WHEN YOU GET MARRIED.
If you should ever get married, John, You'll find it a little tedious,
And you'll find it a little tedious,
And you'll find it a little tedious.

And you'll find it a little tedious,
And you'll find it a little tedious,
And you'll find it a little tedious,
And you'll find it a little tedious.

And you'll find it a little tedious,
And you'll find it a little tedious,
And you'll find it a little tedious,
And you'll find it a little tedious.

And you'll find it a little tedious,
And you'll find it a little tedious,
And you'll find it a little tedious,
And you'll find it a little tedious.

And you'll find it a little tedious,
And you'll find it a little tedious,
And you'll find it a little tedious,
And you'll find it a little tedious.

And you'll find it a little tedious,
And you'll find it a little tedious,
And you'll find it a little tedious,
And you'll find it a little tedious.

And you'll find it a little tedious,
And you'll find it a little tedious,
And you'll find it a little tedious,
And you'll find it a little tedious.

And you'll find it a little tedious,

And you'll find it a little tedious,
And you'll find it a little tedious,
And you'll find it a little tedious.

A western man recently fell over dead while putting his boots on. Moral—never take your boots off.

Mrs. Partington says that nothing despises her so much as to see people who profess to respect salvation, go to church without their purses when a recollection is to be taken.

One of Sir Boyle Roche's invitations to an Irish nobleman was rather equivocal: "I hope, my lord, if ever you come within a mile of my house, you'll stop there all night."

An advertisement reads as follows: "Staler, a watch worth ten guineas. If the thief will return it he shall be informed where he may steal one worth two of it, and no questions asked."

Nearly all sick animals become so by improper feeding, in the first place. Nine cases out of ten the digestive apparatus, Charcoal is the most efficient and rapid corrective. It will cure in a majority of cases if properly administered. An example of its use: The hired man came in with the intelligence that one of the finest cows was very sick, and a kind neighbor proposed the usual drugs and poisons. The owner being ill, and unable to examine the cow, concluded that the trouble came from over-eating and ordered a teacupful of pulverized charcoal given in water. It was mixed, placed in a junk bottle, the head held upward, and the water and charcoal poured downward.
In five minutes improvement was visible, and in a few hours the animal was in the pasture quietly eating grass. Another instance of equal success occurred with a young heifer which had become badly bloated by eating green apples after a hard wind. The bloat was so severe that the sides were almost as hard as a barrel. The old remedy, salusatus was tried for correcting the acidity.
But the attempt to put it down always caused convulsions, and it did little good. Half a tea-cupful of fish-powdered charcoal was given.
In six hours all appearance of the bloat had gone, and the heifer was well.—Live Stock Journal.

How TO TAKE CARE OF FURS.—Ladies, it has been remarked, as a general rule, imagine that care in putting away furs is all that is required; they think they can wear them when and how they please, provided they expend a few pennies for camphor when they lay them aside. This idea should be corrected. More harm has been done to furs by wearing them a week after the weather has become warm, than during the whole season. When they are put aside they should be brushed the right way with a soft brush, an old linen handkerchief folded smoothly over them, and a piece of gum camphor kept in a box all the time, to scare intruders in the shape of moths.

How TO MAKE BAY RUM.—Bay rum is a useful, agreeable and expensive application to the scalp. Everybody should use it, though, so we will give a formula for making it—as good as can be purchased anywhere, and at a small cost: Take—Oil of bay, ten fluid drachms; oil of pimento, one fluid drachm; acetic ether, two fluid ounces; alcohol, three gallons; water, two and a half gallons. Mix, and in two weeks filter it carefully, when you will have a superior article of bay rum, better than can be purchased at an extravagant price, already prepared.—Physician and Pharmacist.

REAL PIE.—Five pounds of good veal, cut it in small pieces, put it in a kettle with water to cover it; cover close and boil 2 hours.
For crust 1 cup of sour milk, 1 cup of sweet stuf or butter, 1 teaspoonful salt, 1 teaspoonful soda. Butter 1/2 quart pan and put in the crust. Do not roll too thin. Put in your veal, pepper and salt to taste, or in the water the veal was boiled in, a piece of butter the size of an egg, dredge in a spoonful of flour; roll a little larger in the top crust, put the edge of your tender crust before putting the top on; bake a nice brown, then it is done. Try it, farmer's wives.

COCONUT PUDDING.—One quart of milk, one teaspoonful of butter, the yolks and the whites of three eggs, one cup of sugar, one cup of coconut and milk of coconut. Bore a hole in the coconut and drain out the milk; then crack the nut and take from the shell part of the brown skin and grate. Butter a pudding dish and lay the coconut in it, then pour over it the custard. (Scald the milk before making the custard.) Bake in a moderate oven until it is firm in the centre, which you can tell by cutting with the handle of a teaspoon. Frost immediately upon taking from the oven with the whites of two eggs and one cup of sugar beaten to a stiff froth.

WICKS IN KEROSENE LAMPS.—The unsatisfactory light frequently given by kerosene lamps, is often due to impurities which have collected in the wick. The filtering of several quarts of oil through a wick, which saves every particle of dust in it, must necessarily gradually obstruct the pores of the wick—consequently, although a wick may be long enough to last some time, its conduc-tive power may be so impaired that a good light cannot be obtained.

The use of poultices is to promote warmth and moisture; hence those which keep warm and moist the longest are the best. Cold, light wheat bread soaked in sweet milk, makes good ones. A beet fresh from the garden, and pounded fine, makes an excellent poultice.

In hanging paper, first punice-stone the wall and wash with size made of one ounce of glue to one gallon of water. See that the paste has no lumps and that the back of the paper is covered with it fully ten minutes before hanging.

A good way to clean the inside of a teapot is to put a teacupful of ashes in it, and fill half full of water, put it on the stove and let it boil ten minutes, wash thoroughly, and you will find your teapot will be almost as good as new.

A simple remedy for removing freckles is a pint of sour milk, and a small quantity of homestead lard. Let the mixture stand over night, and use it as a wash three times a day until the freckles disappear.

"That clock, stranger," said a Michigan farmer, was the best kind of a clock up to six months ago, when my daughter began to have beads, and now the blamed thing is always two hours too slow."

The starch factories of New England, which are very numerous, have made so good a market for potatoes that in many places they are the staple crop.

CELERY VINEGAR.—Put half a pint of celery seed in one quart of vinegar, bottle it and in a month, it will be fit for use. Strain before putting it in the canter bottle.

Coffee should never be roasted darker than a rich chestnut brown. When the color approaches to black it gives a burned, dry flavor to the infusion.

A strong solution of sulphate of magnesia gives a beautiful quality to whitewash.

KIDNEY COMPLAINT.

Probably there is no complaint that afflicts the human system, which is so little understood at the present time, as some of the various forms of kidney disease. There is no disease which causes such acute pain and suffering, and which is so often fatal, as the kidney disease. It is a complaint which is so common, and which is so often neglected, that it is almost a miracle that any one escapes it. It is a complaint which is so often fatal, that it is almost a miracle that any one escapes it.

The following extraordinary cure of a cold sufferer, who had been given up by the best physicians, is a valuable case, will speak for themselves, and should challenge the most profound and the most medical faculty, as well as of those who are suffering from kidney complaints.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

It is widely known as one of the most effective remedies ever discovered for cleansing the system and purifying the blood. It has stood the test of years, with a constantly growing reputation, based on its intrinsic virtues, and sustained by its beneficial effects, and yet so searching as to effectively purge out the great corruptions of the blood, such as the scrofulous and syphilitic contamination. Impurities, or diseases that have lurked in the system for years, soon yield to this powerful antidote, and disappear.
Hence its wonderful cures, many of which are publicly known, of Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Ulcers, Eruptions,
and eruptive disorders of the skin, Boils, Pimples, Pustules, Sores, St.
Anthony's Fire, Rose
of the Face, Ringworm, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Headache, Itching, and Internal Ulcera-
tions of the Uterus, Stomach, and Liver.
It also cures other complaints, to which it would not seem properly adapted, such as Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Fits, Neuralgia, Heart Disease,
Fever, Cholera, Delirium, and Leucorrhoea,
when they are manifestations of the scrofulous poisons.

It is an excellent restorer of health and strength, and in the Spring, by renewing the blood, it restores the appetite and vigor of the digestive organs, it dissipates the depression and listless languor of the season.
Even where no disorder exists, people feel better, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. The system moves on with renewed vigor and a new lease of life.
