

Farm, Garden & Household.

OUR FRUIT LIST.

We again present to our readers, as the most approaches for transplanting, a revised set of fruit trees, vines, &c., which we can recommend for general cultivation.

According to our present preference, we should select the following for our own planting, viz:

- STANDARD PEARS. 1. Early Catharine, 8. Giffard, 2. Juliana, 9. Sheldon, 3. M. J. Elizabeth, 10. Buffum, 4. Bartlett, 11. Lawrence, 5. Bartlett, 12. Lawrence, 6. Seckel, 13. Potts, 7. St. Michael d'Ar. 14. Feaster, change.

Of the above, from No. 1 to 4 are summer varieties; from 5 to 10 autumn; 11, 12, 13 and 14 winter, thus affording a sufficient number for each of the periods, of the best known sorts for this region.

APPLES. 1. Maiden's Blush, 5. Smith's Cider, 2. Baldwin, 6. Northern Spy, 3. L. I. Russett, 7. Forwader, 4. Jafferis, 8. McClellan.

PEACHES. 1. Crawford's Early, 4. Oldmixon (free), 2. Crawford IV, 5. Oldmixon (free), 3. Morris White, 6. Bergen's Yellow.

GRAPE. 1. Telegraph, 5. Rogers No. 4, 2. Concord, 6. Rogers No. 32, 3. Hartford Prolific, 7. Creveling, 4. Rogers No. 1.

CHERRIES. 1. May Duke, 6. Germantown, 2. Early Richmond, 7. Belle Magnifique, 3. Black Tartarian, 8. Downing, 4. Black Eagle.

We omit the Gov. Wood because it does not generally mature its fruit. A rain followed by a hot sun when the cherries are nearly ripe, will sometimes blast the whole crop. Its quality however is superior to all others. The "Germantown" is the largest cherry grown, is handsome in appearance, an abundant bearer of sound fruit, and very good in quality.

RASPBERRIES. 1. Brinckle's Orange, 3. Catawissa, 2. Hornet, 4. Philadelphia.

We cultivate all these varieties of the raspberry, in addition to the Hudson River Antwerp and the old Purple. We omit the Hudson River from our list, and substitute the Philadelphia. The Hudson River is an excellent berry, rather better in quality than the Hornet, which it resembles, though not so large, but it is not hardy or a good grower, and unless care is taken will "run out" in a few years. The Catawissa is the two-crop variety, which every one ought to cultivate for the autumn crop only, by cutting all the canes clear to the ground in November and covering the stools with manure.

STRAWBERRIES. 1. Russell's Prolific, 3. Hovey's Seedling, 2. Triouphé de Gand, 4. Albany Seedling.

At present we are not prepared to change our strawberry list. There are many new candidates for public favor, but for family use and market combined we know of none to be preferred to the foregoing. In retaining the Albany Seedling, it is done expressly for marketing purposes.

CURRENTS. 1. Black Naples, 2. Red Dutch.

We consider these two the best currants. We have the Cherry currant, which is larger than the Red Dutch, but it is too acid; while the White Grape, which is of good size and flavor, and transparent in appearance, is a grower, of a sprawling habit, and bears most liberally on the ground, which dirties the fruit and extracts the flavor.

GOOSEBERRIES. 1. Houghton, 2. Downing.

These are the two best most profitable cultivated. All the huge imported kinds are thick-skinned, tough, and are sure to mildew. BLACKBERRIES. 1. New Rochelle, 2. Dorchester.

The New Rochelle blackberry produces a better crop perhaps than the Dorchester, and the later ripened berries retain their flavor more entirely; but the first ripening of the Dorchester is sweeter and more delicious than the other. A new variety called the "Kittatiny," from the Kittatiny mountain, near the Delaware Water Gap, is well spoken of, but we reserve our opinion for the present.

It is better that those who intend to cultivate fruit and to make purchases, should take this list with them to the nursery, and adhere to it as far as possible. It is not fair to the nurseryman to ask him for a list of the best sorts, as he has all kinds to sell to accommodate every taste and demand.—Germantown Telegraph.

CLOVER SEED.—We believe, says the Rural New Yorker, that a crop of clover seed taken from the land exhausts the soil more than the crop which is cut for hay. Any seed crop, it is well-known, is more exhaustive than a more fodder crop. One strong reason for cutting timothy for hay early, is to remove it from the soil before it has abstracted those elements which form the seed. It impoverishes the soil much less than if cut later. The first growth of clover is not generally disposed to seed much; hence it is not so exhaustive as other grasses if cut late. But the second crop, which bears the seed, is injurious to the land—at least the taking it away is. Unless remuneration is paid to the soil it will pay better to let the second growth of clover rot on the land or feed it off.
