Humorous.
A Detroit mother can't understand how it is that her girls can play croquet for half a day and not feel tired, and yet if one of them is asked to wash the dishes she reaches for the camphor bottle.

Humorous.
If a boy shows a disposition to ignore school and neglect his studies tell him that he will bitterly regret such a policy when he is grown to be a man. He will at once change his course. It is a little singular that no one has thought of this before.

Humorous.
They were husband and wife, and as they stood before the soldiers' monument she asked:
"What's that figger on top?" "That's a goddess," he answered. "And what's a goddess?" "A woman who holds her tongue," he replied. She looked aside.

Humorous.
A wag entered a smoking car on the North Central a few days ago near Harrisburg, and while the train was in motion, and in an earnest and sympathetic tone said: "There is a lady in the next coach fainting away. Has any gentleman here any liquor for her?" Twenty-eight men in that car immediately rushed to their feet, each with a flask in his hand. A more eloquent expression of sympathy could not be conceived.

Humorous.
Two colored men took refuge under a tree in a violent thunder-storm. "Fallin' can you put 'said one, 'No, Sam," was the reply; "neber prayed in my life." "Well, can't you sing a hymn?" Just then the lightning struck a tree near by, shivering it, when the first speaker exclaimed:
"See how, honey, smuin' 'ligions has got to be done, an' dat mighty sudden, too; 'pose you pass around dat leaf?"

Humorous.
There is a story told of Joaquin Miller, the poet, that when he was at Barnum's Hotel, Broadway and Twentieth streets, a few weeks ago, he wrote to a friend in New Jersey, and enclosed the letter: "Come and see me whenever you can; I am at Barnum's." The friend, who does not appear to have been familiar with the names of our city hotels, answered: "I am sorry you have commenced to exhibit yourself. If you had stuck to literature you would have made your mark and fortune. Whereabouts is the show now?"

Humorous.
"Fourth of July, you dough-head," replied a politician. "It's September." "I know, he," said the other. "The 16th of September." "Come is, an' don't call it 'em bein' cast out of any other woman's side."

Humorous.
"Well, den, all de others got 'em yet," said the man.
