The Columbian.

BLOOMSBURG, FRIDAY, AUG. 30, 1867.

MR. JOHN LEACOCK has improved the pavement by his house, by taking down the well curb, and making it level with the walk.

WE regret to learn that Judge Elwell is suffering under a severe attack of ague.

Mr. Charles H. Deebler is also attacked with the same disease.

OUR readers should not fail to read the article on "Grape Culture" in our Agricultural column of this week. It is written by a gentleman thoroughly conversant with the subject.

THE GURNSEY BROTHERS gave a vocal and instrumental concert in Snyder's Hall on Saturday evening last and was considered by all present as the best of the season. Success to them.

THE Republican prints Grant's letter but is afraid to let its readers see the President's reply. Why not let the two go together? It is like his quotation of garbled extracts from Judge Shorswood's opinion. He dare not publish it entire, for the Judge's logic would of itself, demonstrate the soundness of the decision.

THE potato crop everywhere gives unmistakable evidence of failure through the rot. In some sections the rot is very severe, and farmers have abandoned the idea of gathering them; others are hauling them away from their premises. Late planted potatoes will probably escape the disastrous effects of the recent rains.

ONE of our exchanges notices the death of a little girl caused by swallowing a nickle penny. The symptoms were all those of virulent poison, not unlike those which indicate the presence of arsenic and strychnine. This should be a warning to parents to keep pennies out of the hands of their children.

AS an evidence of the wasteful and extravagant manner in which the Radicals conduct affairs, it is only necessary to mention the fact that the cost of a session of the Legislature twenty years ago, under Governor Shank, was less than $80,000, and that the last Legislature, which was an unusually short session, cost over $265,000!!

NOT TRUE.—A few days ago we published an item of news, among our "brevities," announcing the fact that the Wapwallopen Powder Mills, were partially destroyed by an explosion. We are informed that this statement is untrue. No explosion has taken place at these mills, and the report was circulated purely from malicious motives. We make a note of this and ask other exchanges to do the same.

CURIOSITY.—Mr. Daniel Delong, of North Whitehall, this county, has in his possession a chicken, which was hatched on his premises, having four fully developed legs and feet. The supernumerary members, which proceed from the body, independently from the other legs and posterior to them, manifest a slight motion when the chicken moves, but do not assist in walking; they do not touch the ground, but stand horizontally in the direction to the length of the body. This monstrocity in the feathered race is thought to be a singular curiosity, not often met with.—Allentown Democrat.

THE forged affidavits gotten up implicate Woods, Rogers and Tryer with Conover, have been repudiated by all the leading and by all the respectable Radical journalists. Not only that, but Judge Holt publicly denies that they were ever in his Department as stated by their author. We have a contemptible opinion of an editor who, knowing it is a forgery, persists in trying to mislead his readers. He presumes on their ignorance. By the way, will the sapient editor of the Republican, or one of his "two lawyers" tell us the meaning of "subordination of perjury," of which he so fearfully speaks?

HAS IT BEEN DONE?—The new school law, passed last Winter by the Legislature, makes it the duty of the Trustees of the several Districts to make, or cause to be made, a correct census of the children in each District between the first and twentieth of July, in order to ascertain the number of children admissable to public schools. A report of the census is also to be returned to the County Superintendent. If these requirements are not complied with, the District so failing will be deprived of the amount due it from State appropriation.

THE plan of the Washinton Library Company of Philadelphia is to offer to the public an Interest in a charitable institution by offering stock in shares of one dollar, for which a certificate is given with an engraving fully worth the money paid. As a still further inducement to have the shares taken up rapidly, every stockholder is promised a present of some value in addition to his stock certificate and picture. The funds thus secured by the sales of stock are deposited with Messrs. George A. Cooke & Co., Bankers, No. 33 South Third Street, Philadelphia, to be by them applied to the object in view. A charitable public institution thus receives the benefit, and not a private individual. Read advertisement.

THE COLUMBIAN is hard up.—St. John's Organ.

The wish is father to the thought. The fact is that THE COLUMBIAN is a perfect success pecuniarily as well as politically. In less than eight months it has attained a circulation in this county, greater than any paper now, or heretofore, published therein. It is the largest in point of size, and the handsomest in point of appearance. Of its ability it does not become us to speak. Its political power and posithe rare assured and settled by the hatred, abuse and vindictiveness with which P. John, and his allies, and his organ pursue and denounce it. His assaults, whether covert or open, are vain and impotent. THE COLUMBIAN has fought its way to the front in spite of them, and firm in its position, waves in the breeze the good old Democratic banner, inscribed "the Constitution and the Union;" "the ticket, the whole ticket, and nothing but the ticket." Three cheers and a Tiger.

THE GALAXY, for September, contains some "Reminiscences of Dr. Anthon," the late distinguished classical scholar and teacher, by Dr. Nesmith; "A Carol of Harvest, for 1867," by Walt Whitman; "Jean Ingelow's New Volume," by Harriet Prescott Spofford; "The Ladies of Llangollen," by Rev. W. V. Alger; "Brigham Young and Mormonism," by E. M. Tallidge, a Mormon Elder; "Aunt Madeline's Trials," a Short Story, by F. L. Curtis; "Steven Lawrence, Yeoman," by Mrs. Edwards; "Waiting for the Verdict," by Mrs. R. H. Davis; and "Nebula," by the Editor.

The price of The Galaxy is $3.50 a year. Single copies may be obtained of the newsdealers, or they will be sent postpaid on receipt of 35 cents. Address W. C. & F. P. Church, No. 39 Park Row, New York.

WE publish this week the law passed by the last Legislature compelling railroad companies to carry negroes in their cars without discrimination, and invite the attention of our readers to its provisions. This law must be considered unreasonable and odious if any regard be paid to "stress of things" and to the convenience of the people.

The real interest of railroad companies would induce them to provide ample accommodations for all sorts of passengers upon their road, and therefore no necessity for a law compelling them to do so. But the object of this cruel law is not to secure to negroes the privilege of being transported upon railroads, (which they would fully enjoy without it,) but to mix them with white passengers. It has heretofore been the reasonable privilege of railroad companies to make such regulations in regard to carrying passengers as comported with the convenience and wishes of the public. Separate cars are provided for persons of limited means; emigrants are conveyed sometimes in special trains, ladies cars are provided from which men not accompanied by ladies are excluded, sleeping cars for through passengers have been introduced, and negroes have been carried in cars devoted to their use, or when few in number assigned a place by themselves by some part of an ordinary car. All these are proper arrangements and involve no hardships upon any class of passengers.

Now, however, negro men and wenches, whether clean or not, are to be forced into ladies' cars and sleeping cars, as well as into common cars, and mixed indiscriminately with other passengers; and any person, whether a railroad employee or a citizen who shall oppose or prevent this result, in any case, is to be considered a criminal and punished! This is a sample of radical legislation, well worthy of earnest notice by the people. It points to that degradation and pollution of race which if not the eminent object will be inevitably the effect of railroad policy.

Discomfort and annoyance to white passengers, especially in the warm months of the year, and the rapid pollution of negro impudence, will be immediate results of this law. But for these and other evil effects the authors of the law and not the negroes ought to be held responsible.

LOCAL NOTICES.

JUST think of it ladies, Brower sells calicoes at 12½ cents per yard; hoop skirts at 75 cents apiece; fruit jars at $2, and other goods in proportion. His fall stock is complete in dress goods and other needful articles.

FOR SALE—Two houses and lots in Bloom Township. They are both pleasantly located, and will be sold cheap, and a reasonable time given for payment. It is a first rate chance for a laborer or mechanic. For particulars inquire at this office. tf.

OUR friends visiting town during Court week, and wishing to purchase articles in the line of drugs, patent medicines, paints, oils, glass etc., should examine the carefully selected stock in Hendershott's New Drug Store. For qualities and cheapness, his goods defy competition.

JOSEPH SANDS of Mordonsville, requests us to state that he has constantly on hand coarse and fine woolen goods, manufactured at the Williamsport and White Deer Mills, as well as at his own, which he will exchange for wool, and that he will allow his customers the highest market rates. Come on with your wool.

PERUVIAN SYRUP.—This valuable medicine has been silently making its way into public favor by the numerous remarkable cures it has performed. Its singular efficacy is owing to the protoxide of Iron, which remains unchanged in that preparation and is the only form in which this vital element of healthy blood can be supplied.

"THERE'S a tide in the affairs of men, which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune;" and for several days past there has been a tide of men rushing into David Lowenberg's Clothing Store in order to get clothing that will make them appear like "men among men." The secret of it all is that he has just returned from the East with a large stock of new material, just suited for the season, and with the latest styles.

SPILE AHEAD.—We are glad to see that our old friend, L. S. Moyer, still keeps his position as the first druggist in town. He has now on hand a large lot of Mrs. Wheeler's Nursing Syrup which he is prepared to sell in large or small lots. His patrons, and those not yet supplied with goods, are earnestly requested to call on him and see his rates before purchasing elsewhere. His stock of drugs, chemicals, paints, oils, etc., is as full and complete as ever, and his prices defy competition.

THE ISTHMUS OF PANAMA.

THE Panamese regard the construction of the Railroad as a great misfortune to them, because now passengers are taken directly from the cars to the steamer, whereas in former times, hundreds of people would encamp in and around the City for several days at a time, thus giving the hotel keepers and others a full opportunity to fleece the unfortunate gold seekers. Mine host informed us that not only were the rooms and tables let at enormous rates, but a large premium was paid for room on the floor, which was chalked out into regular apartments.

The buildings are those common to all tropical countries. The convents and monasteries, which formerly must have been magnificent, are now mostly in ruins, the effects of numerous assaults and of earthquakes. One has been turned into a distillery and cigar shop, while nothing remains of the grand cathedral in the centre of the city but the bare walls, which are covered with a bramble so luxuriant as to almost prevent exploration. The ruins alone cover two acres of ground. Occasionally "mattering priests in gown and vestment" are seen in the streets, but they appear as relics of the past, as their corruption and sensuality have lost them the confidence of the people, who now yielded them implicit obedience. In fact morality and religion are at a woful discount, and both natives and foreigners openly feed dissolute lives. The inhabitants are devoted to cock and bull fights, to horse racing, and is also the principal market day.

It is conceded that Panama is one of the hottest places on the globe, and a sojourner scarcely needs more clothing than is necessary. The native children under the age of six years go naked, and from that time on until their tenth year, the only garment is a shirt, which is never washed except by the showers of nature, and never changed until worn out. These youngsters present every variety of color from black to white, as the colored people have free and equal privileges with the whites, and amalgamation followed as a matter of course. During the day business is mostly suspended, but towards evening the cool sea breeze sets in, and the walls around the city are filled with fair promenaders, who have been completely housed during the day. The appearance of these bonnetless and hoopless belles was at first amusing to me, but the novelty of the sight soon wore off, and I learned to admire the simplicity of their dress.

One evening I proposed to a friend that we should go and bathe in the bay, but he utterly refused on the ground of the danger from sharks which infest these waters. He informed me that even the pearl divers never made a descent without having some one on guard to keep away these finny monsters, or to give warning of their approach. However to avoid a disappointment we visited a bano or bath-house in the outskirts of the City. We found there a miscellaneous collection of people of all colors, each standing on the ground in a state of nature, and with a calabash shell pouring rain water upon their heads from an earthen jar. There was no manipulation or rubbing of the surface of their bodies, and to use a common expression, the water ran from their greasy hides like "water from a duck's back." I managed to get on a steam so as to be out of the mud, and also out of the reach of lizards and land crabs, which are there very numerous. The latrines is also indulged with a small insect called chigoes and sometimes jiggers. They work their way imperceptibly into the flesh where they deposit their eggs, which then commence growing, the first evidence of their existence being an itching sensation in the part affected. Extreme care must be taken not only in removing them, but in taking on the larvæ or eggs, and all parts of the animal. I found five erected under my toe nails at different times, and the pain they gave me was intense, almost preventing the use of my limbs. Upon opening the flesh a large quantity of black matter was discharged, accompanied by an offensive smell; and the physician informed me that frequently their presence in a limb caused mortification, and that amputation was often the necessary result.

Considerable gold exists on the Isthmus, but as the government affords no protection to the miners from the banditti which infest the country, it is almost impossible to secure it. About $150,000 are now produced annually, although the amounts obtained on its first discovery were enormous, and obtained for the locality the name of Costilla de oro. I was in Panama in 1849 when the huacas or Chiriqui were discovered, which produced so much excitement at the time. These huacas are the graves of extinct tribes of Indians, and contained gold of the finest quality molded into the shapes of birds, alligators, fish, etc. Unfortunately for the grave robbers, the supply soon gave out.

The steamers from California always bring a large amount of treasure, as well as those from Peru; but the latter is usually silver, and is consigned to houses in Europe. I witnessed the unloading of a Southern steamer, which, among other freight had on board six tons of silver. The metal was cast in bars, each weighing about 100 pounds. There was also a dozen kegs of coin, all of which was handled as carelessly as though it was pig iron or nails.

The City is filled with adventurers, many of whom have quite romantic histories. Capt. Jefferson, who came with me on the steamer from Guayaquil was one of that class. He had been despoiled of property in China which had cost him years to accumulate, chained in a dungeon in Peru, from which he escaped by bribery, worked in a chaingang in Lima for meddling in political affairs, was made prisoner in the Sandwich Island for filibustering and was released through the efforts of the American Consul, was severely wounded in Nicaragua while in the service of Gen. Walker, was chased out of California by a Committee of Vigilence for having shot a couple of men, killed a man in a duel in Panama, and then proceeded to Washington to place before the Secretary of Stateathats of the castle of Callao which he had made while confined within its walls, and for which he expected a handsome reward.

I also frequently came in contact with a Mr. Franklin. It was said of him that about two years before, while mate of a whaler, their vessel stranded on one of the Pecjoe Islands, which obliged the crew to take a whale boat and pull to shore. The Island was inhabited by cannibals who spared Franklin's life in consideration of the fact that he could perform several feats of sleight of hand, which they believed to be the result of supernatural power. By courage and tact he gained a commanding position among them, was assigned seven wives, and was living contentedly with his family, when an American trader stopped at the Island, purchased of the natives a quantity of provisions and at the same time induced Franklin to go on board the vessel. They then made him drunk and while he was in that condition they set sail, and when he got sober the Island was not visible. The Captain's excuse was that he needed his services, having lost a couple of men, and would land him at Panama, which he did. Franklin at once brought an action against him not only for the abduction, but for the value of the goods taken from the natives whom he claimed to represent. After the decision of the suit he proposed to return to his Island.

THE AMERICAN HAY KNIFE AND HOOK.—We the undersigned citizens of Columbia County will attend the trial of hay forks on the farm of Mr. Pursel, in Hemlock Township, on Monday, May 7, 1866, between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock, A. M., manufactured by SHAFER, WALLS, SHUNK & Co., of Lewisburg, Pa., and the Rundel's Patent Hay Hook. The American Fork lifted more hay in one draught than the Rundel in three. We are satisfied it will take as much hay into the mow as two good horses can draw. We also saw it cutting hay, and think it cannot be beat as a hay knife, and cheerfully recommend it as the best hay fork and knife we have ever seen.
