Grant.

In a private letter to Gen. Sherman, dated March 4, 1864, Gen. Grant said, "I shall accept no appointment which will require me to make that city [Washington] my head-

Sherman in reply said: "You are now Washington's legitimate successor, and accupy a position of almost dangerous elevation; but if you continue as heretofore to be yourself, zimple, honest, and unpretending, you will enjoy through life the love and respect of friends,

Grant, the soldier, has changed to Grant, the politician. True, he keeps out of Washington as much in 1874 as in 1853. But then he was in the field; now his time is spent at horse races, -clam-bakes, Long Branch, and in fact at any place to escape the duties the people imposed upor bira, and which he boastingly accepted.

And yet Sherman gave good advice. He told Grant "to be simple, honest, and unpretanding." His extravagance shows that he is not "simple." The rottenness and corruption of his cabinet and appointees show that he is not "honest." His dash at Long Branch, -acceptation of presents, -doubling his salary, show that he is not "unpreten-Evidently Cameron is leading Grant, and since the war Sherman cannot guide

This Indian Business. In the late Modoc war, we knew that it cost the tax-payers $1,000,000 for each they did under Gov. Packer's-twice as Indian killed. It could have been done cheaper by contract, but then the Government agents would have suffered pecuniarily. The administration has spent much time and Geary's, admitted by all to have been abmoney on the Sioux endeavoring to purchase the Black Hills in the interest of speculators, and Messrs. Welsh and Marsh, reputable Republicans, have shown us the rotten agencies and agents,-how the Interior Department paid for goods neither ordered nor delivered-how Grant's brother "Orville" is getting rich at the expense of the nationand now comes this dispatch.

INDIANS IN A DESTITUTE CONDITION. Washington, October 7.—The Indian agent at the Mission agency, Los Angelos, California, writes to the commissioner of Indian affairs to say that the Temecula Re males, long occupied by the Temecula In-dians, recently obtained a writ of ejectment and that 300 of the latter have been thrust from their homes and are in a destitute and deplorable condition. He asks the comdssioner for instructions.

We would ask some intelligent Republican tax-payer to tell us why in 1868 it cost the Government only $4,000,000 to support these "pets" and in 1873 it cost $8,000,000. or twice as much! Transportation is cheaper, food is cheaper, the Indians scarcer, and preachers Agents! Let us have an explana-

Why is this Thus?

Our opponents are extremely anxious to divert public attention to a war that closed ten years ago, and evade questions that belong to the present. The war of 1861-5 is as effectually over as that of 1812 or the Mexican war, and the "bloody shirt" business, won't do. The party which has been in power for fifteen years, is being called to account for its robbery, corruption, and ickedness of late years. The people want to know why their taxes are increased, why money is scarce, why labor is either so poorly r warded or not paid at all; why factories mills, and furnaces are idle; -starvation in our land in a season of plenty, and money abundant in our banks,-capitalists thriving, and the Shariff and constable everywhere.

A change is demanded, and it must come "Bloody shirts" will not prevent it, and the men who wave them are those who made money out of the war, and know that another would be profitable to them. This year the people will speak, and in tones that can not be inisunderstood.

Public Plunderers.

We notice in all of our Exchanges a start ling number of sheriff's sales advertised. In Indiana county, there are four hundred exequitions for the disposal of property, and this is an instance of the condition of things all through the country. Who is responsible for this? The Republican Party. Why? Because by their ruinous financial policy and by the numberless defalcations of dishonest officials put in office by a Republican President, and obstinately kept there by him in spite of their thieving, the credit of the nation, and the confidence of man in man, is utterly destroyed. Farmers, and Inboring men regardless of Party, if you de sire honesty in the conduct of public affa'rs or if you are in debt and wish to save you property, vote for Pershing and Pioliet, and That is, it costs twice as much to run our help to stay in this State at least, the tide of State political machinery under a Republifigure is ruin that is so rapidly overwhelm- can Governor as it did under a Democrat] ing the nation.

Piollet was here at the close of the war, at the famous Nob Mountain Meeting, he must place himself in the shoes of his and his best defence is the words he spoke there in presence of the "confederacy" and Fort Mifflin men, as follows:-If there ever was a time in our history

If there ever was a time in our history when the active exertions of all the laboring and producing classes of the country were called for to regulate the political affairs of the country, it is now. We have just emerged from a civil war of the most gigantic proportions, and we are proud and happy at the result; we congratulate each other when we meet, upon the fact that victory perches on the national banner, and that the union of these States, the claritons Union of mion of these States, the glorious Union be-queathed to us by our fathers, has stood the shock of war, and that we have been able to maintain it against armed resistance. In our political assemblies, and in casual meetlabor on Judges, for which they receive no compensation. But there is no use of pursuing the subject further. It is only those who know little of legal proceedings who how about overpaid Judges; those who look upon the position as a sinecure, and look upon the position as a sinecure, and who are not aware that the great labor of a

The reason why Judge Pershing refuses to resign the judgship and take the stump for the Democrats, is explained by a correspondent of the New York Tribune, who has lately interviewed the Judge, in this wise "Two considerations, he said, have led him to his decision-respect for what appears to be the unanimous desire of the people of his judicial district as well as the advice of his personal friends; and a feeling that it is his luty to continue to perform the judicial functions with which he has been intrusted. and not desert his post to seek for an office.
