

Farm, Garden & Household.

ORIGIN OF VEGETABLES.

Garlic came from Sicily. Beans blossomed first within sight of embryo mountains in the land of Sphynx; and the egg-plant first laid its glossy measures under the African sun; and Southern Europe gave the artichoke and beet. To Persia we stand indebted for peaches, walnuts, mulberries, and a score of every day luxuries and necessities; to Arabia we owe the cultivation of spinach; and to Southern Europe we must look in thankful gratitude for the horse-radish. At Siberia the victims of modern intemperance may shake their gory locks forever from that cold, unsocial land, come eye, the father of that great fire-water river which heated so many jolly souls in its treacherous tides, and engulfed so much of humanity's treasure. The chestnut, dear to squirrels and young America, first dropped its burrs on Italian soil. Whoever dreamed, while enjoying his "Bergamotte," his Flemish Beauty, or his Jargonotte, that the first pear blossom opened under sight of the Pyramids? And what fair school-girl of the pick-eating tribe, dreams of thinking the East Indies for cabbages? Parsley—that prettiest of all pretty greens, taking so naturally to our American soil, that it seems quite to the manner born—is only a sojourner among us? Its native home is Sardinia, or rather there it first secured an acquaintance with civilized man. Onions, too, are only naturalized foreigners in America. Egypt stretches forth her withered hand and claims the onion as her own. Maize and potatoes can mock us with no foreign pedigree. They are ours—ours to command, to have and to hold, from time being, to the ending, though England and Ireland flourish over corn and prairie till they are hoarse.—Exchange.

SOILING MILK COWS.

I am decidedly of the opinion that it pays to soil milk cows through the summer, for I succeeded in summering twenty cows well, the past season, on a place where seventeen were the most ever kept before, and have made a larger amount of manure than some of the same stock. I doubled the amount of solid manure by filling the gutter in rear of the cows' stalls, every time the stable is cleaned, with dry manure. This furnishes abundance of material to grow my green fodder next year. I would like to know if any one has ever tried milking for soiling cows? I am of the opinion that they are much ahead of any other fodder for making milk. Cows eat their manure, and then feed on it. I have gathered a few seeds and shall try the experiment next year.

A great amount of excellent top-dressing is lost by farmers who have no barn cellars, and who take no pains to provide dry material to absorb the urine from their stock. This might be saved in still another way, if those already mentioned are not convenient. Many cannot have cellars without much expense, and would have to haul dry material to far to make it pay. Make holes in the floor in rear of stock, or use lattice work, and put conductors underneath—half a hollow log would answer—and conduct it into a cistern, from which it may be pumped to irrigate grass land with small cost and great profit.—New England Farmer.

HOW TO TEACH A HORSE TO BACK.
A correspondent of the Rural New Yorker would teach a horse to back in this wise: "A horse that will not, or don't know how to back, should be harnessed beside one that is kind and well broken, and hitched to a lumber wagon, loaded (not too heavy) with wood, rails, or anything at hand, or that you wish to move, and then find in the road or field, a knoll where the surface is smooth and free from stones, and the descent from one to two rods. Drive the loaded wagon to the top and after stopping a minute or so, command your horse to back, pulling steady but firm on the lines. The wagon being in a position to start very easy, and being loaded, will not easily stop after it is in motion, and your horse, if the harness be good, will very likely to back down the hill. After getting to the bottom of the hill, speak kindly to him. Be sure to say 'whoa' about the time you see the wagon is going to stop. Pleading him and rubbing your hand over his head and face, repeat the going up and backing down the hill until he knows what it means to back, and then command backing the empty wagon on the level, gradually increasing the load, and you will soon be able to back all the load that would be reasonable to back, not forgetting to pat your horse, robbing the hand over his face and head, and calling him a good fellow, and using him like one. He will soon make up his mind that he really is a good fellow, and of course he will act like one, and will become your friend and willing slave, and do what he is required to, even bordering on the impossibilities.

SELECTING CATTLE.
Let breeders select dams that have size, plenty of milking properties, with ribs out of their loins, like a bullock that is shown for a prize; standing on short legs, wide and square made, regardless of registered improved sires, however numerous, attached to their pedigrees. Use only true fine, pure bred bulls, descended from dams of note, wide, deep and compact made when matured, with hides that fill the hand, covered over with plenty of fine hair; animals naturally hardy in constitution—not so long as a lam in their middle, and high on the leg, with flat sides, ripped in waist, and slack loins. Select the best of sires from bulls with undeniable pedigree; no mixed up alloyed gentlemen full of carthorse blood, which give substance only in appearance, and that is not propagated in the stock. Avoid underbreeding in your bulls; call, draft and sell bad milking cows and doubtful, bad breeders; stick to milk, to size, to robustness of constitution, and success must attend your efforts.

FENCES AND GATES MUST BE LOOKED AFTER, and put in a condition to keep domestic animals out of young orchards. They will either browse or bark the trees, and do more damage in a few hours than will be regained ed in all of next year's growth.

A wooden chair, minus its legs, nailed on to a block of wood, makes a capital milking stool. It can be turned down without being wet or soiled.

CAUTION TO TRESPASSERS.—All persons are cautioned against hunting or otherwise trespassing upon my farm, as I am determined to enforce the law again at all disagreeable times.

Harrison twp., Jan. 11, 1867.

Humorous.

TOBACCO is being much talked about; in fact, it is in almost everybody's mouth.

The web of our life is of a mingled yarn; good and ill together.

It is very impudent to ask a lawyer if he ever told a lie.

What is nothing? A footless stocking without a leg.

Where is the Devil always visible in person?—In a printing office.

How do you arrive at the height of a church steeple in a hot day? Per-spire.

An elephant is a powerful animal, but the smallest dog can lick him.

EVERY person complains of the baldness of his memory, but none of his defective judgment.

Do not calculate the number of your juvenile pony, before the process of incubation be completed.

A CATASTROPHE.—Why does a cat or her hind legs remind one of Niagara? Because it is a cat-eract.

Why are printers tempted above all other men? Because they are always found in company with the Devil.

A LITTLE boy, seeing a drunken man prostrate before the door of a grocery, opened the door, and putting in his head, said to the proprietor: "See here, sir, your sign has fallen down."

A WESTERN editor asks the following question: "If a fellow has nothing when he gets married, and the girl has nothing, is he her things hizen or his things hern?" We maintain the negative.

MY GERMAN friend, how long have you succeeded in summering twenty cows well, the past season, on a place where seventeen were the most ever kept before, and have made a larger amount of manure than some of the same stock. I doubled the amount of solid manure by filling the gutter in rear of the cows' stalls, every time the stable is cleaned, with dry manure. ## THE TRIBUNE FOR 1867.

The Tribune enters upon the year 1867 more prosperous in business than ever before. The opportunity of enlarging our pages—thus making the Tribune the largest and the cheapest newspaper in America—was doubted by many. We have found our account in it. The circulation of the Tribune is steadily increasing, and our advertising patronage is correspondingly enlarged. It is more difficult to print our news than when we used a smaller sheet, and this difficulty we can only meet by frequently publishing supplements.

The close of the year has imposed upon the Tribune the discussion of momentous and peculiar problems. We have met them as best we could, laboring with sincerity for Freedom, Social Progress, Political Equality, Impartial Suffrage—All Rights for All. A Republican President became the enemy of Republicanism, and we have been called upon to denounce and expose the treachery of a degraded Administration. It was not without pain, certainly not without much thinking, that we made an issue with President Johnson. The people approved our course by returning their radical representatives to power. The election of 1866 is important to the nation. Let us not forget the lesson which Reconstruction is now the duty of the country. Reconstruction—reconstruction in finance and tariffs. We are no longer pressed by war necessities, and we must not let our progress be arrested. The present condition of the currency is a grievous evil. Trade restrictions, our manufacturing interests are in a precarious state. A dollar does not mean a dollar, but a fraction. It may be true, it may be false, it may be true, it may be false. When the laborer earns his dollar, he does not know what he has not lost or gained or lost. All business is feverish and unsettled. We think this can only be remedied by a wise and temperate policy at Washington; by reducing the currency to its specie basis. Upon this we stand insistent.

The nation and the world are in a state of transition. We are not at all certain as to what the future will be. We are not at all certain as to what the future will be. We are not at all certain as to what the future will be.

THESE are the days when a man can get a horse to back in this wise: "A horse that will not, or don't know how to back, should be harnessed beside one that is kind and well broken, and hitched to a lumber wagon, loaded (not too heavy) with wood, rails, or anything at hand, or that you wish to move, and then find in the road or field, a knoll where the surface is smooth and free from stones, and the descent from one to two rods. MORRISON HOUSE,
HUNTINGDON, PA.

I have purchased and entirely renovated the large stone and brick building opposite the Pennsylvania Railroad Depot, and have now opened it for the accommodation of the travelling public. The Targets, Furnitures, Beds and Bedding are all entirely new and first class, and I am so far in saying that I can offer accommodations not excelled in Central Pennsylvania.

Refer to any travellers who have formerly known me while in charge of the Broad Top City Hotel and Jackson House.

may 25th
JOSEPH MORRISON.

CLOTHING EMPORIUM.
GEO. REIMUND, Merchant Tailor, Bedford, Pa., keeps constantly on hand READY-MADE CLOTHING, such as coats, pants, vests, &c., also a general assortment of CLOTHS, CASSIMERES, and GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS of all kinds; also, CALICOES, MUSLINS, &c., all of the latest styles, and lowest prices. My stock is a few doors west of Fyler's store, and opposite Rush's marble yard. I invite ALL to give me a call. I have just received a stock of new goods.
