endeavoring to break down our manufactures, so that we may be still compelled to buy of them and send our money abroad. To this end the Free-traders have secured the services of Commissioner Wells and through his infamous Report, have made a furious attack upon our iron interests. Let no one be misled by the deceptive and cunningly devised falsehoods which he has made his figures tell. Our iron interests are of the very first importance; with them all others stand or fall, for we have shown that they are at the foundation of all our other the stand or fall, for we have shown that they are at the foundation of all our other the stand or fall, for we have shown that they are at the foundation of all our other the stand or fall, for we have shown that they are at the foundation of all our other the stand or fall, for we have shown that they are at the foundation of all our other the stand or fall, for we have shown that they are at the foundation of all our other the stand or fall, for we have shown that they are at the foundation of all our other the stand or fall, for we have shown that they are at the foundation of all our other the stand or fall, for we have shown that they are at the foundation of all our other the stand or fall, for we have shown that they are at the foundation of all our other the stand or fall, for we have shown that they are at the foundation of all our other the stand or fall, for we have shown that they are at the foundation of all our other the stand or fall, for we have shown that they are at the foundation of all our other the stand or fall, for we have shown that they are at the foundation of all our other the stand or fall, for we have shown that they are at the foundation of all our other the stand or fall, for we have shown that they are at the foundation of all our other the stand or fall, for the standard or fall or the standard o others stand or fall, for we have shown that they are at the foundation of all our other industries. The Erie Canal Scheme at Harrisburg, HARRISBURG, Jan. 20 .- There is every HARRISBURG, Jan. 20.—There is every reason to believe that a strong effort will be made to obtain bonds of the par value of three and one half million dollars from the State Treasury to aid in widening and enlarging the canal from Erie to the junction of the Ohio and Beaver rivers, a distance of one hundred and thirty-six miles. The canal was originally built by the State, but a state of the canal was originally built by the State, but as stipped to a company about 1843 and made to obtain bonds of the par value of three and one half million dollars from the State Treasury to aid in widening and enlarging the canal from Erie to the junction of the Ohio and Beaver rivers, a distance of one hundred and thirty-six miles. The canal was originally built by the State, but was given to a company about 1843, and since then has been operated without any profit. Its securities, which have been almost worthless, are held by a few capitalists in the West, and, if the State lent her aid, these securities would increase in value ten fold. Under a constitutional provision the Commonwealth cannot loan money to a private corporation, but the effort will be to secure the Allegheny Railroad bonds, now in the Treasury, and which are endorsed by the Northern Central and Pennsylvania Central Companies. It is proposed to enlarge the canal, the locks of which are now fifteen feet wide, so as to admit of the passage of boats of three hundred tons burthen.

Efforts are being made to interest Eastern capitalists in the scheme, a supplementary portion of which consists in urging congress, at an expense not exceeding twenty million dollars, to improve the navigation of the transfer claim, and puts freelo a loss at [3,300 men.
