Selecting Dairy Cows.

A good constitution is important, This may be judged of by the lustre of the hair and the brilliancy of the horns and eyes. Constitution depends mostly upon the eart and lungs, the size of which may be determined by the depth and breadth of the thorax. They should have a good development, enough to secure health and vigor, but the lungs, in particular, should not be excessively large, When very large, they burn up, by increased respiration, the fat forming material. By the extraordinary energy they create, they induce usual exercise and motion, which make a rapid waste of tissue and a rapid assimilation to repair it, and thus divert nutriment from produ-A Florida newspaper alludes to "a new cing milk. If too small, the animal may be an excellent milker while she lives, but will be feeble and shortlived.

The capacity of the lungs corresponds with the size of the apertures, through which they are filled. Large, open nostrils indicate large lungs and vice versa. In the same way, the indications of the mouth correspond with the size of the stomach,

The chine is regarded as an index to milkng capacity. When it is double, it denotes readth of vertebrae, which corresponds to the broad open structure, which is favorable to a large flow.

It is an accompaniment of broad hips and these in turn denote a large cavity which is essential to good milkers.

The milk mirror, or escutcheon of Guenon, is one of the leading indications of ted suicide by shooting last Sunday, and milking capacity. It consists of the peculiar appearance of the hair on the udder.

> Looking at the hind part of the cow, more or less of the hair which covers the udder and adjacent parts, will be seen to turn upward and outward. This reversed hair forms the so called escutcheon. If the soace occupied by the upturned hair, especially the lower part of it, is very large and broad, so that it extends outward on to the thighs, it is regarded as indicating a large flow of milk. If the upper part of it is broad and smooth, it is regarded as favorable to a prolonged flow. If the reversed part of it is narrow and irregular on its upper part it is unfavorable to a long flow. The manner in which the inverted hair connects with the hair adjacent, is supposed to have significance. A gradual blending, rather than abrupt connection is preferred.

> The connection of the escutcheon (or scutcheon) with the flow of milk, is accounted for by Magne, who says that the hair turns in the direction in which the arteries ramify, and that the reversed hair on the udder and adjacent parts indicates the termination of the arteries which supply the udder with blood. When these arteries are large, they are not confined to the udder. but extend down through it, and upward and outward, ramifying on the skin beyond the udder, giving the hair the peculiar appearance which distinguishes it from the rest of the surface. If the arteries supplying the udder with blood are very small they are not likely to extend much beyond the udder, and hence form a small escutchon. Hence a small escutcheon indicates a feeble supply of blood to the udder, and consequently but little material to make milk out of, and hence a small flow of milk. -L. B. Handy Helps.

There are some things which a farmer wants but once a year, and there are others which he always should have ready. No mer for example. Every new or old wooden tool should be oiled. Have a barrel or keg or can of crude petrolen m always ready and makes any wood durable as cedar Keep it constantly on hand. Again, save, every piece of rope, and leather strap. They will be useful for repairing. The next cents' or a dollar's worth of copper wire and copper straps.-Copper wire is a great deal more flexible, like cord, and copper straps are capital for repairing any fracture in woodwork, it may be so easily wrapped around, or nailed on with small nails of different sizes, that will clinch readily when you use them. You will remember that in driving these or any other nails into hard wood, they will go more easily by first to uching the points with a little grease, but do not let the grease get on the face of the hammer.

Will be found to possess those qualities necessary to the total eradication of all billous attacks, prompt to start the secretions of the liver and give a healthy tone to the entire system. Indeed, it is no ordinary discovery in medical science to have invented a remedy for these stubborn complaints, which develop all the results produced by a heretofore too free base of calomed, a mineral justly dreaded by mankind, and acknowledged to be destructive in the extreme to the learnma system. That the properties of certain vegetables comprise all the virtues of calomed without its injurious tendencies is now an admitted fact, rendered indisputable by scientific researches; and those who use the Mandrake PHIs will be fully satisfied that the best medicines are those provided by nature in the common herbs and roots of the fields.

HEARTFELT PRAYER.

BT. PAUL, Aug. 22, 1864.

If R. Stevens, Esq.:

Dear Sir.—I should be wanting in gratitude, if I falled to acknowledge what the Vegetine has done for me. I was attacked about oleven months since with Bronchitis, which settled into Consumption. I had night sweats and fever chills; was distressed for breath, and frequently spit blood; was all emaciated, very weak, and so low that my friends thought my case hopeless.

I was advised to make a trial of the Vegetine which, under the providence of word, has cared me That he may bless the use of your mediane to others, as he has the me, and that his divine grace may attend you, is the heartful prayer of your admiring, humble servant.

MAKE IT PUBLIC.

II. R. Stevens, Esq.

Dear SIT—I have heard from very many sources of the great success of Vegetine in cases of Serofula, Rheumatism, Kidney Compliaint, Catarrh, and other diseases of kindred nature. I make no hesitation in saving that I know Vegetine to be the most reliable remedy for Catarrh and General Debility.

My wife has been troubled with Catarrh for many years, and at times very badly. She has theroughly tried every supposed remedy that we could hear of and withfull this she has for several years been gradually growing worse, and the discharge from the head was excessive and very offensive.

She was in this condition when she commenced to take Vegetine: I could see that she was improving on the second bottle. She continued taking the Vegetine until she had used from twerve to fifteen bottles. I am now happy in informing you and the public (if you choose to make it public) that she is entirely airse, and Vegetine accomplished the cure after nothing else would. Hence I feel justified in saving that Vegetine is the most reliable remedy, and would advise all suffering lumanity to try it. for I believe it to ea good, honest, vegetable medicine, and I shall not hesitate to recommend it. I am, &c., respectfully.

Dear Sir—My daughter, after having a severe attack of whooping cough, was left in a feeble state of health. Heing advised by a friend-she tried the Vege ine, and after using a few bottles was fully restored to health.

I have been a great sufferer from Rheumatism. I have been a great sufferer from Rheumatism. I have taken several bottles of the Veretine for this complaint, and am happy to say it has entirely cured me. I have recommended the Veretine to others, with the same good results. It is a great cleaner and purifier of the blood; it is pleasant to take; and I can cheerfully recommend it.

Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous, and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a
