AGRICULTURAL & DOMESTIC.

An Overworked Parmer's Wife. There comes from Columbia county, Oregon, he following, which seems to be so truthent a cities forth of the condition of many a farmer's etfectual we give it place, not only in the trope the may call out some help or the writer, but allowed to tell it to me, would wind and consisting of three parts, viz. the Anterior, who used to tell it to me, would wind and consisting of three parts, viz. the Anterior, and the Exterior, the Interior, and the Exterior, the Interior, and the Exterior.

"There is an article in the April No. of your paper by Mrs. H. M. K., Columbia county, Pa., in which she tells how the house and dairy-work should be done, and I must say her plan is a very good one; but will she or any one else, tell me how to have things go on smoothly; keep one's self, children, dairy, in good order where there are not two women to do the work, and where hired he expect large wages and little work ?- Where the churning is not done by machinery and there are no children large enough to be of any service, but where all the house and dairy-work, skimming milk, churning and working butter, washing milkpans, house-cleaning, washing, ironing, dish-washing, making, mending, baking, etc., (to say nothing of three little ones and three men with an occasional hired man to wait upon), must be done by one pair of weary hands, and one weary heart must bear all the complaints when it is not all done? I say if any one can tell me how all this can be done by one woman, and she in very poor health, I shall be glad to hear from him or her. But if it cannot be done (and I am inclined to think it cannot, for I have tried for the last three years), then please tell what part to leave undone, for I cannot decide. If I neglect myself, I am liable to be considered slovenly; if I neglect my children, I am thought an unfeeling moth er and that the children are taught slovenly habits; if I neglect the buttons on the men folks' clothes, they are sure to break one of the commandments; if I neglect the washing or froning, there is a general hubbub when clean clothes are wanted; if I neglect the house-work I am called a poor housekeeper; if I neglect the dairy work I cannot get the extra price for my butter that I am accustomed to fand I tell you, it is very flattering to receive five cents above the common market price for your butter); or, if I have visitors, which shall I neglectmy work or my company? If tired nature gives way (as is the case pretty often of late), and I am obliged to give up for a time, how am I ever to overtake my work again? Now if any one will tell me all these things, I shall be very thankful."

Food for the Fat.

Hall's Journal of Health says not long ago a geatleman of threescore, who had treely been sick in his life, thought he was too fleshy, and began to Bautamize. He succeeded famously, and boasted to his friends that he had got rid of ten pounds in a few weeks. A little later he was attacked with a painful and dangerous malady, from which he has been suffering for more than a

If a man can sleep soundly, has good appetite, with no unpleasant reminders after meals, the bodily habits being regular every day, he had better let himself alone, whether he is as big as a hogshead or as thin and dry as a Several cases of Bright's disease have been reported by medical men of reputation as a direct result of practicing Bantam's plan for getting lean. The very best and safest way to get rid of fat is to work it off. This may be aided by eating food which contains a large amount of nitrogen and a small amount of carbon. Nitrogenous food is that which gives strength power to work, as lean meats. Carbonaceous foods are those which make fat, such as cheese, potatoes, rice, corn, beans, peas, tapio-ca, arrow root, corn starch, milk, sugar, syrup, and all olly and fat food. Raw fruits and berries largely eaten are great aids to reducing weight. But after all the great reliance should be on exercise and work in the open air. Barelay, the great English pedestrian, who performed greater feats than Weston, lost ten pounds in two or three days' walking, and was never the worse for it.

Our Receipt for Curing Meat. To one gallon of water, Take 14 lbs. of salt. 1 llb. of sugar 1 oz. of saltpeter. 2 oz, of potash.

In this ratio the pickle to be increased to any quantity desired. Let these be boiled together until all the dirt from the sugar rises to the top and is skim med off. Then throw it into a tub to cool, and when cold, pour it over your bee! or pork, to remain the usual time. say four or five weeks. The meat must be well covered with pickle, and should not be put down for at least two days after killing, during which time it should be slightly sprinkled with powdered saltpeter, which removes all the surface blood, &c., leaving the meat fresh and clean. Some omit boiling the pickle, and find it to answer well; though the operation of boiling purifles the pickle by throwing off the dirt a ways to be found in salt and sugar.

If this receipt is properly tried it will never be abandoned. There is none that surpass it, if so good .- Germantown Telegraph.

We have often tested this receipt nd found it superior to all others.—En. COLUMBIAN.]

PLANT EVERGREENS .- It is not too late in the season to set out a few ever-greens, if they can be conveniently procured. The great demand of the last year or two has nearly exhausted the stock in the nurseries, and good trees are now rather hard to find. Twesty dollars expended in ornamental trees, combined with a moderate amount of taste in their arrangement, will add hundreds of dollars to the value of a farm or a village residence. Those who

The Hemlock is one of the prettiest evergreens that grows, and is exceedingly patient of being pruned, or cut to particular shape. Many of our mountain pines are fully s handsome as the foreign varieties to be obtained at Nurseries.

THE YOUNG FOLKS.

Tue Hare and the Hedgehog.

This tale, my young readers, will seem to you to be quite false; but still it must be true, for my Grandfather, else it would never have been told to me." The tale runs thus:-

It was a fine summer's morning, just before harvest-time; the buck wheat was in flower, and the sun was shining brightly in the heaven above; a breeze was blowing over the fields, where the larks were singing; and along the paths the people were going to church dressed in their best. Every creature seemed contented, even the Hedgehog, who stood before his door singing as he best could a joyful song in praise of the fine norning. In-doors, meanwhile, his Wife was washing and drying the kitchen, before going into the fields for ing on. She was such a long while, owever, about her work, that Mr. Hedgehog would wait no longer, and trotted off by himself. He had not affect the bodily health and mental powers, a walked any very long distance before he came to a small thicket, near a field of cabbages, and there he espied a Hare, who he guessed had come on a similar errand to himself; namely, to devour a few fine heads. As soon as Mr. Hedgehog saw the Hare, he wished him a good morning; but the latter, who was turned a very fierce and haughty look upon the Hedgehog, and made no reply very majestic tone, how he came to be walking abroad at such an early hour. gravel ensues. "I am taking a walk," replied the Hedgehog. "A walk!" repeated the Hare, in an ironical tone, "methinks you might employ your legs about omething better!" This answer vexed the Hedgehog anything better than to be quizzed about his legs, because they were nat-urally short, and from no fault of his own. However, he said to the Hare, 'Well, you need not be so proud; pray what can you do with those legs of yours?" "That is my affair," replied the Hare. "I expect, if you would venture a trial, that I should beat you in a race," said the Hedgehog.

"You are laughlug! you, with your short legs!" said the Hare, contempsuch a particular wish, I have no objecion to try. What shall the wager be?" brandy," replied the Hedgehog.

"Done!" said the Hare, "and it may s well come off at once."

"No! not in such great haste if you and freshen up a bit. Within half-anour I will return to this place." Thereupon the Hedgehog hurrled off, leaving the hare very merry. On his PHILADELPHIA, way home, the former thought to himself, "Mr. Hare is very haughty and high-minded, but withal he is very stupid; and although he thinks to beat new affections, during which time I have used nog reached home, he told his Wife to experiencing but little relief. dress herself at once to go into the field with him. "What is the matter?" asked his Hedgehog stationed himself at one end of the hedge, and his Wife at the other en1; and as soon as they had taken their places the Hare arrived. "Are you ready to start ?" asked the Hare. 'Yes," answered the Hedgehog, and each took his place. "Off once, off twice, three times and off!" cried the Hare, and ran up the field like a whirlwind while the Hedgehog only took three steps and then returned to his place,

The Hare soon arrived at his goal, as he ran all the way at top-speed: but before he could reach it, the Hedgehog's Wife on the other side called out, "I am here already!" The Hare was thunderstruck to hear this said, for he thought it was really his opponent, since there was no difference in the appearance of the Hedgehog and his Wife. "This will not do!" thought the Hare to himself; but presently he called out, "Once, twice, and off again;" and away he went as fast as possible, leaving the Hedgehog quietly sitting in her place. "I am here before you," cried Mr .-Hedgehog, as soon as the Hare approach-"What! again?" exclaimed the Hare in a rage; and added, "Will you dare another trial?" "Oh! as many as you like; do not be afraid on my ac count," sald Mr. Hedgehog, courteous-

So the Hare then ran backwards and forwards three and-seventy times; but each time the Hedgehogs had the advantage of him, for either Mr. or Mrs shouted before he could reacn the goal, "Here I am already!"

The four-and-seventieth time, the Hare was unable to run any more. In the middle of the course he stopped and dropped down quite exhausted, and there he lay motionless for some time. farm or a village residence. Those who have tried it will tell you that this is their experience.—Exchange.

How to cure consumption. THE PHILOSOPHY OF DR. SCHENCK'S GREAT MEDICINES.—Will people never learn to know that a diseased liver and stomach necessarily disease the entire system? The plainest Principles of common sense teach this, and yet there are hundreds who ridicule the idea, and continue in the course which almost linevilably brings them prematurely to the grave. Living as the majority of people do, at complete variance, with the laws of nature, it must be apparent to all that, sooner or later, nature will revenge herself. Hence we find that persons who indulge to excess in the use of very rich or indigent to excess in the use of very rich or indigent of the stomach becomes disordered and refuses to act; the liver fails to perform its functions, dyspepsia and its attendant evils follow, and still the suffering individuals persist in clinging to the thoromabily explodes ideas of the past. Dr. SCHENCK'S medicines are recommended to all such. They bring sure and certain relief wherever they are used as directed, and all that is necessary to establish their reputation with every alling man or woman in the land is a fair and impartial trial of them. Let those who are skeptical on this point, and who have permitted interested persons to prejudice them against these now colverated remedies for Consumption, diseard their prejudices, and be governed by the principles of reason and common souse. If the system is disordered and interested persons to see the second of the stomach and tostimulate the flyor to healthy action, as schenck's Mandrake Pills.—The daily increasing demand for these pills is the best evi-dence of their value. Thousands upon thousands of boxes are sold daily. Why? Simply because they act promptly and efficiently. Invalids who may not find it convenent to call on Doctor SCHENCK in person are informed that full and complete directions for use accompany each neckage of the omplete directions for use accompany each actage of the MANDRAKE PILLS, PULMONIC SYRUI AND SEAWEED TONIC.—These medicines will MANDHAKE PILLS, PULMONIC SYRUP AND SEAWEED TONIC.—These medicines will cure consumption unless the lungs are so far gone that the patient is entirely beyond the rese h of medical relief.

It may be asked by those who are not familiar with the virtues of these great remedies, "How do let. SCHENCK'S medicines effect their wonderful cures of consumption?"

The answer is a simple one, They begin their work of restoration by bringing the stomach liver and bowels into an active healthy condition, It is food that cures this formidable disease, SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS act on the liver and stomach, promising secretion, and removing the bile and slime which have result.

ease. SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS act on the liver and stomach, prom-ining secretion, and removing the bile and slime which have resulted from the inactive or torpid condition of these organs, and of the system generally. This singgish state of the body, and the consequent accumulation of the unhealthy substances named prevent the proper digestion of food, and, as a natural consequence, creates disease, which results in prostation and finally in death.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP and SEAWEED TONIC, when taken regularly, mingle with the food, and the digestive organs, make good rich blood, and as a natural consequence, give flesh and strength to the patient. Let the facility say what I may but is the only true size to day alive and well who a low years since were regarded as hopeless cases, but who were induced to try Dr. SCHENCK'S remedies, and were restored to permanent health by their use. One of the first steps the physician should take with a consumptive patient is to invigorate the system. Now how is this to be do set "vertain in the pigning medicines at that exhausts and enervate—medicines that impair instead of improve the functions of the digestive eigans. Loctor SCHENCK's medicines cieans the stomach and how-its of all substances which are calculated to irritate or weaken them. They create an appoint the promote healthful digestion—make good blood, and as a consequence, they invigorate said strength-in the entire system and more expectally those parts which are diseased. If the cannot be done, then the case must be regarded as a hopeless one.

pecially those parts which are diseased. If the cannot be done, then the case must be regarded as a hipeless one.

If the physician finds it impossible to make a farmer Firm in Noar, if the diseased person concerns the property digest it, it is impossible to make a grain in flesh and strength; and it is equally impossible to bring a patient to this condition so long as the liver is burdened with diseased blies and the stomach laden with unhealthy stime.

Almost the first request made to the physician by a consumptive patient is that he will prescribe medicines that will remove or allay the cough, night sweats and chills, which are the sure attendants on consumption. But this should not be done, as the cough is only an effort of nature to relieve itself, and the night sweats and chills are caused by the diseased lungs. The remedies ordinarily prescribed do more harm than good. They impair the functions of the stoment, impech healthy digestion, and aggravate rather than care the disease.

There is, after all, nothing like facts with which to substantiate a position, and it is upon facts that Dr. SCH-ENCK relies. Nearly all who have taken his medicine in accordance with his directions have not only been cured of consumption, but from the fact that these medicines are with wonderful power upon the digestive organs patients thus cared apsending gain firsh. Cleansing the system of all impurities, they lay the foundation for a soild, substantial structure. Restoring these organs to health, they create an appelia. The food is properly assaulatest, the quality of the property assaulatest, the quality of the system all disease must be balleshed.

Full directions accompany each of the medicines, so that it is not absolutely accessory that Books.

A New BOOK of the greatest interest are importance. Written from a high moral and physical and medical professor, it shows how Satan is working our his subtle and dangerous designs through our most sacred domestic and social relations. Pure-minded, but outspoken and aggressive, the author handles the delicate subjects treated of without gloves, but in such a manner as not to minister to a prurient curiesity. The Physical Regeneration of the Race, is a subject justly enlisting the interest and sympathy of all true philanthropists, and this book, it is believed, will contribute to that end just in proportion as it has readers.
