

THE COLUMBIAN

BLOOMSBURG, FRIDAY, JUNE 9, 1876. Rail Road Time Table. LACKAWANNA & BLOOMSBURG RAIL ROAD.

COWS AS LARVÆ.—A Town Ordinance

properly restrict cattle from coming at large at night. It is constantly violated, and on last Saturday night, about midnight, two cows broke into a citizen's garden, destroyed the herbage, and ruined some valuable fruit trees and evergreens.

OUR CENTENNIAL LETTER.

A WEEK AT THE EXHIBITION. NOTES BY THE JUNIOR EDITOR. On Monday morning of last week in company with about thirty Bloomsburgians, we started for the great show.

Business Notices

On Sunday, after attending church at St. Stephen's, where we heard charming music, we took a drive in the park, and from what we saw, were fully convinced that the managers of the exposition are making a mistake in closing the grounds on Sunday.

A MATTER OF POPULAR INTEREST.

We conclude from the English Register the following conversation took place at the Philadelphia Convention of the American Association of Editors. A visitor said: "I suppose you have at least had a dozen different resolutions proposed."

What is the matter with Freeman?

In the issue of the Columbian appears the following: To our Columbia Co. Exchange.—A few weeks ago we made mention of the discovery of the site of a missing man, the late John Freeman, a Columbia man. We gathered the facts from an exchange, but have forgotten which.

Terrible Accident to a Shipwrecked Lady.

On Monday evening between 5 and 6 o'clock, Mrs. Hoffman, living on Chestnut street, in this place, was detained in her room, in passing down Third street by a fire engine that was backing up on the east track, which struck her, knocking her down, and partly off the track, but one of her limbs was caught in the wheels and mangled in such a manner as to lose the knee that immediately amputation was necessary.

THE GATHERING AT THIS PLACE was probably the largest ever seen there, and showed plainly that the people remembered the promises made in 1861. The whole surrounding country was drained of its inhabitants, and the five companies from Bloomsburg, Danville and Scranton, with civic societies from the entire neighborhood added to the occasion.

THE EASTON, JUNE 5.—Alvin Laros, son of Martin and Mary Laros, of this place, was killed yesterday, died last night from poison administered last Wednesday to the family by Albert C. Laros, the son and brother.

WHOLESALE DRUG EMPORIUM.

Corner Main and Market Street. BLOOMSBURG, PA. The undersigned having been engaged in the business for the past eight years will call the attention of country dealers to their large and varied stock.

THE CHURCH OF CHRIST, OR CHRISTIAN CHURCH, in Bloomsburg, which has heretofore been meeting in the Opera House, has secured the use of the Welsh Baptist Church on Chestnut street, east of Iron, and will hereafter meet at that place.

MR. C. M. DRINKER, in the Opera House building, Centre street, has displayed rare ability in the manufacture of fine fishing rods.

There must be too much Centennialism here early morning had not reached here once this week at the proper time, without the inconvenience of every body. Better invite the Postmaster General down this way.
