

Farmer's Department.

Foolish Vigils.

A few days since we were dining with a friend who had gathered a bevy of pretty girls around his hospitable board...

It indeed, so be that this comfortable way of cooking the vegetable has passed from the memory of housekeepers...

How to Double the Value of Saved Shingles.

Fir, hemlock and some other kind of shingles can be made to last about twice as long as usual, by immersing them for a few minutes in strong lime water...

Receipt for the cure of scab on sheep.

To 1½ pounds tobacco, add about 2 gallons water, and boil strong, reducing to 1½ gallons; then add 2½ oz. salt petre, 2½ oz. blue vitriol, 2½ oz. white precipitate, 2 gills of common or soft soap...

A Powerful Fertilizer.

Every farmer has soil at command, whose presence in stove-pipes or chimneys is not unfrequently the cause of both property and life.

Insects on Plants.

A gentleman who had many years experience as a florist, states that those who are troubled with insects on plants in their dwellings, and who do not prefer the smoking out process...

Connecticut Farming.

A correspondent writes "I have had a pretty good experience of what it is to run into debt for a farm and pay for it. We can raise better corn now than any of our neighbors, but grain will not pay for us to raise at present prices.

Kentucky Agricultural College.

The Lexington Gazette says that "there are now one hundred and forty-five students matriculated in this department of Kentucky University, and as soon as the arrangements are completed which are now in progress, two or three times this number will be accommodated."

Nice White Cake.

I have used the following recipe, and find it good:—2 cups sugar—2 cups flour—1 cup butter—1 cup milk—with 8 eggs—1 teaspoonful cream tartar—1 teaspoonful soda.

Plough deep, that you may have corn to sell and keep.

For the Young Folks.

The Fox and the Lion.

A Fox who had never seen a Lion, when by chance he met him for the first time, was so terrified that he almost died of fright.

The Flies and the Honey-pot.

A pot of honey having been upset in a grocer's shop, the Flies came around it in swarms to eat it up, nor would they move from the spot while there was a drop left.

The Mule.

A Mule that had grown fat and wanton on too great an allowance of corn, was one day jumping and kicking about and at length, cocking up her tail, exclaimed, "My dam was a Racer, and I am quite as good as she ever was."

The Ant and the Grasshopper.

On a cold frosty day an Ant was dragging out some of the corn which he had laid up in summertime, to dry it. A Grasshopper, half-perished with hunger, besought the ant to give him a morsel of it to preserve his life.

The Fighting Cocks and the Eagle.

Two young Cocks were fighting as fiercely as if they had been men. At last the one that had been beaten crept into a corner of the hen-house, covered with wounds.

The Lion and the Fox.

A Fox agreed to wait upon a Lion in the capacity of a servant. Each for a time performed the part belonging to his station; the Fox used to point out the prey, and the Lion fell upon it and seized it.

The One-eyed Doe.

A Doe that had but one eye used to graze near the sea, and that she might be the more secure from attack, kept her eye towards the land against the approach of the hunters, and her blind side toward the sea, whence she feared no danger.

The Lion and the Bowman.

A man who was very skillful with his bow, went up into the mountain to hunt. At his approach there was instantly a great consternation and rout among all the wild beasts; the lion alone showing any determination to fight.

The Wolf and the Crane.

A Wolf had got a bone in his throat, and in the greatest agony ran up and down, beseeching every animal he met to relieve him: at the same time hinting at a very handsome reward to the successful operator.

Those who are charitable only in the hope of a return, must not be surprised if, in their dealings with evil men, they meet with more losses than thanks.

A Tailor, who was skating fell through the ice, declared that he never would leave his shop for a cold duck.
