attention of every housekeeper: Much waste is experienced in the boiling, etc., of meats. Unless watched, the cook will throw out the water without letting it cool to take off the fat, or scrape the dipping pan into the swill pail. The grease is useful in many ways. It can be burned in lamps, mixed with lard; or, when no pork has been boiled with it, made into caudles. When pork has been alone it will do to fry cakes, if cleaused. Again bits of meat are thrown out, which would make hashed meat or hash. The The flour is sifted in a wasteful manner, or the bread pan left with the dough sticking to it. Pie-crust is left, and laid by to sour, instead of making a few tarts for tea. Cake batter is thrown out because but little is left. Cold pudding are considered good for nothing, when oftentimes they can be steamed for the next day, or, as in the case of rice, made over in other forms. Vegetables are thrown away that would warm for breakfast nicely. Dish-cloths are thrown where mice can destroy them. Soap is left in water to dis-solve, or more used than is necessary. If Bath brick, whiting, rotten-stone, &c., are used, much is wasted usclessly. The scrub brush is left in water, pails scorched by the stove, tubs and barrels left in the sun to dry and fall apart, chamber-pails allowed to rust, tins not dried, and ironware rusted; nice knives used for cooking in the kitchen; silver spoons used to scrape kettles, or forks to toast bread. Rinsing of sweatmeats, and skimmings of syrup, which make good vinegar, are thrown out; cream is allowed to mould and spoil: mustard to dry in the pot, and vinegar to corrode the castor; tex, roasted coffee, pepper, and spices, to stand open and lose their strength.

The molasses jug loses its cork and the flies take possession. Sweetmeats are opened and forgotten. Vinegar is drawn in a basin and allowed to stand until both basin and vinegar are spoiled. Sugar is spilled from the barrel, coffee from the sack and tea from the chest. Different sauces are made too sweet, and both sauce and sugar wasted. Dried fruits have not been taken care of in season, and become wormy. The vinegar on pickles loses its strength or leaks out, and the pickles become soft. Potatoes in the cellar grow, and the sprouts are not removed until they become worthless. Apples decay for want of looking over. Pork spoils for want of salt, and the beef because the brine wants scalding. Hams become tainted or filled with vermin for want of the right protection. Dried beef becomes so hard it cannot be cut; cheesse moulds, and it is eaten by mice or vermin lard is not well fried in the fall, and become tainted; butter spoils for want of being well made at first.

Bones are burned that would make soup; ashes are thrown out carelessly, endangering the premises and being wasted. Servants leave a light burning in the kitchen when they are all out of an evening. Clothes are whip-ped to pieces in the wind, fine cambrics rubped on the board, and laces torn in starching. Brooms are never hung up, and good ones are spoiled. Carpets are swept with stubs hardly fit to scrub the kitchen, and good new broom sed for serubbing. Towels are used in place of holders, and good sheets to iron on, taking a fresh one every week, thus scorching nearly all in the house. Fluid, if used, is left uncorked, endangering the house and wasting the alcohol. Caps are left from lamps, rendering the fluid worthless by evaporation. Table-linens thrown carelessly down and eaten by mice, or put away damp, and is mildewed, or the fruit stains are forgotten and the stains washed in.

Table-cloths and napkins are used as dish of Bedford county.

ONE PERSON for the office of County Tr wipers; mats forgotten to be put under hot dishes; teapots melted by the stove; water forgotten in pitchers and allowed to freeze in china used to feed cats and dogs on; and in many other ways a careless and inexperienced housekeeper will waste, without heeding, the hard-earned wages of her husband; when she really thinks—because she buys no fine clothes, makes the old ones last, and cooks plainly-she is a most superior housekeeper The next time an unthinking husband is dispose to be severe because some trifling matter has been neglected, he should "put that in his pipe and smoke it."

SAVE YOUR CORNFODDER, editorial in the agricultural department, urging upon us farmers greater care in the preservation of our cornfodder. The truth of it struck me at at once, and I admitted that it applied to me as much as to anybedy. We are all too careless about this excellent prov ender for both cows and horses. If as much attention was paid to it as we do to hay and grain, it would inure greatly to our advantage.

In the first place, we err in allowing it to remain too long in the shock, and the shocks too large, causing it to mould, and thus rendered unfit ior feeding; for cattle have a delicace taste at least as to the pureness and cleanliness of what they eat

It is yet to be perfectly understood even by ourselves, how acceptable and nutritious a food well cured cornfodder is. Horses and cattle eat it with the greatest avidity, and it is well known to all horsemen that the blades are especially valuable to feed to racing animals, strengthening their wind and bottom be yond everything else. Cut the stalks up in inch or two inch pieces, steam it, and sprinkle a little bran and salt over it, and there is nothing that will be consumed more vor ciously by cows and working oxen. It is be sides a wholesome food, and helps advanta geously in making the winter's supply hold out to late in the spring, with the addition of rasped roots, which I think every good farmer ought to thus cultivate and thus feed.

DOUTZ'S CELEBRATED Horse and Cattle Powders.

These Powders have proved, after a trial of several years, to be superior to any preparation of the kind in use. The chief superiority of these powders arises from the fact that they are composed of medicines that have Laxative, Tonic and Purifying properties. The laxative ejects crudities from the stomach and intestines, the tonic gives strength to the system of the Horse, and the purifying medicines contained in them cleans the strength to the system of the Horse, and the purifying medicines contained in them cleanse the blood, and lay the foundation for a vigorous land healthy circulation. The use of them improves the wind, strengthens the appetite and gives the horse a fine, smooth and glossy skim—thus luproving the appearance, vigor and spirit of this noble animal. These powders are not intended, as most powders are to bloat the animal, so as to give him the appearance of being fat when not really so—but to remove the disease and promote his general health.

These powders will strengthen the stomach and intestines, cleanse them from offensive matter, and bring them to a healthy state. They are a surepre vention of Lung Fever, and a certain remedy all diseases incident to the Horse, as Glanders, Yellow Water, Distempers, Founder, Heaves, Slavering, Coughs, Fevers Loss of Appetite and Vital Energy, &c.—These powders, if used two or three times a week, through the winter and spring, your horses will never get the Lung Fever Coric or Botts. A few doses of these powders will remove the worst cough, on any horse. Were owners of horses to feed a few of these powders every move the worst cough, on any horse. Were owners of horses to feed a few of these powders every year, they might save the lives of many valuable

MILCH COWS

The properties this powder possesses in increating the quantity of milk in cows, gives it an inportance and value which should place it in thands of every person keeping a cow. In fatteing cattle, it gives them an appetite, loosens the hide, and makes them thrive much faster, HOGS. In all diseases of swine, as coughs, ulcers in the lungs and liver, &c., by putting from half a paper to a paper of these powders in a barrel of swill, the above diseases can be cured or entirely prevented. By using these powders the hog cholera can be prevented.

BRITISH PERIODICALS. London Quarterly Review (Conservative.) Edinburgh Review (Whig.) Westminster Review (Radical). North British Review (Free-Church).

AND Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine(Tory) The American Publishers continue to reprint the above-named periodicals, but as the cost of printing has doubled and the price of paper nearly trebled,

they are compelled to advance their terms as fol-

merican Periodicals are either advanced in price or reduced in size—and very generally both, we shall continue to give faithful copies of all the matter contained in the original editions. Hence, our present prices will be found as cheap, for the amount of matter furnished, as those of any of the competing periodicals in the country.

Compared with the cost of the original editions, which at the present premium on gold would be about $100 a year, our prices ($15) are exceedingly low. Add to this the fact that we make our annual payments to the British Publishers for early sheets and copyright in Gold—$leosting us at this time nearly $2.50 in currency—and we trust that in the scale we have adopted we shall be entirely justified by our subscribers and the reading public.

The interest of these Periodicals to American public.

The interest of these Periodicals to American readers is rather increased than diminished by the articles they contain on ourgreat Civil War, and though sometimes tinged with prejudice they may still, considering their great ability and the different stand-points from which they arewritten, be read and studied with advantage by the people of this country of every creed and party.
