an able and exhaustive article upon popular representation, arguing in favor of its universal extension. The Review adopts Mr. theory may be briefly stated thus: He endeav ors to obtain a fair representation of minorities; giving to all electors in proportion to the numbers of the respective parties, a voice in the public deliberations, instead of the representation of majorities prevailing in localities leaving defeated minorities without represen tation. For illustration the counties of Bed ord, Somerset and Fulton send two representatives to the Assembly, of a particular par ty, leaving unrepresented a large minority. Mr. Hare's theory is intended to obviate this nequality, and he would extend this representation until so large a vote is obtained a would include and group these fragments and norities together by going beyond the district to obtain a representation. Under the present system in a representative government, if one interest or party be predominant in twenty constituencies, twenty members may be elected to represent these majorities. although the minorities may amount to a number not far short of the successful majorities. In each of the districts one vote might deter determine twenty elections, leaving thouthat you will hand down to future general sands of electors without a representation. elector is at liberty to vote for whomsoeve he chooses, and every representative then has a unanimous constituency. THE ELECTIC.—The first number of the ew series of the Electic is on our table. Those who are familiar with Littell's Museum and Living Age, will understand the scope of this periodical. As its name indicates, it is a sclection of the best articles from the Periodicals of Europe. The selections are made with rare judgment and taste. The frontespiece is an exquisite engraving of Shakespeare with his family at Stratford reading the radegy of Hamlet. The leading articles are the Dante Commemoration, from the London Quarterly; some reminiscences of Leigh Hunt the poet and politician, and Coleridge the mataphysician; witty, humorous, pretty women of the time of Horace Walpole.

Our "Young Folks" is without a rival in its claims upon the patronage of the young. No more pleasing present for New Year could be made to our young folks. The matter is full of interest and instruction to the young, and it will awaken a taste for reading and study, that might otherwise never be aroused.

The December number of BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE is on our table. The number opens with part IV of the memoirs of Herr Von Borcke, Chief of Staff to Gen. J. E. B. Stuart, of the Confederate army. The author formerly belonged, as his name indicates, to the Prussian army. He tells his story very well, but his statements must be taken cum grano salis. He is the hero of innumerable daring personal adventures, from which he always magages to extricate himself with consummate skill. Take the following as a specimen of his style, and of the disposition to spin a good yarn which we have mentioned. The style is that of the inimitable Baron Von Trenck:

"One of the Yankee officers, who as I was later informed, was the colonel of the regi-ment that had effected its escape from Harper's Ferry, had attracted my attention the previous day by his gallantry and the excel-lent dispositions he made of his troops. Here We wish him abundant success.

THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE. 1866-

Our most momentous, arduous struggle having esulted in the triumph of American Nationality utter discomfiture and overthrow of Secession and Slavery, THE TRIBUNE, profoundly rejoicing in this result, will labor to conserve the legitimate ruits of this grand, benignant victory by rendering Liberty and Opportunity the common heri tage of the whole American People now and ever

Discountenancing all unmanly exultation over or needless infliction of pain or privation on the upholders of the lost cause, it will insist on the earliest possible restoration of the Southern States to their former power and influence in our Union on the basis of All Rights for All their People.

It will labor in hope to prove that the substitution of Free for Slave Labor must inevitably and universally conduce to the increase of Industry, Thrift, Prosperity and Wealth, so that the South, within the next ten years, must look back amazed on her long persistence in a practice so baleful as the chattelizing of Man.

It will labor for the diffusion of Common School Education, Manufactures, the Useful Arts. &c.

It will labor for the diffusion of Common School Education, Manufactures, the Useful Arts, &c., &c., throughout every portion of our country, but especially throughout the sections hitherto devoid of them, believing that every good end will thereby be subserved and the interest of every useful and worthy class promoted.

It will urge the Protection of Home Industry by discriminating duties on Foreign Products imported, with a view to drawing hither the most capable and skillful artificers and artisans of Europe, and the naturalizing on our soil of many branches of production hitherto all but confined to the Old World, while it would strengthen and extend those which have already a foothold among us.

It will give careful attention to progress and It will give careful attention to progress and improvement in Agriculture, doing its best at once to bring markets to the doors of our farmers and teach them how to make the most of the opportunities thus afforded them.

It will devote constant attention to Markets, especially for Agricultural Products, with intent to save both producer and consumer from being victimized by the speculator and forestaller.

And, giving fair scope to Current Literature, to the proceedings of Congress, and to the general News of the Day, it hopes to retain its old patrons and attract many new to bear them company.

We rarely employ traveling agents, as so many impostors are habitually prowling in the assumed capacity of solicitors for journals. We prefer that our subscribers shall pay their money to persons they know and of whose integrity they are assured. Any friend who believes he will do good by increasing the circulation of the Tribune is authorized to solicit and receive subscriptions. Spec ized to solicit and receive subscriptions. This Company has been organized for the purpose of prosecuting the business of Silver Mining on a thoroughly legitimate basis, devoid of all attempts at speculation. Their property comprises six (6) separate, distinct, Silver-bearing Ledges or Lodes in San Antonio Mining District, Nye county, Nevada, in the richest portion of the celebrated "Reese-river Region," and admirably located in every respect for profitable mining. These Silver Mines are known respectively as the Cz-Sar, Cicero, Shakespeare, Shay and Certis, Palestine and Macedon Ledges, and the property of the Company consists of an original location of 1,000 feet along the course of each vein. or a grand total of SIX THOUSAND FEET OF MINING GROUND. The Secretary of the Company has visited these mines in company with several experienced miners and mining engineers, and given them a thorough examination. Full particulars in regard to their inexhaustible wealth and resources will be furnished on application at the Principal Office, 809 CHESTNUT ST., PHILADELPHIA, where also can be seen the richest cabinet of silver ores, silver bullion, &c., ever exhibited in the Atlantic States. Abundant evidence of the most satisfactory and conclusive character has been furnished the Board of Directors in regard to the wealth and permanence of the mines. The title to the property has been subjected to the most careful examination, and found to be perfect in particular—of which fact the highest official endorsements have been obtained. The Company have secured the services of a thoroughly experienced Mining Superintendent (a resident of Nevada), who is already engaged in the extraction of ore from the mines. As soon as the working capital of the Company is secured, the erection of permanent and efficient reduction works will be commenced.
