Local Affairs. TO OUR CAMPAIGN SUBSCRIBERS .- The next number of the INQUIRER will be the last of our campaign subscribers as do not wish to continue their subscriptions. We will continue the paper to all such as do not ignify their desire to stop it either by letter paign subscribers, we have a word to say. to man who wishes to be posted on the news of the day and the affairs of his county can afford to be without his county paper. It alone contains the legal advertising and general news of the county which are of most importance to him. Things near at home, in his own community, are of more importance importance to him. Things near at home, in his or n community, are of more importance to him than any others, yet these are the very matters concerning which he can learn noth-ing, in any other than his own county paper-Many persons subscribe for a city paper be-cause they can get a little larger paper for the same price. This is poor economy. The city paper has no interest in the general well-fare and improvement of the community filled with disgusting police reports and obscene adver-tisements, such as are unfit to be seen or read in the family circle excent st the idwalf of the interget, was not killed in the late unpleasantness, and am a lineal the late unpleasantness, and am a lineal to how find our people all complaining of the read, or shipping coal will look fifter these little litters, as leaks of the late unpleasantness, and am a lineal the late unpleasantness, and am a lineal the find the the station the second to the the second to the se in the family circle, except at the risk of cor-rupting and demoralizing your children. Knowing these to beserious objections to many of the cheaper city papers and indeed to not a few country papers, we have conscientions with the labored ever since our connection with the INQUIRER to make it a general depository of all the county news and the more important foreign news and at the same time make it an unexceptionable family newspaper.
