Jim Barker's Court How they Do things out in Colorado.

Jim Barker, a well known character o the mountains, whose latch string hangs out at the head of Blue Lizzard Gulch, was duly elected a justice of the peace for that section of El Paso county, at the September election and Mike Irving, a comrade of Jim's, was empowered to officiate as the executive officer of his court. Last week Jim convened his first court, to hear the complaint of Elder Slater, a traveling missionary, who had caused the arrest of Zimri Bowels, a resident of the foot hills, upon a charge of stealing the elder's one-eyed mule. Zimri had been arrested by Irving, the constable, while in the act of easing the descent of the mule down Mad Gun mountain, with his lariat fastened to the tail of the animal. The proof against Zimri was conclusive. Accordingly, the justice, after much legal perplexity of mind, proceeded to sentence Zimri to one year's confinement in the territorial penitentiary, which sentence he con-cluded as follows: "An, now Zim, seein" as I'm about out of things to eat, an' as you will have the cost to pay, I reckon you'd befter take a turn among the foot-hills with your rifle, an' see if you can't pick up some meat before night, as you can't start for the Big Canyon before mornin'." Which marketing duty was performed by Zim bring-ing in one black tail fawn and a rabbit within the time prescribed as a postscript to the sentence. On the following morning the constable, mounted upon his broncho, accompanied by the prisoner astride of the mule, which the elder had kindly loaned him, started through the mountains for the penitentiary, where they arrived the second day out, their animals loaded with a deer, two antelope and a small einnamon bear, which they sold to the warden of the prison. After dividing the money the constable proceeded to hand over Zimri on the following mittimus, which is carefully preserved, and may be seen in the possession of the war-To the head man of the Colorado prison down at the foot of the big canyon on the Arkansas, Take notice; Zimri Bouls, who comes with this here, stole Elder Slater's one-eyed mule, an it was all the mule the elder had, and I sentenced Zim officially to to do it, seein as Zim once stood by me like a man when the Injuns had me in a tight place, an arter I sentenced Zim to one year for stealing the elder's mule, my wife, Lizzy who is a kind of tender-hearted critter, come and leaned her arm on my shoulder, an says she, "Father, don't forget the time when Zim, with his rifle, covered our cabin from Granite mountain, an saved us from the Arapahoes, an, father, I have heard you tell that after you was wounded at Sandy creek, an helpless, it was Zimri's rifle that halted the Indian that was creeping in the grass to scalp you." An then there was a tear splash fell upon the sentence, an I changed my mind suddenly as follows: Seeing as the mule had but one eye, an wern't mor'n half a mule at that, you can let Zim go at about six months, an sooner if the Injuns should get ugly, an, furthermore, if the elder shud quiet down an give in any time, I vill pardon Zim out instanter. Witness my official hand and seal.

JAMES BARKER, Justice of the Peace in Blue Lizard Gulch. El Paso county, in the Territory.

The warden, after informing the constable that he could not receive the prisoner upon the commitment offered, proceeded to explain Otho I. had conquered Strasbourg he bethat he should have given a bond in the sum of about $300 to appear at the district court. Accordingly, the constable withdrew with his prisoner, when it was agreed between them that Zimri should give the constable his bond for the amount mentioned by the warden. This was accomplished by Zimri proclaim a tournament at Speirs and promsubscribing his name to an old replevin bond calling for $300, found among the papers transmitted to the constable by his predecessors. Then, as the constable intended returning by way of Pinon mountain to ex- and the tournament was held. The Sheriff's Rules.

While it will be generally admitted that the sheriff of any county is responsible for the custody of prisoner, many people may wonder at the Sheriff of an interior county in Michigan who feels also responsible for the moral character of the men who occupy his cells. On taking his office a few weeks ago he had printed and posted up in the ward the following programme. Prayers and Religious Singing At 7:30 a. m. Breakfast at 8 a. m. Prayer and Singing at 12. Also at 8 p. m.

Prisoners are expected to leave off smoking and chewing when entering this jail. Swearing will not be allowed. No prisoner will be allowed to have cards or dice. Treat each other like gentlemen. He was locked in a cell, and he held out for two days. At the end of the time he broke down and came to the point as fol-

Young Folks.

At last there came to court the mos beautiful princess that ever was seen; and Walter fell in love with her, and entertain ed her in a magnificent manner every day, till one day, just as they were standing up to dance before the whole court, there came in an old man, very ragged and dirty, with a great peddler's pack on his back, at whom Walter had not looked twice before he saw that it was the old gray goblin. Instantly he remembered his promise to receive him as a father, and began to be very much ashamed at the notion of presenting such an old begger as his father to the king and all his splendid court, but Walter's mother had taught him never to break his word, and always to do what he thought was right no matter how disagreeable. Accordingly he dropped the princess' beautiful white hand, and going up to the dusty, dirty old goblin, kissed and embraced him, brought him a golden chair to sit on, and taking promised to go with this old man, but I will return as soon as possible." "But do you imagine," returned the prin-cess, angrily, "that I will see a beggar pre-ferred to me? If you go with that man never speak to me again.

"Alas!" said Walter, "I must go, for I have promised." "No," said the princess, "you shall not one year in the Colorado prison and hated go, unless you wish never to see me again. I will not stay here an instant longer if you

"Come," cried the goblin. "I have waited long enough." Legends. OLD EBERSTEIN.-After the Emperor seiged the Castle of Eberstein which the counts of that name held against him. But they were brave warriors, and after a seige of nine months Otho was apparently no nearer his hopes than at the beginning Then one of his Knights advised him to ise the counts of Eberstein safe conduct it they should choose to attend, and meantime while they were absent, the castle could be surprised. Otho profited by this advice

During one of these dances the Count of ruse of the Emperor; she advised him to confer with his two brothers, and that they all should leave as early as possible. He acted on the advice of the fair lady, but after telling his brothers, they returned again to the dance, and after a little Count Eberstein proposed that the Knights and ladies should reassemble next day to repeat the tournament, and proposed to leave a hundred guldens in honor of the noble ladies. The emperor consented and all separated with great good will but the three counts of Eberstein hastened to their castle, Next day all were assembled and waited for the tournament to begin. At length it came out that the counts of Eberstein had returned home and the Emperor was outwitted. Then he sent men to try if they could not reach the castle before them; but they were already there, and repelled the assault in in such a manner as to convince all that it was worse than useless to continue against them. Then Otho sent three ambassadors to negotiate terms with them. The castellan conducted them through the castle, and showed them casks of wine, heaps of fruit, and an abundance of flour. Now the casks had false bottoms, and the flour covered a mass of chaff; but the ambassadors told Tickings, Otho that the castle contained provisions for another nine months, and that it was vain to think of subduing it. They advised of his prisoners, but a few days ago a rough him the rather to propitiate them by giving one of his sisters in marriage to Eberhard, the youngest Count of Eberstein. This was done and their union was celebrated

Wait, wife, before you speak reproachfully to your husband when he comes home late, weary and "out of sorts." The Great Reputation and the large number of testimonials which are constantly being received from persons who have been oured by its use, are concussive proof of its great value. It is recommended by physicians and apothecaries. As a fillood-l'uriliner and itseath-lessorer, it has no equal.

Great and Good Medicine,

Great and Good Medicine,

Vegetine is not prepared for a fancy drink made from poor liquora, which debilitates the system and tends to destroy health instead of restoring it.

Are not the many testimonials given for the different comprisions satisfactory to any reasonable persons suffering from the act that they can be cared? Read the different testimonials given, and no one can doubt. In many of those cases the persons say that they can be cared? Read the different testimonials given, and no one can doubt. In many of those cases the persons say that their pain and suffering cannot be expressed, as in cases of Scordia, where, apparently, the whole body was one mass of certuption. If Vegetine will refleve pain, cleanes, purify and cure such diseases, restoring the patient to perfect health after trying different physicians, many renedies, suffering for years, is it not conclusive proof, if you are a sufficer, you can be cured? Why is this medicine performing such great cures? It works in the blood, in the circunstanting fluid. It can be truly called the Great flood Purifier. The great source of disease originates in the blood; and no medicine that does not act directly upon it, to purify and renovate, has any just chain upon public attention. When the blood becomes iffeless and stagmant, either from change of wather or climate, want of exercise, friegular dier or from any other cause, the Vegetine will renew the blood carry off the purified humors, cicanse the stumach, regulate the bowels and unpart a tone of vigor to the whole body. The conviction is, in the public mind as well as in the medical profession, him her remetiles supplied by the Vegetable its composed or roots, barks and herbs. It is pleasant to take, and is perfectly safe to give a the pack from his back, carried it away him-

HENRY R. STEVENS, Esq:

DEAR SIR—About one year since I found myself in a feeble condition from general debility. Vegetime was strongly recommended to me by a friend who had been much bensited by its use. I procured the article, and after using several bottles, was restored to health, and discontinued its use. I feel quite confident that there is no medicine superior to it for those complaints for which it is especially prepared; and would cheerfully recommend it to those who feel that they need something to restore them to perfect health.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Is widely known as one of the most effectual remedies ever discovered for cleansing the sys-tem and purifying the blood. It has years, with a con-stantly growing rep-utation, based on its intrinsic virtues, and sustained by its re-markable cures. So mild as to be safe and beneficial to children, and yet so searching as to effectually purge out the great cor-ruptions of the blood, such as the scrothlous and syphilitie contamination. Impurities, or diseases that have lurked in the system for years, soon yield to this powerful anti-dote, and disappear. Hence its wonderful cures, many of which are publicly known, of Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, of Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Ulcers, Eruptions, and cruptive disorders of the skin, Tumors, Blotches, Boils, Pimples, Pustules, Sores, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, and internal Ulcerations of the Uterus, Stomach, and Liver. It also cures other complaints, to which it would not seem especially adapted, such as Droppy, Dyspepsia, Fits, Neuralgia, Heart Disease, Fennale Weakness, Debility, and Leucorrhæa, when they are manifestations of the scrofulous poisons.

It is an excellent restorer of health and strength in the Spring. By renewing the appetite and vigor of the digestive organs, it dissipates the depression and listless languor of the season. Even where no disorder guer of the season. Even where no disorder appears, people feel better, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. The system moves on with renewed vigor and a new lease of PREPARED BY Dr. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.,
