FACTIONALISM IN THE REPIR-LICAN PARTY.

The history of the Republican party in the United States is the history of progress and liberty. Were it to die to morrow, it would leave such a record as no other party in the history of the world has left. It is ha sed upon the eternal principles of liberty and justice, and though now and then bold men have endeavored to wield it for their own pcitical aggrandizement, yet when the great masses of the party have been reached; they have adhered steadfastly to principles without any regard for the creatures of their

This is as it should be. The Republican party was never organized for the mere personal aggrandizement of men as individuals. It was organized and maintains its organizetion for the promotion of the principles pro-nulgated by the Declaration of American Independence. And when it ceases to advo cate such principles, then it has no longer any right to ask the adherence of its heretofore faithful advocates. The bond which has heretofore bound them will then be severed, and they will be left free to act where they find congenial principles.

In Pennsylvania, however, a few men have endeavored to elevate themselves to the prejudice of the principles so plainly laid down in the Republican creed. It is against this that we desire to enter our solenin protest. There is no reason why the Republican party should throw itself into the hands of any ndividual or individuals. Every locality has within itself sufficient talents and patriot. ism to sustain the vitality necessary to give it success, and to proclaim its great funda mental truths. This being the case, no one man is necessary at its head to hold it together, and the man who attempts to force him self by money or other improper means, un less it were by mere weight of talents, to a position where he will be regarded as the exponent of Republican principles, is a usurper and should be discountenanced by every well wisher of the organization. It may be dangerous to give utterance to such fen timents, lest the author of them be " mark ed for future reference." But we want it distinctly understood that the only standard of superiority with us is braine, and that we are the tools of no man or set of men, nor shall we allow the Republican party to become the mere vehicle to carry selfish and vain men into power if we can avoid it.

The great Republican party of the great state of Pennsylvania, for the last half dozen years, has presented the humiliating spectacle of contending between two individuals, as if upon the success of the one or the other depended the success of the principles of po-litical liberty for all time to come. The contest between these gentlemen reminds us of an old schoolboy play, wherein the leaders or captains endeavor to seize the party at-tached to the coat tail of the opposite leader or captain, and attach them to his own The "little wanton poys" who participate in this play are truly to be pitied, if not exe crated. And strange to say not unfrequent ly men of talents have figured in the rear of these partizans, and kicked and floundered about as if all depended upon the amount of dust that they could kick up. Such men generally have their price and are rendering service in return for "value received," or for what they expect to receive.

The Republican Party must raise itself above these "rings," formed for mere spoils, or die of corruption. It is the fate of every great party, and the only manner in which the evil can be cradicated is for the rank and file to ignore politicians and select men from their ranks who are known to be hon-Men stand ready in almost every com munity to sell out to the highest bidder, without any regard as to who is sacrificed. Legislatures are bribed almost by wholesale and corruption stalks abroad in high place as if it were honorable for men to deal in the consciences of their fellow men. Much

A FEW regular soldiers stationed at Fort Delaware, citizens of Pennsylvania, came to the conclusion that they were entitled to vote at the late election, under the Pennsylehigh . vania volunteer election law, and had their McKeap votes returned. Of course it was only a misconstruction of the law. The Copperheads set up a great cry of fraud over this for the purpose of covering up their frauds in Philadelphia. It is the old cry of "stop thief" over again. THE Copperheads of Pittsburg had a great demonstration on last Saturday night over the result of the elections of Pennsylvania and Ohio. While Judge Thurman of Ohio was addressing them, the bottom burst out of their platform and down went the whole mass of Copperhead humanity. It was only the usual premonition that Copperheadism receives before an over-whelming defeat. We remember a similar warning in this place several years ago.

THE late Republican defeat in this State eminds us very much of the battle of Antietam. In that engagement it was said that McClellan had 16,000 as a reserve, but did not find it conveneent to use them. In the late political contest we had 40,000 as a eserve and our officers faild to rush them into the fight. The next engagement we intend to fight without reserves, so Cops stand from under.

THE official vote of Pennsylvania, as will be learned by reference to the official table in another column, foots up 267,746 for Sharswood and 266,824 for Williams, leaving a majority of 922 for the former. The Republican vote fell 40,450 short of the vote cast for Governor Geary, while the Copperhead vote fell only 22,350 short. It ies under such circumstances.

THE Gettysburg Star says that "it is not every editorial firm that can boast of a L. L. D." If these enhalistic latter 1 If these cabalistic letters denote what the wag said they denoted when con ferred upon Hon. John Tyler-"Lie Like Damnation"-every Copperhead office in the State can boast of at least one.

THE Pennsylvania Central has come down from the Legislature to the people, it seems, if all the charges are correct. It will find that the people will be much harder to manipulate than the Legislature. We hope to hear a good account from the latter.

Gov. BROWNLOW, of Tepnessee, has an nounced himself as a candidate for United ee could States Senator. We wish Tennes find some one to represent her who would add to the dignity of the United States Senate rather than detract from it.

On Friday, in the Court of Common Pleas, Philadelphia, Wm. B. Mann, Esq., filed three separate petitions protesting against Wm. A. Leech, Joseph Megary and General John F. Ballier being allowed to occupy and perform the duties of the offices of Register of Wills, Clerk of Or-phan's Court and City Commissioner res-pectively. The petitions, after a general allegation of fraud, set forth that— "The election officers in said divisions faisely and fraudlently permitted and suffer-ed a large number of persons not qualified voters of said divisions, to vote at said elec-tion, to the number of 1,949 and upwards, whose votes were taken and counted in the general return for said offices whose names were not on the list furnished by the City Commissioners to the election officers, with-out requiring or receiving proof of the qual-ifications of said voters, and without requir-ing or receiving proof by a qualified elector of the residence in said divisions of said vo-ters, and without adding the names of the persons making proof to the list furnished by the City Commissioners. RECENT arrivals from Virginia represent political affairs in that State as badly mixed, and it is thought that the election will result against the Convention. The Union conventions have been controlled by extreme confis cation Radicals, who refused to compromise by Busch-Fabri and by Hors-by Hors-Bepublicans, but nominated men of their own stripe. The result is that many Bepublicans will vote against them. Republicans will vote against them.
