FARM MATTERS IN OCTOBER.

Each month in the year has its special, as well as general duties. The special ones as well as those which can more appropriately be performed now than at any other time.

One of these duties is that of draining lands which are unfit for cultivation in consequence of a surplus of standing water in and upon them.

The importance of drainage is better appreciated than it formerly was; indeed, many persons believe it now, who never did before.

Another October duty is with regard to manure. We have often stated as our opinion that there is no mode of applying manure to the soil, which is so cheap, and at the same time so efficacious, as to apply it in its crude condition and plow it under the surface some two or four inches.

When plowed under towards the close of October, it suffers no loss whatever. When ever the soil becomes sufficiently warm to induce fermentation, the gases thrown off are at once taken up and held by the soil—this operation is said also to have a mechanical effect upon the soil, similar to that of yeast in a pan of dough, raising it by separating the particles, and thus making it lighter for the roots of plants to travel in and admit warmth and air.

If inconvenient to plow under, manure may be taken to the field, placed in a compact heap and covered with straw. It should be placed as near the spot where it is to be used as possible. In this form and place it will be ready for early overhauling in the spring.

It is time in October to commence feeding the swine, by feeding them more liberally than they have been through the warmer months. They will gain faster now than when the weather is cold. Always furnish them with a dry bed, and where the wind will not reach them, especially through cracks in the floor.

These and many other things may be done in the pleasant month of October.—N. E. Farmer.

SAVE THE CORNSPIDER.—We have long been of the opinion that there was not the attention paid to the curing and drying of the corn spider that its value demands. Every good farmer must know that cattle eat it greedily through the winter, and if cut and steamed it is as good for them as the best hay and readily more milk producing.

Where is the necessity of allowing it to remain in stocks until the middle or end of November? Corn should not be cut down until the stalks are dry and the grain is perfectly hard, and then it should remain no longer in the field than is absolutely necessary for the drying of the grain. It should be hauled as early as possible, and if loaded tied up in bundles and either carefully stacked near the cattle stable or put under the shelter in sheds.

It is well known, too, that horses prefer it to the best hay; also that the blades are especially sought for to feed racing animals, strengthening their wind and bottom beyond any other food. It is besides wholesome pro- vider and highly nutritious in making every horse's supply of hay, and in hot days in the spring, with the addition of chopped roots, which every farmer, who shrewdly looks to the main chance ought to cultivate for feeding in the early part of the winter.—German town Telegraph.

TREATMENT OF SPRAINS AND BRUISES.—The best treatment of sprains and bruises is the application of water, of such temperature as is most agreeable to the patient. The degree of temperature varies with the nature of the weather and the vigor of the circulation. In hot days use cool or cold water. The bruise or sprained part may be emersed in a pail of water, and gently pressed and manipulated with the hand or a soft cloth, for ten or fifteen minutes, or even longer in severe cases, after which wrap up the parts in cloths wet in cold water and kept quiet. This treatment keeps down the inflammation, and in nine cases out of ten proves a speedy cure. The liniments and ointments so much used for sprains and bruises, do not compare with this simple treatment in efficacy.—Herald of Health.

GROOMING HORSES.—Though suitable and properly prepared food is the prime requisite for the horse, regular grooming holds the second place in the management of him. A man who omits the customary ablutions at stated times—who goes for days or weeks with uncleaned hair, may expect but a feeble performance. A man who neglects the regular grooming of his horse is an enemy both to the beast and himself; in that he does not withhold labor which is due to and himself because he depreciates the value of his own property.

Humorous.

A piece of work no printer ever yet turned up his nose at.—The proof of the pudding. It is fitting that limbs of the law should be clonched in breaches of promise.

Why kind of sweats did they have in the ark? Preserved pairs. When a maiden gets married she ends a miss and a life.

WHY ENDURE A LIVING DEATH?

The confirmed dyspeptic may almost say with St. Paul, "I will eat my own flesh and drink my own blood." The object of this article is to remind him of his pain, but to show him how to banish them forever. The means of immediate and permanent relief are presented him in HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS. And it is for him to say whether he will continue to endure a living death, or to put himself in a position to render life enjoyable.

LIVING ADVERTISEMENTS. Of the efficacy of this matchless vegetable stomachic are to be found in every city and town in the United States—healthy men and women rescued from torture by its use, and eager to bear testimony to its virtues. It differs from any other bitter in existence, in this special particular—it is not alcoholic.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC. Has been provided a preparation in which the best extracts of the finest restoratives of the vegetable kingdom are held in solution by a spirituous agent, purged of all acrid and irritating qualities, and in which, besides the most powerful restoratives, are contained the most powerful antiseptics, which are guided by their own condition. It is a very low state, from debility, the Tonic should be his selection. In cases where the emergency is not pressing, the Bitters is the specific required. Thousands find infinite benefit in taking each in turn. There is no phase of indigestion, Biliousness, Nervous Disease, or Physical Prostration, to which they are not adapted, and in which, singly or combined, they will not effect a cure.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS. Biliousness, Indigestion, General Debility, and all the complaints which proceed from a want of proper action in the Liver, Stomach, and Bowels, are eradicated by a course of this great HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC. Is a combination of all the ingredients of the Bitters, with the purest quality of Sarsaparilla, Orange, &c., making one of the most pleasant and agreeable remedies ever offered to the public. These remedies will effectively cure Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, Chronic Diseases of the Kidneys, and all Diseases arising from a Disordered Liver or Stomach, such as Constipation, Flatulence, Icteric Puffiness of Blood, to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking, or Depression of the Spirits, Swelling of the Feet, and all the ailments which attend the Liver, Stomach, and Bowels.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS. Is composed of the purest juices (or, as they are medically termed, Extracts) of Roots, Herbs, and Bark, making a preparation, highly concentrated and entirely free from alcoholic admixtures of any kind.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC. Without any special complaint, except a gradual declination of bodily strength and nervous energy, will find in the Bitters a fountain of vitality and vigor as refreshing and exhilarating as a pool in the desert to the sand-scoured and fainting traveler.
