"I fired a needle gun. It was as awkward as the first pair of skates, and so heavy that I thought it an imposition to be obliged to hold the whole of it myself. It seemed enough avoirdupois for an entire platoon to enough avoirdupois for an entire platoon to carry. There is a knob upon it as big and as hard to turn as your door knob, when you go home from your lodge at Christmas midnight. You must hit this knob with the paim of your hand, drive it down, draw it back, put in your eartridge, and it sends the ball about half the distance of a Springfield rifte ball. You bruise your hand, swear, and after a dozen rounds have been fired the breech of your gun feels like a red hot poker. A regiment of men at work with this weapon look as if they were cracking walnuts, or opening oysters, or killing mosquitoes. You can certainly fire it six times a minute after six years' practice."
