"If Mr. Lineals had not refused to sign that bill there would to-day be an act of Congress on the statute books absolutely prohibiting negroes from any participation in the work of reorganization, and of pledging the government in advance to accept of the constitutions that might be formed under the bill, although they made no provisions for the negro beyond the fact of his personal liberty."

I repeat, we have seen a little hundry

States, to idmit or to exclude negroes from suffrage. And, in case the amendment were adopted by three-Sourths of the States, the only effect of admitting or excluding negroes from the ballot, in any State, would be to change its in under of votes in the other House of Congress, and in the Electoral College.

The second assumes that we are still at war; that the Southern States are not States in the Union at all, but conquered provinces, with no Legislatures which in an evil hour the Radicals of the South and any power over the question of suffrage, that Congress, hy the bayonet, will disfranchise the whites and enfranches in the blacks; and thus by military power and negro votes compel the adoption.

True, I admit they did reject the constitution, Because they rejected the congretion of a new Union and a new Constitution, and an engro votes compel the adoption.

And now, sir, what do we behold? A And now, sir, what do we behold? A dominant majority in this Senate and in Congress, under the lead of Northern Radicalism, at the point of the bayonet forcing negres suffrage and negro governments upon ten States of the Union and six millions of people against their wiff. What was the outrage upon Kansas compared to that? We see them practically dissolving the Union by excluding ten States from the Union, thus doing what the rebellion could neverido and what we spent $3,000,000,000 and doing what the rebellion could neverido and what we spent $5,000,000,000 and five hundred thousand fives of our best and bravest to prevent. For long months we have seen them encroaching steadily and persistently upon the just rights of the Executive; and now, to rivet their chains upon us, and to crown the whole of their usurpations, they propose to subjugate the Supreme Court; to overturn justice in her sacred seat in this tribunal of last resort. They would compet the Court whose office it is to to overturn justice in her shered seat in this tribunal of last resort. They would compel the Court whose office it is to hold an even balance between the States on the one hand and the Federal government on the other, and also between the several departments of the government, to place false weights in the balances. They would make the weight of the opinion of three judges in favor of the opinion of Congress more than equal the weights of the opinions of five judges in favor of the rights of other departments, the rights of the States and the liberties of the people.

Sir, we are in the midst of a new rebellion, bloodless as yet, but which threatens to destroy the Constitution, and with it the last hope of civil liberty for the world. But let us not surrender our faith in the people nor our faith in republican institutions. The people everywhere are coming to the rescue. They are rising above party and the clamors and denunciations of partisans. Hundreds and thousands of the carnest Republicans who supported Mr. Lincoln's administration have already severed their relations to this revolutionary party. Hundreds of thousands more are ready to do so and to strike hands with the great mass of the Democratic party to rescue the Constitution from
