The war map epidemic is raging fearfully and the papers are fitted with plans of the seat of war, which, like man, are "fearfully and wonderfully made," Nobody will get from these maps any kind of an idea as to the characteristics of the country where the fighting is to take place, and many of them are drawn in the roughest manner and with but little regard to respective distances or locations of prominent points

The COLUMBIAN speaks of the fine musician in the Bloomsburg jail. And the editor thanks them for a serenade!—Danville Record.

The above is contemptible. The inference to be drawn from it is that the prisoners are the musicians, whereas the COLUMBIAN stated distinctly that the policemen on duty furnished the music. The statement that a screande was given and acknowledged is false and malicious, and the Record man knew it when he wrote it. It's like Brower-that sort of stuff.
