THE YOUNG FOLKS.

Giant Golden-Beard.

(Concluded.)

At last his way led him to the side of a great lake of water, over which he must pass. The ferryman soon began to ask, as the others had done, what was his trade, and what he knew. "Everything," said he. "Then," said, "pray tell me why I am forced for ever to ferry over this water, and have never been able to get my freedom; I will reward you handsomely." "Ferry me over," said the young man, "and I will tell you all about it as I come home."

When he had passed the water, he came to the wonderful cave. It looked very black and gloomy; but the wizard king was not at home, and his grandmother sat at the door in her easy chair. "What do you want?" said she. "Three golden hairs from the giant's beard," answered he. "You will run a great risk," said she, "when he comes home; yet I will try what I can do for you." Then she changed him into an ant, and told him to hide himself in the folds of her cloak. "Very well," said he: "but I want also to know why the city fountain is dry; why the tree that bore golden apples is now leafless; and what it is that binds the ferryman to his post." "You seem fond of asking puzzling things," said the old dame; "but lie still, and listen to what the giant says when I pull the golden hairs, and perhaps you may learn what you want." Soon night set in, and the old gentleman came home. As soon as he entered he began to snuff up the air, and cried, "All is not right here: I smell man's flesh." Then he searched all round in vain, and the old dame scolded, and said, "Why should you turn everything topsy-turvy? I have just set all straight." Upon this he laid his head in her lap, and soon fell asleep. As soon as he began to snore, she seized one of the golden hairs of his beard and pulled it out. "Mercy!" cried he, starting up: "what are you about?" "I had a dream that roused me," said she. "and in my trouble I seized hold of your hair. I dreamt that the fountain in the market-place of the city was become dry, and would give no water; what can be the cause?" "Ah! if they could find that out they would be glad," said the giant: "under a stone in the fountain sits a toad; when they kill him, it will flow again."

This said, he fell asleep, and the old lady pulled out another hair. "What would you be at?" cried he in a rage. "Don't be angry," said she, "I did it in my sleep; I dreamt that I was in a great kingdom a long way off, and that there was a beautiful tree there, that used to bear golden apples, but that now has not even a leaf upon it; what is the meaning of that?" "Aha!" said the giant, "they would like very much to know that. At the root of the tree a mouse is gnawing; if they were to kill him, the tree would bear golden apples again: if not, it will soon die. Now do let me sleep in peace; if you wake me again, you shall rue it."

Then he fell once more asleep; and when she heard him snore she pulled out the third golden hair, and the giant jumped up and threatened her sorely; but she soothed him, and said, "It was a very strange dream I had this time: methought I saw a ferryman, who was bound to ply backwards and forwards over a great lake, and could never find out how to set himself free; what is the charm that binds him?" "A silly fool!" said the giant: "if he were to give the rudder into the hand of any passenger that came, he would find himself free, and the other would be forced to take his place. Now pray let me sleep."

In the morning the giant arose and went out; and the old woman gave the young man the three golden hairs, reminded him of the three answers, and sent him on his way.

He soon came to the ferryman, who knew him again, and asked for the answer which he had said he would give him. "Ferry me over first," said he, "and then I will tell you." When the boat reached the other side, he told him to give the rudder to the first passenger that came, and then he might run away as soon as he pleased. The next place that he came to was the city where the barren tree stood: "Kill the mouse," said he, "that is gnawing the tree's root, and you will have golden apples again." They gave him a rich gift for this news, and he journeyed on to the city where the fountain had dried up; and the guard asked him how to make the water flow. So he told them how to cure that mischief, and they thanked him, and gave him the two asses laden with gold.

And now at last this luck's-child reached home, and his wife was very glad to see him, and to hear how well everything had gone with him. Then he gave the three golden hairs to the king, who could no longer deny him, though he was at heart quite as spiteful against his son-in-law as ever. The gold, however, astonished him, and when he saw all the treasure he cried out with joy, "My dear son, where did you find all this gold?" "By the side of a lake," said the youth, "where there is plenty more to be had." "Pray tell me where it lies," said the king, "that I may go and get some too." "As much as you please," replied the other. "You must set out and travel on and on, till you come to the shore of a great lake: there you will see a ferryman; let him carry you across, and when once you are over, you will see gold as plentiful as sand upon the shore."

Away went the greedy king; and when he came to the lake he beckoned to the ferryman, who gladly took him into his boat; and as soon as he was there gave the rudder into his hand and sprang ashore, leaving the old king to ferry away, as a reward for his craftiness and treachery.

"And is his majesty plying there to this day?" You may be sure of that, for nobody will trouble himself to take the rudder out of his hands.

CARDING THE COWS.—One would think that a kind-hearted man, when he sees how grateful this operation is to a cow, would be willing to spend a few moments carding her. It pays as well to clean a cow as a horse. All who have fairly tried it find great benefit from the operation. And not one farmer in a hundred makes it a practice to use the card or curry-comb in the cow stable. We know stupid men who laugh at the idea as a mere notion of some fancy farmer. But in point of fact, no cow can give the best results at the pail unless this matter is attended to, especially in winter.

FARMER'S COLUMN.

IMPORTANCE OF THE COLOR OF CATTLE.—We wish, most positively, to impress upon farmers generally and the younger ones in particular, the importance they should attach to color in choosing animals to breed from. Exceedingly more stress should be laid on this point that at first appears to the mind of a new or superficial breeder—colored stock finding much readier sale than when the predominating color is white. It may be prejudice, yet graziers do not like white stock, and will reject them if possible. They are not considered so hardy as reds, roans and the darker shades; and as store stock especially, if it is intended to treat them roughly, they have many disadvantages. It is a fact that white animals seem more liable to parasites than the deeper-colored stock. How this is accounted for we cannot vouch, still there can be no doubt as to its truth.

Cattle will be found to deteriorate, so to speak, in color—i. e. they, generation after generation, may become lighter. In order to obviate this, it is necessary to keep the color up to the mark, by the introduction of fresh blood of the desired or standard color, and descended from stock of similar color.

The type of animals, as we have before explained, exercises great influence on the offspring; hence the absolute necessity of untainted blood purity—in proportion to the length of their descent; therefore, a pure-bred white bull will be likely to get more white calves than colored ones, although, mayhap, all the cows put to him were red, always supposing the cows not to be of equal purity of blood. If we start with reds as the foundation color, we can easily get the stock lighter; therefore this color will be found the best. The use of red bulls, or such as are bred from dark-haired stock, will in a short time influence very greatly the color-shade of the herd wherein they are used.—Practical Farmer.

WISDOM.—The following terse complication of wisdom was communicated to the New England Farmer.

Too many beans are deficient in winter.

Money invested in needed tools pays a high per cent,

The more comfortable you can keep your animals the more they will thrive.

A good cow is a valuable machine; and the more food she properly digests the greater the profit.

A few roots daily, to all the stock, are as welcome as apples to boys and girls.

Iron shoes on sleds last a life time. They are really cheaper in the end than wooden ones.

All animals are fond of sunshine. Let them bask in it, if possible.

Replace all the bars, when you often pass, by strong gates, and then wonder that you didn't do so before.

A borrowed tool, if broken, should promptly be replaced by a new one. A nice sense of honor in such matters is much to be commended.

It seems strange that housekeepers don't buy pails and tubs with brass hoops and trimmings. They cost a little more at first, but last wonderfully.

Build safe, easy stairs wherever needed in barns, and save breaking your bones climbing dangerous ladders.

Give a quart of meal daily to each of your young animals, and you will soon be praising them to your neighbors.

Where a watering tub is needed abroad, it should be a deep one, and set partly in the ground. It will not freeze then in the coldest weather so as to give much trouble.

HOW GOOD STOCK PAYS.—A correspondent of the Dixie Farmer says: I will give a recent occurrence or two, that has dollars and cents in it. A Kentucky breeder recently offered a live proposition to a neighbor of mine, $35 per head for all the calves on his place weaning to twenty months old—he declined the offer—on the adjoining farms he could have bought calves of the same age at from $2 to $6 per head. He said he would not drive them to Kentucky if they were presented to him; why? The improved breed of calves could be made to gross 1,700lbs, at three years old; the other, if ever, at five or six years; one consuming as much grass, requiring the same care as the other. Comment is unnecessary. I sold last fall at the Fair at Murfreeboro; a one year old filly for $400, greenbacks—she was thoroughbred—cost me no more to raise her to that age than a mongrel—or a mule—the only additional cost being $456 paid for her dam. The filly was the first produce. I refused $240 for her second foal at five months old. I paid $325 for another mare—sold her two year old and one year old fillies for $500 I paid 1,125 for a fine jennet, in foal to a fine jack—sold the colt at two and a half years old for $2,000. All the well bred pigs I can raise, are in demand at $10 each, at from two to three months old. All the improved variety of sheep pay—their lambs selling from $10 to $25 per head, at weaning time. The improved breeds of poultry pay—what is it that don't pay, if the best of its kind and well cared for? What mongrel stock does pay? If any I have to find it out.

Cows should be dried off a month before the time of calving. Keep an eye to their coats, and if they stare, instead of lying close and sleek, or if there be a glassy unnatural appearance about the eye, there is something the matter. If there be costiveness give feeds of bran until it be corrected. Guard very strictly against lice. They are very commonly only the accompaniment of some bodily disorder which should be corrected, but should be promptly destroyed by the use of cabolic soap.

A DROLL EPITAPH.—The wife of a good Deacon B——bid farewell to this vale of tears in the goodly town of D——, in Connecticut, leaving the widower disconsolate indeed. After having laid her in the quiet resting place, he ordered a costly monument to be erected over the loved and lost, and, with the name and age, the following inscription:

"Let her rest in peace."

The sculptor, either a bungler or very careless, found after carving the words "Let her," he had not sufficient room to finish the sentence, so concluded the initials of the other words as to convey the meaning. We can imagine the consternation of the worthy deacon at seeing so irreverent a motto on her tombstone:

"LET HER R. I. P."

CAMPILLION CARPET!

A new, cheap durable, healthy, and B

FLOOR COVERING!

A substitute for oil-cloth at one-third the cost.

This carpet is produced by a peculiar combination of strong, heavy paper, print'ed in ornamental colors, and coated with a tough, elastic, water proof enamel which receives the water, protects the colors and paper endures washing, and renders the carpet bright and beautiful in the extreme. Its advantages are as follows:

Its cost renders it available to all classes; It is exceedingly smooth and glossy, and it accumulates next to no dust; it does not require to be taken up and cleaned like other carpets, and thus saves much labor and trouble; By re-coating with the Campillion Enamel occasionally as the case may require, (which costs but a trifle,) it will last indefinitely, even an age, and always appear new and bright; in its use no reliance whatever is placed upon the paper for wear, but exclusively upon the water-proof coating, the figured paper being used only to secure the colors. Paper has recently been used for a variety of purposes, even for trunks, roofs, flour bags and wearing apparel, but the first attempt, either in Europe or America, to convert it into carpet or floor covering, all concede it to be an entire success!

We have purchased the right for columbia county and can furnish the carpet to merchants at manufacturers prices.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and trombled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

THIS INFALLIBLE REMEDY does not, like the poisonous irritating snuffs and strong caustic solutions with which the people have long been humbugged, simply palliate for a short time, or drive the disease to the Lungs as there is danger of doing in the use of such nostrums, but it produces perfect and permanent cures of the worst cases of chronic catarrh, as thousands can testify.
