A ERUTAL ASSAULT .- A negro name John Brown, attacked Miss Elnora Filler, at a point on the path leading from the wiresuspension bridge to her mother's residence on the opposite side of Dr. Anderson's mea low, on last Friday night, and mal-treated a most brutal and fiendish manner Miss Filler had left her mother's residence early in the evening to attend the meeting of the Normal Literary Society, but rain fell copiously about seven o'clock, and fearing est it might keep up to a late hour in the night, she determined to return home as soon as the rain abated. She was accompanied by ifferent parties to the middle of the bridge The night was very dark, and while crossing he meadow she became cognizant that some one was passing her in the same direction that she was going. is a good Democrat, no doubt:

The Memphis Post gives the following narre of a series of terrible murders near iana, Ark.—The facts furnished us are Mariana, Ark.—The facts furnished us are tated to be derived from white persons, who vitnessed the murders on the plantation and a the courtroom. The statements are coroborated by colored people and the evidence licited on the coroner's inquest.

On Monday, preceding the outrage, Brady swore on the plantation that he would kill some damned nigger before Saturday wht." When expostulated with he replied, it would not be the first time that he had noff for killing a damned scoundrel."

the ball piercing the brain. After the second shot, the armed negro drew his revolver and returned the fire, advancing on Bradley. The latter, distrusting the success in such a contest, retired a few paces to the house caught up a fowling-piece, and resting it upon the fence or gate, aimed deliberately at the negro, then not more than ten paces distant.

apon the fence or gate, aimed deliberately at the negro, then not more than ten paces distant.

In this attitude both caps missed fire. He then precipitately fled, pursued by the colored men, who, however, returned prompily and peacefully at the request of the lady of the plantation, who witnessed the entire affray. Bradley proceeded to Mariana, secured a warrant and posse, returning the same evening for the arrest of four of the men. The officer was informed by the lady of the plantation of what had been done, and Bradley was charged in his presence with the murder of the woman. The men, however, were arrested and confined. On Saturday morning they were put upon trial; Bradley appearing, heavily armed, as the witness for the prosecution. When his statement was made the Court informed the prisoners they could ask the witness any question they wished.

In the cross-examination of the witness, one of the men contradicted, in a respectful manner, a statement of Bradley. Immediately he displayed his arms. The magistrate commanded the peace, and directed the prisoner to proceed. He attempted to do so, by repeating what he had said, and called upon one of the other men to cenfirm what he said. Bradley the displayed his revolver knocked one of the prisoners down and fired at a second, who saved himself by striking the assassin's arm and throwing off the ball. A third one attempted to escape through a back door. He was shot through the head, and REPUBLICAN MEETINGS third one attempted to escape through a back door. He was shot through the head; and fell. While down the murderer stood over him, firing two balls through his body. Re-turning to the first man, still down, he aimed and fired a ball through his brain, killing him instantly, and then retired from the scene.

A brother of the man remoustrated with Bradley when Eradley instantly menaced him with a revolver. Another brother, some forty yards distant and the only negro in the field that was armed, called to Bradley, telling him it was an outrage to beat the cripple, and demanding that he cease. Bradley turned upon him, and instantly commenced firing. The first shot brought down one of the women,

THE POTATO ROT.—The Lancaster and CARD.—To the Electors of Bedford, other papers are complaining that the growing crop of Potatoes in their respective neighborhood is considerably effected by the rot. We have heard no complaint from our farmers on this subject. If the crop is injured it will be owing to the wet weather, of which we had more than during any Summer within the "recollection of the oldest inhabitant," but it is earnestly hoped that the crop will not be seriously injured, as it is really second only in importance to the wheat and corn crops.
