Farm, Garden & Household.

LITTLE THINGS IN THE GARDEN.

In planting the family garden, all the standard vegetables will suggest themselves as things necessary to be provided for, but much of the comfort afforded by the garden consists of the numerous little things it affords—things which in themselves, can hardly be considered as food, but which add to the attraction of the table by rendering other food more palatable. Those who are fond of pickles will, in time, provide for cucumbers, martonias, peppers, green musk, melons, refugee beans, and all those things which are used for pickling, not forgetting the spicy nasturtium. Parsley is valued, by most people, as a flavoring herb, and it is very handy to dress a dish of cold meat. The seeds are very slow in germinating, and should be sowed early. Marjoram, savory and thyme, are the popular flavorings for soups and stuffiings, and, when cut in flower, and carefully dried, and then rubbed up and put into an air-tight box or bottle, may be had in greater perfection than any that can be bought at the stores.

The first two are annuals: sow the seeds in drills a foot apart, and thin or transplant to six inches in the rows. Thyme is a small shrubby perennial, which may be raised from seed, or propagated by dividing old plants. There are very few who know what an excellent flavor a pinch of spearmint gives to soup, or it would be more generally grown. In the older parts of the country it is found naturally in wet places; but it will do perfectly well in the garden, and then we always know where to find it, as, once established, it will remain for years. Sage is always in demand, in the family, for culinary or medicinal purposes, and can be had in the garden with but little trouble. Seeds sown this spring will give a fair cutting by autumn. It is very readily raised from cuttings of old plants. Slip off the young shoots, which start up this spring, from near the base of the plant, and set them in sandy soil and put over them a frame covered with common muslin; they will thus be kept moist and shady, and will strike root readily.—Agriculturist.

HOW TO RAISE CORN FODDER.

Corn saved for fodder is a very good crop; I have frequently raised it, and generally with satisfactory results. If a farmer is likely to be short of meadow, and has land suitable, he can get an excellent substitute for it.

I know of no better. Mellow ground is best, though sod will do, if it is not too stiff. It should be sown about the first of June, though it will do as late as July. I last year sowed some the first of June, and some as late as the 10th of July. The last made the largest growth, though it did not mature as well. It is generally sown broadcast, though it is best to sow with a wheat drill. Take a drill that with eight tubes will sow four bushels of wheat per acre, fasten up all the tubes but three, sow in rows two feet apart; it will sow just about one bushel of corn per acre, which is about right. The advantages of the drill over broad-cast sowing are, it saves two bushels of seed per acre; it puts it all in at a proper depth, and it grows better, when it can be cultivated. When it is up about six inches run through a small shovel plow and it will dress it all up clean. If such a one is not at hand, take a shovel from a two or three shovel corn-plough and attach it to a single wood; it can be used for both purposes and it is better to cut; if it does not grow too large it can be cradled. Cut across the rows, and take one row to a clip. If it is very large it will have to be cut with a corn cutter and then it is much better cutting than when sown broadcast. It should be cut when it is properly matured, just as the tips of the leaves begin to turn, and shocked up in good sized shocks to cure; it can stand until winter.—A. Hinsdale, in Ohio Farmer.

THE CULTURE OF THE PARSNIP AND CARROT.

We have long thought that not nearly so much attention was paid to the cultivation of the Parsnip as its value would seem to demand. It is true the crop requires careful cultivation, and in the first weeding requires considerable labor; but then no root crop is more abundant, or perhaps pays so well.

The soil for this crop should be rich, deep, and well pulverized. Subsoil plowing it operates very beneficially. The seed should be sown in drills, and the drills some twenty-eight inches apart to admit of a small cultivator between them. The seed should be of last year's growth, and should be covered very slightly. It takes a considerable time for it to vegetate and appear above ground, and then care must be observed not to mistake the young plants for weeds. After reaching two inches in height, the plants should be thinned out, leaving the strongest remain, to about four inches apart. We have known a thousand bushels to be raised to an acre; five hundred are a common crop.

They are a very nutritious food for horses, cattle and swine; the latter fatten upon them perhaps better than upon any other root, and are very fond of them.

Seed may be planted up to the 15th or 18th of this month. Some persons even plant later, but it is not to be recommended.

As to the culture of Carrots, the same details may be pursued. There is scarcely a shade of difference. The variety called the Orange is the best for field culture.—Germantown Telegraph.

WHAT CONSTITUTES A FAIR WHEAT CROP.

The St. Paul Press gives statistics of the wheat crop of Minnesota, and remarks that the average wheat yield of townships fluctuates from twenty to twenty-eight bushels per acre, although there are many instances of individual yields above thirty bushels and even as high as forty-five bushels per acre. The world is challenged to beat these yields. To comprehend the full bearing of the figures upon the superiority of Minnesota as a wheat producing state, the Press gives figures to show the product in other states, as follows: "The greatest known yield of Ohio was in 1850, when it was seventeen bushels to the acre. Illinois does not average from year to year more than eight bushels, and was never known to exceed sixteen. The highest yield of Iowa is fourteen and a quarter bushels. Michigan, in 1848, produced nineteen bushels per acree. A wheat field yielding over twenty bushels per acre is so rare as to be an object of wonder out of Minnesota and California; but in Minnesota it is considered a bad crop which does not yield over twenty bushels per acre, whereas individual crops of thirty to thirty-five bushels, and even forty-five bushels to the acre are more frequent than crops of twenty bushels per acre in Illinois, Iowa, Ohio, or any other of the great central states."

INCREASE OF RATS.—The Farmer's Gazette (English) asserts and proves by figures that one pair of RATS will have a progeny and descendents not less than 651,050 in three years. Now, unless this immense family can be kept down, they would consume more food than would sustain 65,000 human beings.

RATS versus BIRDS.—Whoever engages in shooting small birds is a cruel man; whoever aids in exterminating rats is a benefactor. We should like some one to give us the benefit of their experience in driving out these pests. We need something besides dogs, cats, and traps for this business.—Scientific American, N. Y.

BEDFORD NURSERIES
BEDFORD, PENN'A.

T. M. LYNCH,

Offers to the public and dealers, a large stock of well grown fruit trees consisting of APPLE TREES 6 to 10 feet high, PEAR, standard and dwarf, PLUM, CHERRY, APRICOT, NECTARINES, QUINCES, GRAPES of all the desirable kinds, CHERRY CURRANT and other fine varieties, GOOSEBERRIES, STRAWBERRIES, RASPBERRIES, BLACKBERRIES, SPANISH CHESTNUT, ENGLISH WALNUT, SHADE AND ORNAMENTAL FLOWERING TREES, Evergreen Trees, Shrubs and Vines in variety, Honeysuckles of all kinds, Hardy perpetual blooming Roses, Flowering Shrubs, Dahlias, Fancy Varieties, Fuchsias, Chrysanthemums, &c.

Upwards of 150,000 trees are now on the grounds thrifty and healthy. Not 1100 acres of trees, as some tree agents would have you believe they have, which is a Humbug. Those intending to plant would better buy trees raised in like soil and climate, and run no risks of distant shipment. I have the same kinds of fruits and as fine trees as can de had at any Nursery.

Catalogues sent free to those applying.

GIRARD
Life Insurance Company,
OF PHILADELPHIA.
Capital and Assets Jan 1, 1865, $2,113,174,20

Mutual Insurance Combined with the Security of a Capital.

The Girard Life Insurance Company was chartered in 1826, and is therefore one of the oldest, as well as most substantial companies in the United States. It effects insurance for the whole of Life; upon the nonforfeitable or ten year plan, or for any term of years. It also issues Endowment Policies.

Premiums may be paid Yearly, Semi-annually or Quarterly.

All the insured for whole of life, (including those on the ten year plan,) participate in the profits of the company.

Those insuring never need fear the loss of what they have paid in case they cannot keep up their payments. The company will always commute in to a smaller amount, or purchase the policy at an equitable value.

Bonusses or additions to policies are made every five years, without any increase in the premium.

Its profits are absolute. Its premiums moderate. Its privileges liberal. It has paid many losses, and has never contested a claim.

For books and circulars, free of charge, send to the Home office, No. 408 CHESTNUT St., Phil'a. Or to any of its agents.
