Although Fairs," but proceeded to hold your the insurance company acted fairly Fair in this place, imposes upon me the with him in settling the amount of in-surance without improper delay, his subject. I am credibly informed that loss by the fire is heavy, and the present you not only did not exert your influence to prevent the holding of thicircumstances therefore afford a fitting opportunity for those who appreciate Fair, but, on the contrary, it was probis uniform generosity to attest their jected and gotten up by you, and con-regard by friendly tokens in the way ducted under your supervision. It is of patronage. It is highly proper to right, therefore that you should be held say that this suggestion is ours and not responsible for the whole proceeding. Mr. LOWENBERG'S. I have alleged that "Church Fairs,

We believe that none of the other sufferers by the fire have yet obtained places for business. The burnt district, it is stated, will not be built up by two of the present owners, but the third would probably join a party to build up the entire burnt block with a structure that would be a credit to Bloomsburg. It is an admirable situation for store rooms-and what is greatly needed in Bloomsburg, a large public hall, or opera room. We trust it may attract the attention of some of our capitalists. P. S. We learn that Mr. LOWENneng has purchased the corner lot from Mr. DREHER, for $3,500, whereon he will immediately erect a three story building, to be occupied as a store room and dwelling.

THE hall storm of Sunday had the good effect of cooling the atmosphere and ridding us of the hot -ultry weather for a brief time at least. Hail fell here of the size of hulled walnuts but not in great number. Some windows were broken but otherwise little damage was done. We have not heard of serious damage occurring in the county valueless, are placed in a bag, and perand presume there was none. The Muncy Luminary relates that at that place much damage was done to vegetation generally, one man losing not less than 50 bushels of grapes. Much injury was are strictly defined by the words-" A scheme for the distribution of prizes by also done to corn, oats, &c. in that re-managers of a Church Fair to take up two hadles, without their consent, and proceed to vote for the one or the other to see which shall have an arm chair, a plum cake, or an album. Perhaps the one or the other of these hadles may not be willing to accept of an article which has been gambled for in this way; or to have her name used in such an unenviable connection. If it is so used, without her consent, she will have just grounds to be indignant at such insuffer able rudeness. Besides, it is not honest to use the names of either persons or so cieties in this manner without first obtaining their consent. To so use their names, is virtually saying that they will accept of such articles if voted to them. In case they will not, and money uside false pretences—a crime of a high grade.
