Happiness.

BY TILLIE LAUBACH.

HAPPINESS—earth's joys are fleeting,
Poisonous are her fairest flowers,
All her smiles are chased by sadness,
Fraught with clouds her sunniest hours;
Transient all her wealth and splendor,
Soon her palaces decay,
And her hopes, ah! airy easel s,
At her feet, in ruins lay.

HAPPINESS—nought but thy shadow
Shines on this terrestial sphere,
But thou art radient in the heavens,
Unalloyed by pain, or fear;
Aye, thou'rt soaring high in glory,
Written on each angel face;
Glorious Impress of Jehovah,
Essence of the Saviour's grace.

HAPPINESS—there't where the harps to
Join in one harmonious tone,
Where the living, crystal waters
Bubble from Jehovah's throne;
Where the blood washed throng are singing
Soft and low their cadence sweet;
And in robes of spotless glory,
Hover 'round the Saviour's feet.

HAPPINESS—I know I'll find thee,
When my saviour bids me come,
Though I've earthly ties to bind me,
Yet I'm longing for my home.
Longing for that bliss immortal,
Where the wearied are at rest,
And like beloved John reclining,
Happy on the Saviour's breast.

Milking-Time.

BY GEORGE COOPER.

When shadows lengthen on the plain
And leaves are scarlet in the sun;
When cows are lowing in the lane,
And coming homeward one by one;
When maids are tangled in the trees
That overhang the river's bank;
And farmers chat and take their ease,
And shining pails go "clink and clank;"
That's milking-time.

When pigs and Fido linger round,
And run beside the dairy-maids;
When circling swallows skim the ground,
And on the eaves make sudden raids;
When tiny girls a ditty sing,
And squirrels hide in hearty home;
And crows in jets go "tipping and ping"
And pails are heaped with creamy foam;
That's milking-time.

When little ones are tired with play,
And in the corners blink and nod;
When hayfields are loud and gay,
And wetted grows the chilly sod;
When stars are few and faintly glow,
And waking dreflies gather dust,
Like drifted flakes of golden snow—
It's bey for home; the hour is past
For milking-time!

BY MARK TWAIN.

If the Rev. Mr. Smith, or the Rev. Mr. Jones, or the Rev. Mr. Brown, were about to build a new church edifice, it would be projected on the same old pattern, and be like pretty much all the other churches in the country, and so I would naturally mention it as a new Presbyterian church, or a new Methodist church, or a new Baptist church and never think of calling it by the pastor's name; but when a Beecher projects a church, that edifice is necessarily going to be something entirely fresh and original; it is not going to be like any other church in the world; it is going to be as variegated, eccentric and marked with as peculiar and striking an individuality as a Beecher himself; it is going to have a deal more Beecher in it than any one narrow creed can fit into without rattling, or any one arbitrary order of architecture can symmetrically enclose and cover. Consequently, to call it simply a Congregational church would not give half an idea of the thing. There is only one word broad enough and wide enough and deep enough to take in the whole affair and express it clearly, luminously and concisely—and that is Beecher. The projected edifice I am about to speak of is, therefore, properly named in my caption as a new "Beecher Church."

The projector is the Rev. Thomas K. Beecher—brother of the other one of course—I never knew but one Beecher that wasn't, and he was a nephew. The new church is to be built in Elmira, N. Y., where Mr. B. has been preaching to one and the same congregation for the last sixteen years, and is thoroughly esteemed and beloved by his people. I have had opportunity to hear all about the new church, for I have lately been visiting in Elmira.

Now, when one has that disease which gives its possessor the title of "humorist," he must make oath to his statements, or else the public will not believe him. Therefore I make solemn oath that what I am going to tell about the new church is the strict truth.

The main building—for there are to be three, massed together in a large grassy square ornamented with quite a forest of shade trees—will be the church proper. It will be lofty, in order to secure good air and ventilation. The auditorum will be circular—an amphitheatre, after the ordinary pattern of an opera house, without galleries. It is to seat a thousand persons. On one side (or one end if you choose), will be an ample, raised platform for the minister, the rear half of which will be occupied by the organ and the choir. Before the minister, will be the circling amphitheatre of pews, the first thirty or forty on the level floor, and the next rising in graduated tiers to the walls. The seats on the level floor will be occupied by the aged and infirm, who can enter the church through a hall under the speaker's platform without climbing any stairs. The people occupying the raised tiers will enter by a dozen doors opening into the church from a lobby like an opera house lobby, and descend the various aisles to their places. In case of fire or earthquakes, these numerous exists will be convenient and useful.

No space is to be wasted. Under the raised tiers of pews are to be stalls for horses and carriages, so that these may be sheltered from sun and rain.—There will be twenty-four of these stalls, each stall to be entered by an arch of ornamental masonry—no doors to open or shut. Consequently the outside base of the church will have a formidable port-holed look, like a man-of-war. The stalls are to be so mailed with "deadeners," and so thoroughly plastered, that neither sound nor smell can ascend to the church and offend the worshippers.—The horses will be in attendance at the church but an hour or two at a time, of course, and can defile the stalls but little; an immediate cleansing after they leave is to set all right again.

There is to be no steeple on the church—merely because no practical use can be made of it.

There is to be no bell, because any ignoramus knows what time church service begins without that exasperating nuisance. In explanation of this remark, I will state that at home I suffer in the vicinity and under the distracting clangor of thirteen church bells, all of whom (is that right?) clamor at once, and no two in accord. A large part of my most valuable time is taken up in devising cruel and unusual sufferings and in fancy inflicting them on those bell-ringers and having a good time.

The second building is to be less lofty that the church; is to be built right against the rear of it, and communicate with it by a door. It is to have two stories. On the first floor will be three distinct Sunday school rooms—all large, but one considerably larger than the other two. The Sunday school connected with Mr. Beecher's church has always been a "graded" one, and each department singularly thorough in its grade of instruction; the pupil wins his advancement to the higher grades by hard-won proficiency, not by mere added years.—The largest of the three compartments will be used as the main Sunday school room, and for the week-day evening lecture.

The whole upper story of this large building will be well lighted and ventilated, and occupied wholly as a play room for the children of the church, and it will stand open and welcome to them through all the week-days. They can fill it with their playthings if they choose, and besides it will be furnished with dumb-bells, swings, rocking horses and all such matters as children delight in. The idea is to make a child look upon a church as only another home, and a sunny one, rather than as a dismal exile or a prison.

The third building will be less lofty than the second; it will adjoin the rear of the second, and communicate with it by a door, or doors. It will consist of three stories. Like the other two buildings, it will cover considerable ground. On the first floor will be the "church parlors," where the usual social gatherings of modern congregations are held. On the same floor, and opening into the parlors, will be a reception room, and also a circulating library—a free library—not simply free to the church membership, but to everybody, just as is the present library of Mr. Beecher's church (and few libraries are most extensively and more diligently and gratefully used than this one.) Also on the first floor and communicating with the parlors, will be—tell it not in Gath, publish it not in Askalon!—six bath rooms!—hot and cold water—free tickets issued to any applicant among the unclean of the congregation! The idea is sound and sensible for this reason: Many members of all congregations have no good bathing facilities, and are not able to pay for them at the barber-shops without feeling the expense; and yet a luxurious bath is a thing that all civilized beings greatly enjoy and derive healthful benefit from. The church buildings are to be heated with steam, and consequently the waste steam can be very judiciously utilized in the proposed bath-rooms. In speaking of this bath-room project, I have revealed a state secret—but I never could keep one of any kind, state or otherwise. Even the congregation were not to know of this matter; the building committee were to leave it unmentioned in their report; but I got hold of it—and from a member of that committee, too—and I had rather part with one of my hind legs than to keep still about it. The bath rooms are unquestionably to be built, and so why not tell it?

In the second story of this third building will be the permanent residence of the "church missionary," a lady who constantly looks after the poor and sick of the church; also a set of lodging and living rooms for the janitors (or janitresses?)—for they will be women, Mr. Beecher holding that women are tidier and more efficient in such a position than men, and that they ought to dwell upon the premises and give them their undivided care; also on this second floor are to be six rooms to do duty as a church infirmary for the sick poor of the congregation, this church having always supported and taken care of its own unfortunates instead of leaving them to the public charity. In the infirmary will be kept one or two water-beds (for invalids whose pains will not allow them to lie on a less yielding substance,) and half a dozen reclining invalid-chairs on wheels. The water-beds and invalid-chairs at present belonging to the church are always in demand and never out of service. Part of the appurtenances of the new church will be a horse and an easy vehicle, to be kept and driven by a janitor, and used wholly for giving the church's indigent invalids air and exercise. It is found that such an establishment is daily needed—so much so, indeed, as to almost amount to a church necessity.

The third story of this third building is to be occupied as the church kitchen, and it is sensibly placed aloft, so that the ascending nose and boarding-house smells shall go up and aggravate the birds instead of the saints—except such of the latter as are above the clouds, and they can easily keep out of the way of it, no doubt. Dumb-waiters will carry the food down to the church parlors instead of up. Why is it that nobody has thought of the simple wisdom of this arrangement before? Is it for a church to step forward and tell us how to get rid of kitchen smells and noises? If it be asked why the new church will need a kitchen, I remind the reader of the infirmary occupants, etc. They must eat; and besides, social gatherings of members of this congregation meet at the church parlors as often as three and four evenings a week, and sew, drink tea, and g——. G——. It commences with g, I think, but somehow I cannot think of the word. The new church parlors will be large, and it is intended that these social gatherings shall be promoted and encouraged, and that they shall take an added phase, viz: when several families want to indulge in a little re-union, and have not room in their small houses at home, they can have it in the church parlors. You will notice in every feature of this new church one predominant idea and purpose always discernible—the banding together of the congregation as a family, and the making of the church a home. You see it in the playroom, the library, the parlors, the baths, the infirmary—it is everywhere. It is the great central. To entirely consummate such a thing would be impossible with nearly any other congregation in the Union; but after sixteen years of moulding and teaching, Mr. Beecher has made it wholly possible and practicable with this one. It is not stretching metaphor too far to say that he is the father of his people, and
