BEDFORD, PA., FRIDAY, FEB. 22, 1867. GOING WEST.

Every few days, some one of our subscribers drops into our office to order a lot of sale bills for himself or his neighbor preparatory to moving west. When question to his motives for going west, the reply is, land is cheaper, opportunities are greater the people are more enterprising. These people looking westward are always of one or the other of two classes. Young persons who, to use their own language, want to go where the people are wide awake; or older persons, who lacking enterprize themselves hone by getting into live communities to be wafted on to fortune on the current of othe people's energies. To both classes we would say, look before you leap, think before you move. Be sure that the same labor expen ded, the same energies put forth and the same hardships endured here would not yield you the same return as there. Thousands yearly leave good farms, comfortable homes and kind friends, in this and other parts of the State, to seek their fortunes in the far west. Many, dissatisfied with their western experience, return in a few years to find their former homes occupied by more prudent and thrifty men, while they themselves are poorer than when they first left the old homestead. Others succeed in their new homes and write glowing letters to old friends and acquaintances of the tempting prospects of the great west, but if they, wondering at the stolidity that keeps people among the hills of old Pennsylvania, conclude to visit their old home and see what is wrong, they gen erally find the friends they left behind them quite as well off as themselves and some times a little better. Distance lends enchant ment to the view in going west as well as in many other things. We would not deter any one from going where he is convinced he can succeed best in his calling whatever it may be. But Pennsylvania has not ye reached the maximum density of population consistent with the highest prosperity This is the case not only in agricultural and mining pursuits but in the numberless other attending trades and professions. Even Bedford county is capable of sustaining double her present population and giving to all advantages of every kind superior to what the present population now enjoys. We are called slow and old fogy. So we will continue to be while the young and enterprising portion of our population yearly emigrates to the west. It is to the young we must look for enterprize and not to the was first proclaimed. No more appropriate old. It is the greater preponderance of young men in our Western States that give them their character for thrift and energy There is not a farm in Bedford county on which twice as much labor and capital could not be expended with a two or threefold increase of profits. There is not a factory of any kind in the county possessing the requisite power where the machinery and hands employed might not be doubled with profit to the manufacturer, his employes and the community around about him. Energy in one branch of business begets energy in another, so thrift begets thrift. If our young men will stay at home and devote their time, talents, energies and capital to Political feeling unfortunately was allowed to exert an undue influence in the selection of teachers. Instances of partiality and injustice, alas! were but too plainly apparent. HARRISBURG CORRESPONDENCE

HARRISBURG, Feb. 19, 1867. The joint resolution ratifying the Constitutional amendment having passed both branch s of the Legislature, has already been signed by Gov. Geary. This act has caused the copperheads to pour out the vials of their wrath upon His Excellency, and there is a general howling in the Democratic camp. This was not unlooked for. It has become a prominent duty for the Copperheads to beco dignant whenever anything is done that is in ended to aid in "making treason odious."

The Legislature has passed a bill instruct ng the committee on public buildings to in aire into the propriety of enlarging the Govrnor's residence, and to present an estimate of the cost and plans if found desirable. The Constitutional amendment having been ratified by both branches of the Legislature, s another evidence that Pennsylvania is loyal this opinion and to give it authority in the to the core. There was a great amount of shape of law. The people of all the West- speech-making in favor of, and against the mendment-speech-making that will hereafother parts, are desirous of having another | ter-damage and improve the strength of parrailroad, and capitalists stand ready to build ties and the prospects of politicians. The Republicans in both branches of the Legislasubject, lifts up its solemn voice and says in during this debate. Their speeches show during this debate. Their speeches show that the Republican leaders have marked out a straight line for partizan progress, and that they annot deviate from it without doing violence to their own sense of right, and injustice to the fairest hopes of the nation. Or the other hand, the Democratic leaders fairly proved their determination to resist the logic of events. They will neither see or learn, accept or respect, the truth that the power of the assumption of power—Confict between literary officials and citizens—The aid of Militia invoked—Impeachment of the officials contemplated?

Depopulation of the South.

According to the offial census of Alama, taken last year sys the New York

The total loss to Alabama, according to be above figures, is about a quarter of a fillion—the present population being so much less than it would have been had not thewar interrupted its growth. Supposing a the Southern States to have been subjected to the same depopulating influences, the agregate loss of population would amount o over two millions; and this estimate is after probably under the nark than over it. The causes for this falling off are variot. Many men were killed in battle, many migrated to Canada and Europe, and nota few who had gone South from the Northreturned here on the approach of war. Thre, too, immigration has been almost suspended for the past six years; and even now the utcertain condition of political affairs in the South prevents many emigrants from choosing that country for their team. many enigrants from choosing that country for their home. BRAZILLIAN agents are unusally active in all our large cities seeking to induce people to try their fortunes in the diamond regions and on the fertile pampas of South America. A REMARKABLE PURSUIT AND CAPTURE:
The Dencer News gives an account of one of the most remarkable pursuits, resulting in the eventful capture of the runaways, which is recorded in criminal annuls!

On the 7th of November, 1865, two men Dr. Hamilton and Eugene Hamilton with numerous aliases, robbed Rockwell & Co., s bank at Elkhern, Wisconsin, of about $180, 000 in money and bonds. Last summer they turned up in Colorado, and were in and about Denver tor some two months.

By some accident, a Mr. Van Trees, a detective of Denver, got track of them, and they becoming aware of it, left. Mr. Van Trees and a Mr. Cozzens then began the chase which lasted five months, when the criminals were overtaken and arrested at El Paso, Mexico. In Texas they were rescued by a mob, but recaptured. On their way up, at Los Pos Pinos, New Mexico, a woman who was with them claimed to be the wife of one of the prisoners, attempted to poison Mr. Van Trees but failed.

ANOTHER ATLANTIC CABLE. - The publi ave for some time been aware of a project olay another ocean cable between this buntry and Europe. The line is to start country and Europe. The line is to start from some point on our coast—say at Cape Charles—running thence to the Burmuda Islands, from that point to the Azores, and finally landing at Lisbon, in Portugal. The company have made their contracts for a cable of superior construction and material. It is claimed that the laying of the line between the points mentioned involves much less labor, expense and risk than that of the British company. That there is but little danger of failure in this respect is evident from the fact that established companies agree to complete the work taking the responsibility of failure. Another advantage in this line will be that if one section of the cable is proken the others are not rendered able is proken the others are not render neeless. The company have also completed their arrangements with the governments in authority in the islands forming the way stations, and also with that of Portugal, so that the work of laying the cable will soon begin.—N.
