WALKS AND TALKS ON THE FARM.

How much land can a man plow in a day I have heard men tell of plowing two acres and a half, but never saw it done. In England, where they plow narrow furrows, say 9 inches wide and 6 inches deep, an acre is considered a fair day's work, taking one day with another. Here we plough, unwisely as I think, much wider, but do we not lose near ly as much time in resting the borses as would make up for the difference? Narrow furrows, say 10 inches wide and 7 inches deep, turned over at an angle or 45°, is both theo rhetrically and practically the best style of plowing; and if we plough wider, we should go deeper, and unless we use three horses no ordinary team can keep steadily at such hard work without injury. With a team that walks naturally at a good pace, it is better to plow narrower furrows and let them walk at a fair speed, than to tax them too heavily with a wide furrow, which necessitates their resting every other bout. The time lost in this way is far greater than is generally supposed. But I am regarded already too much in the light of an innovator to attempt any thing more than a very gradual change. I find it better to let men do pretty much as they have been accustomed to. Still I would really like to know what is about the average rate of plowing in different parts of the country, and what hours are kept. By look ing at my record, I find that we ploughed a thirty acre field of corn stubble for barley. with three teams, in 74 days-say 30 acres in 221 days, or just 13 acre per day for each team. 6:45 to 11:45, and from 1.30 to 6.30, say 10 hours a day. With a furrow slice 10 inches, it takes about 161 miles of travel to plow an acre and a half. In a field of 200 yards long the experiments of the Earl of Mar, as given by Sinclair, show that over two hours are lost in turning. Even, then, if no time is allowed to breathe the horses, they would have to walk steadily along at the rate of over two miles an hour to plow an acre and a half. I doubt very much whether far mers really plow as much in a day as the think they do. They do not keep an exact account of the time, or measure the land ac curately. - American Agriculturist

The Crop of 1866.

The New York Tribue, of Monday, takes a survey of the crop prospect of 1866, and so far it has positive information. It is certain that the winter wheat in the State of New York and several other States will be a very short erop. Upon the "true wheat lands" of that State, of New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, &c., the prospect for winter wheat is very unfavorable The prospect of a large crop of spring wheat in Minnesota is flattering, and a larger amount was sown than usual. The same is true of the spring sown grain in other Western States. Winter wheat is badly killed in many places. There will be about a half an average crop of winter wheat in Ohio, Kentucky and Illinois, but not more than one quarter of a crop in Ohio, and something better in Indiana. Up the valley of the Illiuois from Alton, the winter wheat never was better, though nearly destroyed in the eastern part of the State. The prospect is fair for a good yield in Maryland Delaware and parts of Pennsylvania, but as a whole the prospec of a full crop of winter wheat in all the Northern States is certainly unfavorable. A large breadth of spring wheat has been sown, but it is too soon to begin to calculate what it really will be, as it has many enemies to combat England, Eastern New York, and a part of Pennsylvania and New Jersev bids fair, as a general thing, for a good crop. The oats crop is not promising except in some parts of the West. There has been a larger crop of corn planted than usual, but it is too early to say what it will be.

Protecting Trees Against Worms.

The bandage system, which we were the first to suggest some fifteen years ago, and have often referred to since, is the only effectual protection we have yet seen against the operations of the worm in fruittrees. We repeat again that in not a single instance have we ever had a worm in our dwarf pear trees where this system was properly followed, It is simply to bandage the bottom of the tree with any kind of muslin or cloth and tie it, letting the bandage be about six inches above ground and two inches below. It should be applied in February or as soon as the ground is in a fit condition to go upon. These bandages should be removed at the end of October. As long as this is continued we defy the worm. The bug lays its eggs an inch or two above the ground early in the spring that is as soon as the warm days in March will admit of its coming forth from its winter quarters; the eggs are soon hatched by the sun, being laid on the sun-side of the trunk, and the young grub finds its way down to the soft bark beneath the soil where it gradually works its way in. The bandage prevents both the laying of the eggs and the descent of the laying of the eggs and the descent of the grub. Let doubters try it. One man will bandage two hundred trees in a day. We have no doubt it will also protect the peach tree in the same way.—Germantown Telegraph.

1866. INCREASE OF RATS.—The Farmer's Gazette (English) asserts and proves by ligares that one pair of PATS will have a progeny and descendents not less than 651,050 in three years. Now, unless this immense family can be kept down, they would consume more food than would sustain 65,000 human beings.

See "Costan's" advertisement above.

1866. RATS versus BIRDS .- Whoever engages in MAIS cersis BIRDS.—Whoever engages in shooting small birds is a cruel man; whoever aids in exterminating rats is a benefactor. We should like some one to give us the benefit of their experience in driving out those pests. We need something besides dogs, cats, and traps for this business.—Scientific American, N. Y.

See "Costant's" advertisement above.

"COSTARS" RAT EXTERMINATOR is simple, safe, and sure—the most perfect RAT incation meeting we have ever attended. Every Rat that can get it, properly prepared, will cat it, and every one that eats it will die, generally at some place as distant as possible from where it was taken.—Lake Shore, Mich. Mirror.

1866.

HOUSEKEEPERS troubled with vermin need be so no longer, if they use "Costar's" Exterminator, We have used it to our satisfaction; and if a box cost $5, we would have it. We have tried poisons, but they effected nothing; but "Costar's article knocks the breath out of Kats, Mice, Roaches, Ants, and Bed-Bugs, quicker than we can write it. It is in great demand all over the country.—Medina, Ohio, Gazette.

See "Costars" advertisement above.

A VOICE FROM THE FAR WEST.—
Speaking of "Costan's" Rat, Roach, Ant, &c., Fxterminator—"more grain and provisions are destroyed annually in Grant County by verain that would pay for tons of this Rat and Incot Killer."—Lancaster, Wis. Herald. er."—Lancaster, Wis. Herald.

FARMERS AND HOUSEKEEPERS—should recollect that hundreds of dollars' worth of Grain, Provisions, &c., are annually destroyed by Rats, Mice, Ants, and other insects and vermin—all of which can be prevented by a few dollars' worth of "Costan's" Rat, Roach, Ant, &c., Externinator, bought and used freely.
