As it was apparent that no good offect could thereby be produced, the COLUMBIAN has not discussed the Senatorial question, as is its practice in all pending issues, except Louisia, forcibly ejected from their seal in its more general aspects. The probabili-ties at this writing are favorable to the suc-member of Mr. Wallace, notwithstanding the Wheas, It is the constitutional right cens of Mr. Wallace, notwithstanding the great risk that is to be run in his selection. We say risk, though we regard it a certainty that if he is successful a question will be $R_{\rm aut}$ progative of the Legislatare of a free State 1 judge of the qualifications of it own numbers; therefore be it $R_{\rm aut}$, That the House of Representa great risk that is to be run in his selection. raised in the Federal Senate as to his eligibility, the decision of which will be prolonged until after the final adjournment of the State Legislature, when the seat will be which assigntes the will of the Executiv declared vacant in case the Republicans then and the ederal bayonet for the qualificahave a majority elect on joint ballot. It will be difficult for the Democratic members of the Legislature to justify their action in running such risk, when there is no possible excuse for it, there being an abundance of men in our ranks at least as fit and de serving as he who appears to be the favorite is founde of the majority of the members.

We have scarcely patience to write of the Legislature in this connection. Eminent ability does not seem to command even respect with them, much less do they exhibit desire to send the very first talent of the State to the U.S. Senate, as most other other States do. But the fault of all this is after all support it. with the people who elect the representatives. The Stack-O'llara Case.

Some years ago, Bishop O'Hara, of thi Catholic Diocese, removed Father Stack, the Priest in charge of the Williamsport congregation of that denomination, and appointed another in his stead. Stack resisted and appealed to the courts. A decision fav- differ so mus in the construction of the orable to him was delivered by the Lycom- laws on the abject that a case ought to be ing county court, but upon appeal to the taken beforene Supreme court for the sake Supreme court the case was sent back, and of establishing a uniform standard.
