By the proceedings of the County Convention which we publish in this number it will be seen that fair and proper men have been put in nomination for the several county offices to be filled the present year, and that Capt. CHALFANT is endorsed for re-election as Represen-

Mr. MILLARD, the nominee for Sherliff, was one of three candidates who were a acceptable to the majority interest in the Convention, among all those whose names had been presented and canvassed at the Delegate Elections. And this position he had earned by active and entitled them to confidence and favor. He carried his own township by a decichain of $150 for wages against his muster, but a negro jury would allow him only $10, on the ground that they knew him to be 'a trifling, lazy scountrie,' and not worth what his employer delegates. CONVENTION GOSSIP.

THE writer was present in the County Convention on Monday last, and was an interested observer of the proceedings. He will endeavor to present the picture of the scene (in imperfect colors to be sure to the two thousand renders of the COLUMBIAS, who had not the satisfaction of being present.

Daniel M'Henry of Stillwater, a Fort Mifflin veteran and former Treasurer of the County, was called to preside. He might well have drawn a contrast in his mind between the honorable place assigned him, overlooking a large audience of delegates and citizens, and his former position as one of the 44 victims of despotic outrage in Bomb-proof No. 3. Here, beneath his eye, were the representatives of nearly four thousand freemen of his native county about to engage in an important proceeding conneeted with self-government, and with food, and the insolence of a jallor, here was a capacious Court room, the air and poses of both local government and priof folly and iniquity long to be re- taries.

Among the "outsiders," within the Bar, we noticed Senator Buckalew, unimpassioned but observant, Judge M'-Reynolds, with bowed but still vigorous form, William H. Shoemaker, pencil in hand, noting the votes taken, James S. M'Ninch, active and interested, Gen. Ent, erect with military port, and many other notables "too numerous to mention."

The best feeling prevailed at the close of the precedings, and upon the whole the work of the Convention will be accepted as judicious and satisfactory.

WE have read the speech of Senator applicase, Buckalew, in the U. S. Senate, on "cu-ing the districts. The plan he advocates is simply to give the minority a representation in Congress, according to the number of its votes. He contends that the accepted doctrine of a Republican government, does not imply that the minority shall be ignored; and though "the majority shall rule," yet the minority shall be heard through their own representatives. The same principle now obtains in our mode of choosing board of David Yeager, 25, election, and more recently, in the H. J. Reeder, 24, (Reeder not voting) obtains in our mode of choosing board of choice of jury Commissioners, Both these laws were made, so as to give the minority a representation. "Moreover, under Democratic admin-istrations of former years, from 1841 to 1860, large amounts of the debts of the Commonwealth had been falling due from time to time, and no provision made for its renewal, much less for its payment. In 1866 the aggregate of of these overdue loans of the State was some twenty three millions of dollars. The present Administration promptly determined that this reproach should be taken away, and in January last adver-tised for the redemption of all these overdue obligations, and succeeded in effecting an exchange of new securities for the whole at par."

We are glad our Radical neighbor has ventured to notice this matter, and we may on some future occasion, ventilate one of the boldest swindles that has ever been practiced upon the taxpayers of the State. At present we would only say that the impression designedly conveyed to the reader by the Geary organ that these overdue obligations had ceased to bear interest, and that the State creditors urgently demanded payment of the principal, is wholly false. The time had | Corn simply expired when the State had a right to pay, but the interest had not ceased, and as the security was ample, the creditors were abundantly content.

The practice has for years uniformly been for the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund to advertise for proposals from the holders of State loans, and to use the surplus money not otherwise required for the purchase of them, and thus save, many times, a large per centage for the
