more than the territories of many companies which profess to be based upon a million capital. The Cherry Run region has proved to be the surest oil-producing territory yet discovered. Ninetenths of the wells bored on this stream have been successful. The great "Reed" well, flowing, 375 barrels per day, the "Mountain" well flowing 400, and in fact nearly all of the large wells yet struck, are located on Cherry Run.

It is proposed to sell a sufficient number of shares to pay for the territory and to raise working capital for its development, at the low price of the entry-five cents per shire, thus placing every subscriber to this fund on the ground-flour, and giving cach subscriber a pro rata interest in the territory, engines, and other property of the company, as well as the shares of spock remaining unsold after the purchase money and working capital are raised. From the nature of the leases boring upon them must be commenced within sixty days from the 20th of April, 1865, which is a sufficient guaranty that the company will proceed without delay to the development of its territory.

The rollowing named persons have been elected officers of the company.
