Many a farmer's wife is literally worked to death in an inadvertant manner, from want of reflection or consideration on the part of her husband. None can understand better than he, in plowing or sowing, or harvest time, that if a horse gets sick, or runs away, or is stolen, another must be procured that very day; or the work will inevitably go behindhand. He does not carry the same practical sense into the kitchen when the hired help leaves without warning or becomes disabled, although he knows as well as any man can know that they will expect their meals with the same regularity, with the same promptness, and with the same proper mode of preparation; but instead of procuring other help on the instant, he allows himself to be persuaded, if the help is sick, she will get well in a day or two, or a week at farthest, and it is hardly worth while to get another for so short a time. If the help has taken "French leave," his mind fixes on the fact that it is a very busy time and neither he nor a single hand can be spared, or that, in the course of a week, some one will have to go to town for some other purpose, and both these matters can be attended to at the same time. Meanwhile the wife is expected not only to attend to her ordinary duties as usual, but somehow or other to spare time to do all that the cook or washerwoman was accustomed to do, that is, to do the full work of two persons, each one of whom had already quite as much labor to perform as she could possibly attend to. The wife attempts it. By herculean efforts all goes on well. The farmer percieves no jar, no hitch in the working of the machinery, and because no complaint is uttered, thinks that everything is going on without an effort. Meanwhile time passes, and infinite shame" on some of them, they begin to calculate how much has been saved from servants wages, and how much less food has been eaten, and because still no complaint has been made, the resolution quietly forms in the mind to do nothing until she does com plain; but before that takes place, she falls a victim to her over-exertions, in having laid the foundation for weeks and months of illness, if not of psemature decline and death. -Dr. Hall.

LIME ON ORCHARDS.

The value of lime for many purposes in agriculture, is no longer a theoretical question, but an admitted fact. On orchards, its effects have been very surprising -- and such, indeed, as to surprise even the most incredulous. For many uses, lime in the stone is preferable, if it is of a character that admits of its deing reduced to a condition sufficiently fine for its application, for it then contains about fifty per cent. of carbon, a principle which enters largely into vegetables. Calcin ation, or burning, drives off the carbon, and renders caustic lime mild. In its freshlyslacked state, its application is, in most cases attended with disadvantage, as its causticity proves harmful in many ways. In regard to the application of lime on orchards, it may be remarked that the fall is perhaps as favorable a season, on many accounts, as can be selected. Its effects are slow and lasting, and when spread on orchard grounds in August, or even in September or October, it will be felt the following year; whereas if applied in the spring, no advantage would accrue till the subsequent year, which would be a dead loss to the owner of one year's use of the pecuniary capital involved in the outlay of the ent. In some cases, the favorable call. effects of lime have been clearly apparent for twenty years. Old lime from the walls of buildings, is an excellent stimulant for fruit trees of all kinds; it acts immediately, and it acts long. In one case, a farmer who was engaged in repairing his dwelling, ordered a portion of the old plastering taken from the walls of one of his rooms, to be thrown from a window, where it knowing the latest styles, and where to pur was accidently brought in contact with a plum tree which had always been unproduc tive, and a mere "cumberer of the ground." The subsequent year, however, it was filled with fruit. This change was owing to the lime, doubtless, as similar results have followed its application in various, indeed, in innumerable cases of a like character. We advise every prson, therefore, who is the owner of an old and decayed orchard, to lose no time in giving each tree a dressing of lime, or, better still, if he can procure it, of old plaster. A peck to a tree of middling size, and half a bushel to a large one, is sufficien according to the experience of many; but though we would by all means recomm the application of even these small quantities when larger quantities cannot be procured, yet we should sooner advise a bushel and a half. We have no more faith in starving a tree or a hill of Indian corn than we have in starving an ox or a horse. The "penny wise and pound foolish" policy, adopted by so many, is a bad one for the farmer. It always results in loss. A BUCKS COUNTY FARMER. Southampton, Nov. 24th 1865.

Ger. Telegraph. INDIAN MUFFINS ... One pint of Indian meal, one pint of wheat flour, four eggs, one gill of yeast, a little salt, as much warm milk as will make the whole into a thick batter. Mix the Indian and wheat flour together, stir in the milk, then the yeast, and lastly the eggs, after they have been well beaten. When the batter is light, grease the griddle and muffin rings; place the rings on the griddle; pour in the batter, but do not fill them; bake them brown on both sides, and serve them hot. If for breakfast, set to rise the night previous. If for tea, about two o'clock.

Waffles ... Four eggs, one pint of milk, two ounces of butter, one pound of flour, four tablespoonsful of yeast, a saltspoonful of salt. Beat the eggs to a froth. Put the butter in the milk and warm it until the butter dissolves. When the milk is cooled sufficiently, put in the eggs, and stir in the flour, after which, add the yeast and salt. When light, pour the batter in the waffle iron, having first greased it well. Bake them on both sides, by turning the iron. To be well butered and served hot.
