PROGRESS OF AMERICAN IDEAS.

Two events have recently occured which, though, in view of their importance, comparatively unnoticed by the great body of withdrawal of the protection of the astute Black from the troubled Johnson, in the our people, unmistakably indicate that hour of the supremest necessity of the lat-ter? Alta Vela is a desolate, uninhabited American ideas and American energy are destined very soon to exercise a controlling island, half a mile wide and three-quarters influence in the affairs of the world. The of a mile long, sixteen miles from the coast treaty of Mr. Bancroft with Prussia, now the of San Domingo, valuable only upon account most powerful nation of Europe, virtually, of guano found upon it by one of Mr. if not wholly concedes the right of expatria Black's clients. The latter supposing that tion so long contended for by the United Alta Vela belonged to nobody, took posses-States. The other nations of Europe, ion, erected the United States flag, and though not acknowledging it in treaties proceeded to dig out the guano. After have in practice gradually conceded the correctness of our position so that now what was, on our first assertion of it, denied by the party, claimed that the island was theirs. the whole civilized world, has at last been recognized, and virtually adopted into the carried off the adventurers, imprisoned them and broke up their business. Being law of nations. The importance of the conshrewd men they came to this country and cession will not be at once fully recognized with us but its influence will be felt no doubt, more from his political influence than his legal talents. But across the path throughout Europe in the breaking down of the, to travellers, annoying system of passes and examinations, and consequently of Black arises this malicious Seward. He favors the Dominican claim. He shows in the greatly increased facilities of interthat the island was discovered by Christocourse between the citizens of the nations of pher Columbus, belonged to Spain until the independence of San Domingo was estabthe continent. American customs and influences have already had an influence in lished, and then became Dominican proper relaxing the strictness with which these clogs on enterprise have heretofore been ty. Mr. Black denounces Mr. Seward's arguments, and sneers at his maps. He enforced, and it is not too much to predict, seems to have expected that the President that this last concession will hasten their would send Farragut with a fleet of iron total abolition. A probably still more imelads to take possession of Alta Vela. Mr. Seward says it would not be just. Mr. portant event is the appointment of our former minister to China, Mr. Burlingame, Black says that the only question is, whethas Chinese Ambassador General to the Chriser he shall be allowed to gain the case upon tian world. The importance of the appoint. behalf of his clients. Seward says no ment of an active, intelligent and enterpris-Johnson does not say yes. There can be no doubt that it will result in the opening up of that vast On the part of the Managers, the case thought to be the most perfect ever sent to a Jury.—The Presidents Counsel so Badly Beaten that they may throw up the Case. Empire, with its swarming millions, to the freedom of commercial intercourse now existing between other nations, which of itself Beaten that they may throw up the Case. The impeachment trial, progress thus far, and its probable developments, are the universal topics of conversation in this city. It is generally conceded that the evidence, as presented by the prosecution, leaves not a doubt as to the conviction of the Presi-dent. Legal gentlemen regard it as the most perfect case ever sent to a jury, and the Managers feel confident that the defense will not be able to answer their arguments. is an event of the highest importance. Such a result will be almost equivalent to the doubling of the population of the civilized world; for China in her heretofore almost impenetrable exclusiveness, has kept from any but the most restricted intercourse with the outer world, a population almost equal to that of all the rest of the world. Efforts to this end have been made for years by the nations of Europe, but it has been reserved for American genius and enterprise to carry it to a successful accomplishment. It will be due alone to our neglect of golden opportunities if we do not, as a nation, reap the greatestadvantages from this the most im-portant diplomatic achievement of modern times. With our Pacific Railroad comple-ted we will be nearer to the East, with her teeming millions and cheap labor, than any other civilized or christian nation. This will bring us great advantages, which we must improve, but it will also lay upon us from and commercial intercourse with a na-tion of thirty or thirty-five millions, with scarcely more than a leaven of christianity, the wisdom of man cannot foresee. That the event will be fraught with either good or evil to them or to us none can doubt. What these results shal be will depend greatly upon us to say, for it cannot the character. Even this hasty glimpsear the probable results of these two events the inclease. Nothing in our history as a nation has ever occurred tending so directly to place us in the lead of the nations of the Earth. American ideas and statemanship are un-doubtedly in the ascendant and seem likely to continue so. As Americans we have every reason to be proud of our present po-sition and to expect even a more illustrious one in the near future. Henceforth Amer-ica undoubtedly leads the van of the nations

ALTA VELA. The withdrawal of Jeremiah S. Black rom among the counsellors of the President, has been attributed to the malign influence of that man of mystery and mischief, William H. Seward. Because the President sustained his Secretary of State in a decision that he made about Alta Vela,

In fact, nothing was to be made by Mr. Black, by remaining steadfast to the President. The days of the latter are numbered, and if he stubbornly refuses to com-pensate his lawyer by granting him Alta Vela, what hope can there be of obtaining a triumph with his successor? But what is Alta Vela, says the impatient reader; what can it be that has such an influence upon the destinies of the nation, as to cause the

The New York Tribune contains the fol-lowing important editorial announcement:---"We have assurances from Washington that Gen. Grant finds it not inconsistent with his duty as a soldier to annoance it as his opinion that the only hope for the peace of the coun-try is the success of the pending Impeachment trial. He feels that national security de-mands the removal of the President. If the trial should fail, the people can only expect more assumptions of power, and a more de-termined resistance to law. When the General of our Armies entertains this conviction there is no room for doubt as to the duty of the Senate. The loyal nation demands the President's removal."

The proceedings in the impeachment trial

In the proceedings in the impercenter turber on Wednesday of last week, up to which time report will be found on our outside, were important and in-teresting, cliciting in their progress several marked indications of the judgment of the Court upon questions of evidence, and also giving further insight into the strength of the case which the Managers on the part of the House are prepared to present. Their managers of the proceedings on each day is developing evidence of superior tact and skill, and of a thorough belief in the com-pleteness and justice of the cause, which in itself is a great element of strength. The counsel for the defence so far have appear-ed, in comparison with the vigor and force of the other side, to make but a feeble effort for their client. The tastimony to the effect that General Thomas had avowed to him his intention to use force, that it was his duty to obey the President's order, and that he would call upon Gederal Grant for military aid in pla-cing bim in possession of the War Depart-ment. The last witness examined was a Delaware Democrat, apparently of the Dea-con Pogram order. He had met General Thomas at one of the President's levees and told him that he 'must stand firm,' that Delaware was watching him, and Delaware expected it of him. General Thomas avow-ed that he was standing firm, that Delaware evould not be disappointed in him, and that he would shortly 'kick that fellow (Stan-ton) out.'' The witness was so much ap-plied by this ferocious declaration that he only found breach to 'trenew the desire of Delaware.'' Beside the amusing character of this witness's evidence, it was only mark-ed by the Chief Justice checking the Presi-dent's counsel when they prolonged his cross-examination by trivial questions. Governot Burnside has an increased ma-jority over that of last year, and every county in the State shows a Republican majority. The Democrats made a special effort in the hope of encouraging their friends in Connectitury tha hurrah over great gains, but failed. T

The court of important view of a contest will undoubtedly be a close one. The Court of important convened at the usual hour and with the second end at Thursday. The day was devoted to the receiving of testimony, in which good progress was made, interrupted only by the repeated objections of the President's coursel to the reception of portions of the testimony offered. One of the most sig-nificant points of the day was the fact that the Chief Justice, in each instance in which objection was made, submitted the matter to the Senate for decision, without himself pronouncing any opinion. It is presumed that he has thus established the precedent which he designs pursuing throughout the trail upon all questions of importance. In three cases of objection thus submitted yesterday, the House Managers were sus-tained in two and the President's counsel in the remaining one. The most important witness examined yesterday was Gen. Emory, who repeated the conversation he had held with the President is reference to the military force stationed at Washington. Both the interviews were sought by the President. Gen. Emory gave his evidence considerably fuller than in his testimony as published accompanying the articles of im-peachment, especially in regard to the Ma-ryland militia, the organization and disloyal sentiments of which he considered to be a reason for the maintenance of a considerable military force at Washington. He also de-tailed the conversation with the President,

The also de-tailed the conversation with the President, in which the latter asserted the duty of officers of the Army to obey the orders of the President without reference to the law requiring that they should be transmitted through Gen. Grant. Hon. Wm. E. Chand-ler was examined as to the mode in which money is drawn from the Treasury for the use of the War Department. The last witness called, who was on the stand when the Court adjourned, was the Superintendent of the Washington office of the Union Tele-graph Company, the object being to produce the originals of telegraph despatches sent by the President to the Governors of the South-ern States for the purposes of obstructing the execution of the Reconstruction laws. No legislative business of any importance was transacted by either House of Congress. In the Senate a resolution was was transacted by either a resolution was submitted abolishing the ticket system of admission to the galleries during the imit. In the House a few resolutions were presented and leaves of absence granted to a number of members.
