demands of the public. The school system itself is seldom to blame for the opposition it meets. On the contrary nearly all complaint grows out of a wrong administration of the system. Many reforms indispensable to its proper working have been carried out years ago in other parts of the State but here they have been entirely neglected. Among the most important of these i that of UNIFORMITY OF TEXT BOOKS

formity of Text Books, just as imperatively as it requires them to lay tax and keep the schools open four months each year. If the law were strictly enforce I their neglect to do this would forfeit their appropriation, as surely as their neglect to keep the schools open four months; and yet, in only three districts have we anything approaching uniformity. The evils growing out of this general neglect are incalculable. Among the most serious

1. The schools cannot be properly classified and an hour is often required to teach as much Geography, Grammar or Arithmetic as could be better taught in fifteen minutes if all had the same books and could be put in the same classes. In many schools half the teacher's labor is wasted in this way and yet parents seem not to understand why so little is done. In any ungraded school, thorough classifica tion is indispensable to success, but this is impossible without uniformity of books: an if parents send their children to school with 99 123 104 118 99 123 99 123 all kinds of books and Directors permit them to do so, they should neither complain nor be

> 2. Without uniformity, the expense to pa rents is much greater. Every new teacher when he finds that no uniform series is insisted upon, naturally induces as many of his oupils as he can to get the books that he prefers. This is done from year to year. The coming of a new Teacher is the signal to buy 24 new books and throw others still unsoiled aside. It is not strange then that citizens complein of this annual drain upon their purse. If uniformity were established and insisted upon a book once bought, would be used until mastered or worn out, and in my judgement the aggregate expense to the peo ple of the county would be less than half what it is at present.

3. When all kinds of books are used in district, store keepers cannot tell what kind to buy to suit their customers. They some times buy mone at all and sometimes buy the wrong ones. In many schools pupils have been compelled to drag through the whole winter without proper books, because they could not be had in the neighborhood. If uniformity were established, dealers would know what to buy and customers could always be accommodated.

It is high time that these evils be remedied. The reform will cause grumbling; but what eform does not? Nothing can be gained by delay; it must come at some time and why not now? Besides the complaint will be only temporary. The reform is always popular, as soon as it has been instituted long enough to be understood.

books, that they are best acquainted with. Hence in selecting, such should be preferred, ss equal merit used in the County Normal School are Osgood's Readers, Mitchells new Primary and Intermediate Geographies, Brown's Grammars, Brook's arithmetic and Ellsworth's system of Penmanship.

Three-fourths of the Teachers of the county are best acquainted with these and prefer J. W. DICKERSON, County Superintendent.
