JIM'S CIRCUUS. [From the N. Y. Tribune.] "Let's play circus!" "Why, Jim Peters, I'm just going right in to tell mother," said Jim's little sister Mabel.

"That's a first rate idea," said the President, which took every bit of strength out of the pony's legs, and when they picked the monkey up he was rubbing so many parts of himself that Mabel said he must have rheumatism.

By this time the animals all said that if they didn't do something they should go home, and the kangaroo, who had been asleep with his head in the parrot's lap, said that animals at circuses was no fun at all.

"I don't know, I think it is," replied Mabel, "only I prais that it was the horses with nothing on 'em, and the monkeys and things."

"Suppose if you got in without paying anything, it wouldn't be so wicked, would it?" said Jim.

"What for?" said Jim. "I suppose we shall have to choose a President."
