COURT PROCLAMATION

BLOOMSBURG, PA. PRIDAY MORNING, AUGUST 13, 1869.

SF THE COLUMBIAN has the Larges So THE COLUMNIAN has ine bacges, to treminition of any paper published in Northern Pennsylvania, and is also a much larger sheet than any of its column pararies; and is therefore the best medium for advertising in this section of the State.

Never, we believe, in the history of politics has there been such a sweeping change in popular sentiment, and such a signal triumph, as that achieved by the Democracy of Tennessee on Thursday of last week.

Less than a year ago Grant received majority of 30,447; now Senter's is in the neighborhood of 50,000 showing a gain of 80,000. This result has been schieved through the divisions of the Republican party. Senter and Stokes were both original rebels, and both were 'reconstructed." Neither were regu larly nominated for Governor, but the Democrats resolved to support Senter because he was in favor of enfranchising the white voters of the State, while Stokes favored the old system of proscription. Under the present arrange ment, says the Lancaster Intelligencer

"Less than half the people of the State were voters. Those who were enfran-chised numbered about 95,000, while not less than 119,000 white men were disfranchised. Of the enfranchised citizens 60,000 were white men and 35,000 izens 60,000 were white men and 35,000 negroes. Of the 60,000 whites about 35,000 were Conservative Union men.—The Radical whites and negroes numbered 60,000, and they had a reliable majority of not less than 25,000."

As a matter of course the present pro scriptive features of the Constitution will be repealed, and we can count on a reliable majority hereafter of 85,000.

Not the least important part of the victory is the fact that the Democrats have a two-thirds majority in the Legis lature, which will enable them to send a Democrat to the U.S. Senate in place of Fowler. We hope and believe it will be Andrew Johnson. To place the impeached by the side of the impeachers rould be "swinging around the circle" to some purpose. Being a man of large public experience, of audoubted ability and courage, he would at once assume a leadership of the Southern men in that body, and exercise an important influence in the legislation of the country.

Lastly, under no circumstances can this be claimed as a Radical victory. Even the Press concedes it to us. The N. Y. Times said, August 2nd."

"Governor Senter's election is certain by smajority which depends entirely upon the fidelity with which the registrars have discharged the duty confided to them. Nominated originally by a few Republicans, nearly all of whom abandoned him the moment he gave proof of the betrayal planned and negotiated by his friends, he is to-day the candidate of the Democracy, and his election will be secured through their votes. To claim that he is a Re publican candidate is the sheerest nonsense. His votes. To clain that he is a Re publican candidate is the sheerest nonsense. His Republican votes can easily be counted on thumbs and fingers. Every day the dividing line becomes plainer and plainer. Having secured his election through Democratic votes, his Administration will necessarily be Democratic.

Cresswell and Boutwell, the two prominent members of Grant's Cabinet, and the two wielding the most patronage, formally declared in favor of Stokes, and stated that they represented the views of Grant.

And now, Democrats of Pennsylvania, having seen what your brethren in Virginia, Alabama, Kentucky, Tennessee and Montana have done, arouse your-selves and prepare for action. It is no time to talk about private disappointments and petty grievances. The great popular heart is beating in favor of Packer and Pershing. Let us bury old grievances in the grave of the past, and by one strong, united effort hurl from power the men who have misgoverned Pennsylvania, and made her name a re-

Resides the sweeping triumphs in Kentucky and Tennessee the Democrats have carried two out of the six members of Congress in Alabama. Before the entire delegation was Radical. In Montana Hon, J. M. Cavananch

His majority two years ago was 1,100. We confidently exect to carry Mississ ippi and Texas, even if Grant throws the whole weight of his administration against us.

NOTWITHSTANDING the sneers of the Republican, the Democratic party will support the ticket nominated last week, and will give it the usual majority. There is always more or less rivalry previous to a convention, and frequent ly much bitterness; but no principle is better settled than the one that "the majority must rule." The charge of 'ring" is puerile. The candidates nominated were the choice of a convention in which every township was represented, and where each had an equal voice. The defeated candidates themselves do not charge either pribery, or the use of undue influence, and for the Republican to assume to be their spokesman is a transparent trick often resorted to by dishonest men to create a division in our party. We want neither sympathy nor counsel from such a source. The Democratic party of Columbia county is as competent now to manage its own assistance would not call upon a leader who has proven himself unfit to hold his own party together.

Previous to the nominations the Co-LUMBIAN held an even balance between the candidates; now we are for the ticket. Any person who advocates an Independent one is not a true Democrat, but desires to play into the hands of our enemies. "In unity there is strength;" by union our party has at-tained its present power in this county, which can only be lost by turning a willing ear to the plaints of disappoint-

Ar Charleston, Virginia, the ocfles are thus bestowed. Joseph A. Chapline Judge of the Circuit Court; Wm. A. Chapline, Clerk of the Circuit Court ; I. Thomas Chapline, Deputy Sheriff; Isaac Chapline, Sr., Assessor; Little Josie apline Clerk in Post-office. A cross the Washburne family would make a team hard to beat in the office getting and holding line.

William Henry Bradley, the mouth piece of the Stockholders of the Republi-can, is fully entitled to claim in a small way what we understand has been the great ambition of his life-notoriety. Whether he is in any way related to the still more notorious Alpeoria we are not informed, but his appearance would not much belie the suspicion. He came to this town a dull, uncomely lad, and after getting here and elsewhere what little knowledge his capacity was equal to, he attempted to master the profound science and practice of medicine. He ecame a loyalist and inflicted his blundering and bungling upon the poor soldiers of our army, doing business there and elsewhere, upon the motto of the highwayman, that "dead men tell no Like Othello, when the war ceased.

he found his occupation gone, and he retired to the wilds of Luzerne county, Pennsylvania, where several little bills still attest the amount of his credit, and various autographs of the "fisieker" are shown by the inhabitants. Managing to get across the fine, he found himself in Bloomsburg, where with a great flourish of trumpets he gave himself to the public, as "Late Assistant Medical Director of the Unite! States 'Army :" and to prove his expertness in his profession he worked for an hour or two to extract a bullet from the hand of one of our citizens; and after giving it up in of what took place and was said in the despair, it was taken out in about a afternoon, but as far as it goes it has its minute, by a gentleman who for years has been an ornament to his profession. That was about his only patient, and it played him out. He wilted from thenceforth, and the late Army Surgeon was the joke and butt of all the boys in town.

If our learning is not at fault, it was celebrated Greek writer, who relates, that upon occasion, the Gods granted to a poor suffering mortal an advantage in choosing a physician, over that granted to mankind in general; by enabling him to see the ghosts of those who had een despatched by the then medical directors. Going from one disciple of Esculapius to anther, the patient was shocked to find innumerable ghosts crowding the entrance and blocki ng up the very street; but continuing his search, he came at last to one, where but a single, solitary ghost stood sentiiel at the doorway. The poor sufferer nighty elated entered the house, stated his case, received the prescription and paid the fee; but before taking his leave, congratulated the Doctor upon the fact, hat whereas other physicians had crowds of ghosts besieging their doors, ie had but one. Alas! alas! replied the poor fellow—"He was the only patient I ever had."

He then tried to sell his medical practice, but not having a single ghost, he had nothing to dispose of, and found no purchaser. About that time the increasing debility and impending disso lution of the Radical party in Columbia county, which had been under treatment on the Thompsonian system for some years, became so very hominent, that a change in the medication was absolutely demanded. The change was made, and If William Henry Bradley continues much longer his present course, he will have at least one ghost logging his steps, and gazing with vacant, ghostly eye upon his opening door.

The Way to Increase Our Strength. That sound and spirited the Erie Observer, says:

We are not disposed to underestimate the value of public speaking in a politi-cal canvass yet we think it unsafe and unwise to rely exclusively, or even mainly, upon it. The most effective mainly, upon it. The most effective worker in a campaign is a good newspaper. This is especially true of the present year, when the strongest arguments that can possibly be made in favor of the Democracy is a faithful record of current history. We doubt if any thinking man who is not selfishly interested in the success of the Rupublican party, can read a fair statement of events as they transpire, from day to from week to week, and refuse day, or from week to week, and refuse to give in his adhesion to the principles and policy of the Democratic party. It therefore becomes the duty, as it should be the picasure, of every good Demo crat to assist in the circulation of a good Democratic newspaper and to see to it that his friends and neighbors, of what-ever political faith, are supplied with one. This is not only the best, but the cheapest way to secure success. Twenty dollars extended in this way will do more service to the cause than two hundred spent on public meetings.

Let all of our party friends see to it that aper is placed in the hands of son of their acquaintance who every person will read it.

We can endorse every word of the above. Conversions are not made on he eve of an election, although the ablest speakers may be employed. It is by continued appeals to the reason that nen are convinced.

We offer the COLUMBIAN for the campaign for the cheap sum of Twentyfive cents. This places it within the reach of every one, and enables such of our readers as desire to aid in the spread of our principles to do so at a small expense. See to it that not only every Democrat, but that every Republican voter is supplied with a copy until the close of the campaign.

Miscellaneous Dispatches.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 11.—The mer bers of the Democratic State Central Committee met here to-day to devise means to fill the vacancy caused by the declination of Gen. Rosecrans as candidate for Governor of Ohio, and have unanimously nominated George H. Pendleton, who has accepted.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 11 .- The nnual Democratic convention of Luzerne assembled in the Court House yesterday and placed the following ticket in nomination: Assembly, D. L. O'Neill S. W. Keene, and N. S. Westler: county Treasurer, James Campbell; Recorder, Thomas Hutchins; Register, Chas. C. Plotz; Commissioner, S. W. Balley; Auditor, A. M. Reushaw; Coroner, Dr.

J. W. O'Malley. NASHVILLE, August 11. Senter's majority is 62,000, with 19 counties to hear from. The State Senate, composed of 25 members, stand 21 conservatives to 4 conservative republicans. The House of Representatives, composed of 84 members, stands 67 conservatives, 9 tal would openly condemn their perseradicals and 6 conservative republicans, with two districts to hear from.

"A DEAD PARTY."-The Democratic. It polled in —which makes Governor Seymour's vote nearly a million more than President Buchanan's, and 483,596 more than "Old Abe's."

THE TRIALS.

THE WITNESS NATHAN J. HESS.

THE WITNESS NATHAN J. HESS. Of all the witnesses examined for the Prosecution whose testimony was relevant and important, this one perhaps s least liable to criticism or censure. I is true that we can detect a few inaccurate statements made by him, and we are at liberty to suppose that his intelli-gence was not of a high order, but he does not seem to have been actuated by any malicious or base motive or to have been misled by unworthy passions. He was examined as a witness in all the trials of which we have records before us—those of Rantz, Colley and M'Heary -and mainly in regard to the Rantz meeting of Aug. 14th 1861. When we come to treat of that meeting as a distinct subject of investigation, the testimony of Hess will become most valuable and will be freely used. It will exhibit (indirectly at least) the cause of that meeting as alleged in defence upon the trials, and also the circumstances under which it assembled. Unfortunately the witness was not present at the meeting in the afternoon. He says, he went to it "about 10 o'clock and staid until 12. The meeting had adjourned to go to dinner when I left, I did not therefore, the advantage of his testimony as a check upon other statements value and will be made available for our purpose of ascertaining and exposing the whole truth in regard to the

In the Colley trial, Hess testified to a remark by the Defendant about a future fair election and spilling of blood if it should not be had, almost identical in terms with that testified to by Richard Stiles upon which we have already commented:

Rantz meeting.

In the Rantz trial Hess was examined as to his knowledge of a secret meeting at the house of Peter Case, but nothing important was elicited. He was not, therefore, examined upon that point in the susequent cases. We only refer to his testimony concerning that meeting for the purpose of saying that the witness was in error regarding its date. He fixed it, "about a year ago," which would be in October 1868, whereas it was in fact held many months before that date as was fully shown by other testimony. Hess says there were no speeches made at the Case meeting; that he was not initiated as a member of the Club or association, and that he did not know its object. He had heard the meetings called "knights of the Golden Circle," (but does not say when or by whom;) "don't know if that was the name or not."

Hess had served in the war but re turned home 5th August 1864. Afterwards and at the time of the trials he was, as he says, in no regular employment. His invited presence at th meetings above mentioned is in itself, some evidence that they were innocent in character. This witness died last spring of lung disease. It is believed e was induced to become a government witness in order to save his father from a threatened arrest. Every effort and in fluence possible were used in the days of the Invasion to make up evidence against our citizens. It was sought with avidity and used without scruple. It was invited from all quarters and som times extorted or subsidized. Fear, in terest, family affection and party pass ion were each appealed to for the false perverted or irrelevant testimony which should consign innocent men to dungeons and gloss over and conceal the iniquity of their arrest and punishment. That Nathan J. Hess did not swear more strongly and unfairly under the pressure of power, was due to his own scruples of honor or of conscience and not at all to any sense of justice or of moral obligation in those who employ-

THE WITNESS SILAS KARNS ... Anoth er government witness appears upon the scene under circumstances of a very peculiar character and full of instruc tion. He came into view in the M' Henry case for the first time, and fresh from the manipulation of the military authorities to whose jurisdiction he was amenable. For he was a non-reporting drafted man who had made terms with power and was transformed from a criminal to a witness, from being an ob ject of vengeance to occupy a position of tolerance and favor. The witness was Silas Karns (who is supposed to have been concerned in the shooting affray in which Lieut. Robison was wounded) and he was produced under instructions and conditions well calculated to spur his zeal in behalf of the prosecution. A world of meaning is contained in the following language obtained from his cross-examination in the M'Henry trial: "I am drafted in first three year's draft-in fall of 1863. Capt. Silver said if I came here and testified I should be released-and tell all I knew about this case, and Rutan's case, and the shooting of Robison." Of course Capt. Silver acted under in structions and is not primarily responsible for this arrangement and for the manipulation of the witness, who, being within the grasp of power, was compelled to make the best terms he could. The military authorities at Harrisburg and the Radical politicians who insti gated them, are the parties to be held responsible for all that was done in and about the trials including the preparation of testimony. And what did they do in the case before us? Discharged Karns from all responsibility and took him into favor upon the express con dition that he would tell them about the shooting affair and swear against Daniel M'Henry and Mr. Rutan. The latter objects were of course the main ones. The Robison homicide was quite a secondary matter-it involved only the question of a life lost by violence but the conviction of M'Henry and Rutan was an important and darling object and to be accomplished by the use of all possible means. It was a political necessity" that they should b victed and punished, for they had been contumacious to power and their acquitcutors before the people.

Observe the temptation held out to the witness—exemption from army service; exemption from all punishment for desertion (or not reporting for a whole year;) immunity, for all possible participation in the homicide affray, and finally employment and compensation as a witness. The road in one direction was made smooth and inviting, while an opposite course pointed to prison an army for months at an expense of hundreds of thousands of dollars, very little was done by it to accomplish the "On Sunday afternoon, June 28, 1863, little was done by it to accomplish the first of these objects and (so far as the a spontaneous, enthusiastic and large public know) nothing to accomplish the gathering of the people of Mauch Chunk last. FOR THE COLUMBIAN. Commencement at Lewisburg.

The University at Lewisburg has jus held its annual Commencement. It was largely attended. On Sabbath afternoon July 25th Rev. L. D. B. Pepper D.D. of Upland preached the sermon before the Society for Moral and Religious Inquiry. In the evening Rev. B.F. Woodburn of Westmoreland preached the sermon before the Pa. Bap, Education

The Alumni Association met on Tues day evening C. B. Ripley Esq., of New York class of 1864 delivered the oration on "The relation of the Alumni to their Alma Mater."

A poem on "Culture" was read by Rev. T. E. Clapp of Hollidaysburg class of 1861. A tablet placed in Commencement Hall in memory of the Alumni who fell in the late war was dedicated the same evening. Major Thomas Chamberlin of Lewisburg class of 1858, read the dedicatory poem. On the tablet were the following inscriptions.

Thomas Rishel Orwig, A. B. Class of 1862, 4th Sergt, Co. E. 142 P. V. died in Hospital Nov. 30th 1862, aged 22 years. Andrew Gregg Tucker A. B. Class 1862, 1st Lieut, Co.E. 142 P.V. wounded at Gettysburg July 1st died July 5th 1863, aged 19 years. Milton Opp A. M. Class 1858, Lieut.

having become too small to accommodate the increasing number of students, a new wing has just been erected. Wednesday evening was the anniversary of the Literary Societies. Theodore Tilton Esq., Editor of the N. Y. Independant delivered the oration on "The Art of using the mind" It was humorous, entertaining and instructive. Those present will not soon forget it. Rev. D. H. Miller, D. D. of Elizabeth N. J. read a poem on "Love" which was also a masterly pro inction. Thursday, July 29th was the great lay of the week.

The procession composed of the Facalty, Trustees, Curators, students, Alumni and many others preceded by the Selinsgrove Brass Band left the Court House at 9 o'clock for Commence D., Rev. George M. Spratt of Lewisburg, and Rev. Geo. M. Anderson of West Haverford, Pa. The Masters Oration on "Literary Perpetulties" was delivered by Rev. John L. Hutsan of Stockton, N. J. class of 1866. The Commencement dinner prepared by the ladies of the Lewisburg Baptist Church was then partaken of by a large number of the friends of the Institution. Jovial speeches were made which added very much to the enjoyin the evening.

The University is already exerting very great influence. May it long continue not only to be a blessing to Central Pennsylvania but the whole of the old Keystone State, W. W. C. BEACH HAVEN, Aug. 5, 1869.

GO AND THY THEM .- Those delightfully casy, handsome suits of clothes which Lowenberg is now getting up. No one in this section of the State can approach him in this kind of business. His prices are as moderate as the market will allow whilst the good qualities of his workmanship-beauty, durability and comfort-will certainly ensure satisfaction to the purchaser.

THE Radical politicians, seeing the langerous position in which they have been placed, are doing all in their power to heal their party divisions. Geary long ago despaired of the active support of the Curtin wing of the party, but Cameron before giving him full aid and comfort demands a few more victims, as the annexed letter will show:

CONTINENTAL HOTEL, July 30, 1869. Hon. Benjamin H. Brewster: After consultation with our political associates, who are anxious for the elec-tion of our mutual friend, I am satisfied that your resignation as Attorney Gen-eral will go a long way to heal existing dissensions. dissensions. I write than manky by you because I know you desire to secure that result. The conclusion has not been arrived at hastily, but has been authorized by the Governor himself.
Yours truly,
JOHN COYODE,
Chairman State Central Committee. Now there is no allegation that Brewser is unfit for the position, or that the public service would be benefited by his removal. It is a maneuver of Cameron to get rid of an enemy. But rewster has resolved to "stick" and no impeach ment lash or tenure of office bill can compel his removal. Of course he will not love Geary much after this childish attempt to get rid of him.

New Columbus Correspondence. MR. EDITOR.

Our usually quiet town, (excuse me Borough) promises for the ensuing three weeks to be in a ferment of excitement. On Thursday the 12th inst., a Camp-Meeting commences in "Bender's Sugar Camp," on Fishingereek, about four and a half miles from our Borough, and on Wednesday the 25th inst., the Pennsylvania Annual Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church convenes in New Columbus. On the same day the M. E. Camp Meeting in Huntington commences. We expect to see a great many strangers temporarily sojourning among us. Let them come, for our worthy townsman Hon. John Koons has a large and commodious Hotel and will entertain all who favor him with their patronage in first-rate style. Why is it that the editor of the Republican in mentioning the different places of entertainment for visitors to the Camp Meeting, omitted the New Columbus Hotel? He certainly must have forgot-

A BOY LIFTED BY A KITE .- A YOUNG lad at Lake Station, Mississippi, had a very large and beautiful kite presented to him, about six feet by four in size, which he attempted to raise on the 2nd instant, just as the wind was increasing and a storm was threatening. The wind drew the kite so heavily as to drag the boy along also. To prevent losing the favorite, he wound the cord around his body. At last the gust bore kite and boy along in the rapid air current. The boy seemed to be about 100 feet above ment of the occassion. The Levee of the earth, and the kite five times that President Loomis was largely attended distance. At last the young kite-fiyer eaught in the top of a tree, and was suspended 75 feet above the ground. A flood of rain came on, slacking the line, abating the wind, and allowing the little sufferer to be rescued. He was found to be unconscious, and so bruised and marred as to be scarcely recognized, but was restored the same evening, and is now doing well.
