"I ONLY HAD CAPITAL"—If I only had capital, we heard a young man say a few days ago as he puffed away at a ten cent cigar, I would soon do something. If I only had capital, said another as he walked away from a dram-shop where he had just paid ten cents for a drink, I would go into business. The same remark might have been heard from the young man leading on the street corner. Young man with the cigar, you are smoking away your capital; you, from the dram-shop, are drinking yours and destroying your body at the same time, and you, of the street corner, are wasting yours in idleness and forming bad habits. Dimes make dollars. Time is money. Don't wait for a fortune to begin with. If you had ten thousand a year and spent it all you would be poor still. The millionaires of our land began poor. Our men of power and influence did not start with fortune. You too can make your mark if you will. But you must spend your money for what you don't need and squandering your time in idleness. Go to work. Do whatever you can find. Refuse no useful or honorable work until you can get better. It is not honest work that degrades men. Make good use of your time. Save your earnings, and improve your leisure moments by storing your mind with useful knowledge. Be true to your country, be true to his business and his interests as if they were your own. Such conduct will make you friends, and a judicious economy will accumulate you capital. Then you may begin for yourself whenever a favorable opportunity offers; and the same industry, economy and attention to business will give you a competence. This is the way you can attain to power and influence. If you get them any other way, your bad habits will ruin your patrimony and destroy your influence. If you do not work for what you want for you are unworthy to enjoy them and will never get them. There still is no excellence without labor.

THE SECRET OF THE ALIAMA'S SUCCESS Explains the hair is secreted by the follicle or gland, and each gland is nourished and supported by a minute blood-vessel, and as long as these blood-vessels carry a sufficient quantity of nourishment to these glands, the hair will grow; but if from disease or any other cause, these vessels become obstructed or torpid, so much so as not to carry to these glands a sufficient quantity of blood to nourish and sustain them, the hair will become thin and fall off. The reproduction of the hair, therefore, depends upon the restoration of these small blood-vessels to their primitive and unobstructed circulation, which indicates the Aliama performs. It is absolutely necessary, before new hair can be produced, to stimulate the scalp by the application of the Aliama, which excites the blood-vessels to an increased healthy action. Remember, it requires time; for if the hair were to start as soon as the tonic was applied, it would probably be five or six weeks before it would make its appearance through the skin.

HISKEY FINDING MACHINES—Elsewhere will be found the card of Messrs. Straw & Morton, 20th street, agents for the above machine. We have never had much confidence in the statements made in regard to the large quantity of finished and rough lumber. The entire building and contents were consumed. The tin shop was partially destroyed. We have no estimate of the loss, but have understood it is at least $25,000.

THE FIRE IN THE ALTOONA R. R. SHOPS—About eight o'clock on Tuesday night fire was discovered issuing from the plaining mill on the ground and the Railroad Shops in this city. In a short time the whole building was enveloped in flames and the fire communicated to the tin shop adjoining. The plaining mill was a frame building and contained a large quantity of finished and rough lumber. The entire building and contents were consumed. The tin shop was partially destroyed. We have no estimate of the loss, but have understood it is at least $25,000.

MEMBER IN HUNTINGTON COUNTY.—On Wednesday evening the 17th inst., has been committed to du prey sharply, and ingeniously pen in rhyme the apology therefor, which we commend to the attention of our own readers.

"Should you ask why this dunning, Why these sad complaints and murmurs, Murmurs loud about delinquents Who have read the paper weekly? Read what they have never paid for, Read with pleasure and with profit, Read of State affairs and prospects, Read of news both home and foreign, Read the essays and the poems, Full of wisdom and in strict o' prose, Read of the printer from the press, Carefully corrected weekly? Should you ask us why this dunning? We should answer, we should tell you, From the printer from the miller, From the kind old paper maker, From the landlady, from the carrier, From the man who taxes letters, From the man who carries mail, "Uncle Sam the rowdies call him; From them all there comes a message, Message—Read the paper weekly! 'Tis very difficult to well delineate in a work of fiction—a religious missionary. All who read the work will bear testimony to the entire success of Mr. Huntz's writings. It is published in a large duodecimo volume, bound in green Morocco cloth, price $1.75; or, in paper cover for $1.50.

Douglas concludes The Prize of Two Men's Lives, and Mrs. Wood of Roland York, ends in the most satisfactory manner. There is a fine story from Mr. Moulton, and one from Nora Perry, and a sweet poem from Florence Perry, with the usual literary variety. The recipes are good, practical directions such as will be wanted for the holidays. Include ten cents for a sample copy, to Deson & Peterson, 310 Walnut street, Philadelphia. Price $2.50 a year (which also includes a large steel engraving).

Another Murder in Huntington County.—At Broadtop city one day last week a Mr. Cassidy, about his son, a young man, under the following circumstances. Mr. Cassidy it seems was in the habit of getting intoxicated and abusing his family, when the young man was obliged to protect the family from his violence and sometimes was compelled to turn him out of the house. On the day of the murder Cassidy overtook his son some distance from the house, and attacked him with a club, one report says, and another with a knife, and killed him. Young Cassidy is reported to have been a steady young man who by work in the mines supported the family of his dissipated father. The murderer was arrested and lodged in the Huntington Jail.

COURT.—The attendance at Court last week was unusually small for a regular session. The whole week was occupied with the quarter sessions, not a civil case being tried. It is indeed a sad commentary upon the moral condition of our county, that a whole week should be occupied with criminal trials when a few years ago but a couple of days were required to dispose of all Commonwealth business. Is it the fault of our public officers?

BANKING.—Mr. George F. Hoff, agent of Wm. M. Lloyd of Altoona paid a flying visit to our town on Thursday, at the solicitation of a number of our citizens, with a view to making arrangements for opening a banking house. Banking facilities are greatly needed and we have a reasonable assurance that the above named party will open business here within a week or two.

ONE OF THE VERY REALLY SUCCESSFUL enterprises of the day is Parker & Co.'s One Dollar Sale. Their system offers a greater opportunity for the purchase of the thousand and one useful articles, at a price that comes within the reach of all classes, than any other.

It is a well understood fact, that certain classes of goods pay the dealer a very large percentage of profit. This appears almost everywhere, especially in Fancy Goods, Jewelry, Silks, Ribbons, &c. I claim that a dealer does not sell sufficient of any one article to make it an object of trade, and is obliged to purchase in small quantities; and when the goods are sold by three or four different classes of merchants, and each charge a very large profit, the price becomes double the original cost of manufacture before reaching the hands of the people.

It is in such goods Parker & Co., 38 & 40 Summer street, Boston, deal and prosper. By their sales are immense their gains. Each article a specialty, often buying a large manufacturer can produce. Their system gives universal satisfaction. Read their advertisement, Nov. 1st.

How Hostetter's Bitters cure Dyspepsia. THE WHOLE STORY IN A NUTSHELL. The office of the stomach is to convert the food into a cream-like semi-fluid, called Chyme. This is effected partly by the action of a solvent, called the gastric juice, which is secreted by the stomach, and partly by a mechanical movement of that organ, which churns, as it were, the dissolving aliment. The CHYME passes from the stomach into the duodenum, or entrance to the bowels, where it is subjected to the action of bile, and the nutritious portion of it converted into a fluid called Chyle, which eventually becomes blood.

Now, it is evident that if the great solvent, the gastric juice, is not produced in sufficient quantity, or if the mechanical action of the stomach is not sufficiently brisk, the first process of digestion will be imperfectly performed. It is also clear that if the liver, which plays such an important part in changing the nourishing portion of the chyme into the material of the blood, is congested, or in any unnatural condition, the second process will not be thoroughly accomplished. The result of the two failures is dyspepsia, commonly called Indigestion.

The mode in which HOSTETTER'S BITTERS operate in such cases is this: they invigorate the cellular membrane of the stomach, which evolves the gastric juice, thereby insuring an ample sufficiency of the fluid to completely dissolve the food. They also act upon the nerves of the stomach, causing an acceleration of the mechanical movement necessary to reduce the food to a pulp, and they strengthen it, and so enable it to produce an ample and regular supply of bile, for the purpose of converting the nutritious particles of the Chyme into Chyle, and promote the passage through the bowels of the useless debris.

In this way, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS cure dyspepsia and liver complaint. The explanation is plain, simple, philosophical, and true.

ROBERT GRAHAM. A sequel to Linda; or, The Young Pilot of the Bell Creole. By Mrs. Caroline Lee Huntz. The thousands who have read Linda will make haste to procure a copy of Robert Graham, which is a sequel to that celebrated work, and is also the second volume issued of Peter's new and beautiful edition of the complete works of Mrs. Caroline Lee Huntz. Robert Graham is a charming novel, being natural, graphic, and very entertaining. In point of plot, style, and all the other characteristics of a popular romance, it will far exceed equal, if not superior to the novels of the present day. We cannot admit too much, nor thank Mrs. Huntz too sincerely for the high and ennobling morality and Christian grace, which not only pervade her entire writings, but which shine forth with undimmed beauty in this novel of Robert Graham. It maintains the character which is very difficult to well delineate in a work of fiction—a religious missionary. All who read the work will bear testimony to the entire success of Mr. Huntz's writings. Lloyd of Altoona paid a flying visit to our town on Thursday, at the solicitation of a number of our citizens, with a view to making arrangements for opening a banking house. Banking facilities are greatly needed and we have a reasonable assurance that the above named party will open business here within a week or two.

ONE OF THE VERY REALLY SUCCESSFUL enterprises of the day is Parker & Co.'s One Dollar Sale. Their system offers a greater opportunity for the purchase of the thousand and one useful articles, at a price that comes within the reach of all classes, than any other.

It is a well understood fact, that certain classes of goods pay the dealer a very large percentage of profit. This appears almost everywhere, especially in Fancy Goods, Jewelry, Silks, Ribbons, &c. I claim that a dealer does not sell sufficient of any one article to make it an object of trade, and is obliged to purchase in small quantities; and when the goods are sold by three or four different classes of merchants, and each charge a very large profit, the price becomes double the original cost of manufacture before reaching the hands of the people.

It is in such goods Parker & Co., 38 & 40 Summer street, Boston, deal and prosper. By their sales are immense their gains. Each article a specialty, often buying a large manufacturer can produce. Their system gives universal satisfaction. Read their advertisement, Nov. 1st.

How Hostetter's Bitters cure Dyspepsia. THE WHOLE STORY IN A NUTSHELL. The office of the stomach is to convert the food into a cream-like semi-fluid, called Chyme. This is effected partly by the action of a solvent, called the gastric juice, which is secreted by the stomach, and partly by a mechanical movement of that organ, which churns, as it were, the dissolving aliment. The CHYME passes from the stomach into the duodenum, or entrance to the bowels, where it is subjected to the action of bile, and the nutritious portion of it converted into a fluid called Chyle, which eventually becomes blood.

Now, it is evident that if the great solvent, the gastric juice, is not produced in sufficient quantity, or if the mechanical action of the stomach is not sufficiently brisk, the first process of digestion will be imperfectly performed. It is also clear that if the liver, which plays such an important part in changing the nourishing portion of the chyme into the material of the blood, is congested, or in any unnatural condition, the second process will not be thoroughly accomplished. The result of the two failures is dyspepsia, commonly called Indigestion.

The mode in which HOSTETTER'S BITTERS operate in such cases is this: they invigorate the cellular membrane of the stomach, which evolves the gastric juice, thereby insuring an ample sufficiency of the fluid to completely dissolve the food. They also act upon the nerves of the stomach, causing an acceleration of the mechanical movement necessary to reduce the food to a pulp, and they strengthen it, and so enable it to produce an ample and regular supply of bile, for the purpose of converting the nutritious particles of the Chyme into Chyle, and promote the passage through the bowels of the useless debris.

In this way, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS cure dyspepsia and liver complaint. The explanation is plain, simple, philosophical, and true.
