Having kept sheep for six years, principa being durable and affording about one third more food than other grasses, and it will stand closer feeding, and sheep will do well on it. I have about ten acres that have been seeded eighteen or twenty years. It was sown with prairie grass, which is long since extinct, and the clover still flourishes, the ground has never been broken, and it ha often been remarked that my pasture wi sustain more stock than any pasture of its size in the neighborhood. It also make good hay for sheep. I mix white clover see nd sow for meadow; it sods over better and vields all of one-third more per acre, and makes much better hay for sheep. I wintered sixty-five sheep on hay thus mixed without feeding any grain, and lost none after winter set in, and none are poor and weak. My lambs have need of but little care, their sheep kept better than flocks in the vicinity that have had hay and grain without clover.
