To "bone" a turkey—Take it when the pointer is not looking. The notes that contain favorite tunes—Bank notes; they compose fortunes.

A cheerless face is as good for an invalid as healthy weather, and often better than physic; a joyous smile adds an hour to one's life; a heartless laugh a day.

Our professor does wonderful things in surgery," said a young medical student... "He has actually made a new lip for a boy, taken from his cheek."

He is a poet who says "I'm sitting sadly on the strand, that stretches to the water's brink; and as the days slip slowly by, I fill my hands and think."

Don't scold.—For the sake of your children don't do it. It is a great misfortune to have children reared in the presence and under the influence of a scold.

Good Nature. Be good natured if you can, for there is no attraction so great, no charm so admirable. A face that is full of the expression of amiability is always beautiful.

Excuse my Glove. Certain kinds of mistaken politeness, sincere as they are, are absurd enough to be grotesque. A common mistake of this sort with some persons, even in large cities, is to say, "Excuse my glove," when they offer their hand to a casual acquaintance.

Sleeplessness. To take a hearty meal just before retiring is, of course, injurious, because it is very likely to disturb one's rest, and produce nightmare. However, a little food at this time, if one is hungry, is decidedly beneficial; it prevents the gnawing of an empty stomach, with its attendant restlessness and unpleasant dreams.

Feats of Character. A great many admirable actions are overlooked by us, because they are so little and common. Take, for instance, the mother who has had but broken slumber, if any at all, with the nursing babe, whose wants must not be disregarded; she would find sleep elusive when the breakfast hour comes, but patiently and uncomplainingly she takes her seat at the table.

Every true hero grows by patience. People who have always been prosperous are seldom the most worthy and never the most strong. He who has not been compelled to suffer has probably not begun how to learn to be magnanimous, as it is only by patience and fortitude that we can know what it is to overcome evil, or feel the pleasure of forgiving them.

There is one single fact which one may oppose to all the wit and argument of a pedantry, namely: that no man ever repeated being a Christian on his death-bed.
