

BLOOMSBURG, PA. Friday, June 29, 1877.

The execution of the four murderers in March Chunk, took place on Thursday morning, and were concluded at 10.45, and that of Lemian in Wilkes Barre at 10.30. Four of the executions in Pottsville have taken place at the time we go to press.

THE WAR. Reports from the seat of war continue vague and unsatisfactory, in fact grow more so, as the campaign advances. The scrutiny of letters and dispatches is more vigorous than ever, and what is permitted to be published is nearly if not quite worthless.

England is selfishly and, apparently, absurdly nervous about the Suez canal and her Indian possessions, though the country appears that either of the belligerent powers offer any menace. It seems to be the opinion in Berlin that England will eventually be drawn into the war.

A NEW DEPARTMENT. The Washington B. publican contains an article written by a personal friend of Mr. Hayes, after an interview on the subject with the President, in which the writer indicates that as soon as it can possibly be done the policy of the government in regard to the payment of the public debt will be changed, and no further payment made on it until the condition of the country becomes more prosperous.

MR. TILDEN'S SPEECH. The organs don't like the recent many and truthful speech, made at the reception of the Manhattan Club, in New York. The pure and perfect Texas Pacific railroad, in a few words filled with scorn and falsehood, as follows:

AN EVIL AND A NUISANCE. The evils resulting from civil war are many and various. Some of these are unavoidable and cannot be remedied, but many others are the result of years of numerous afflictions, which are in no manner the logical results of warfare, and which could be instantly done away with by a judicious, honest and capable Administration.

ANOTHER MASSACRE. There is a general uprising of Indians in Idaho and numbers of white men, women and children have been murdered, houses burned and property destroyed.

THE PRES. AND OTHER LEADING REPUBLICAN PAPERS are sharply rebuking the French Government for suppressing certain journals for uttering seditious language. We fully believe in the liberty of the press, but since when did Republican papers become converts to the doctrine?

Gov. Robinson declares that the pathway of fraudulent elections is the highway to national death. Then Gov. Bradley's Electoral Commission desires to be known in history as the Board of National Undertakers.

MR. POSTMASTER KEY. A special agent of the Post-office Department, recently appointed from a Southern State by Postmaster-General Key, having been assigned to duty which he finds quite arduous and sometimes disagreeable, has written a letter to the Department, of which the following is an extract: "I have been assigned, and says that when appointed he supposed his duties would be limited to his own State where he could be most useful to the administration, and aid his party friends in building up an administration party."

EXTRAVAGANCE IN FUNERALS. Much has been written both by journal and newspaper, in respect to the needless and wasteful expenditures of money at funerals, and sermons both clerical and lay have been delivered on the evil custom. Apparently these warnings and protesting words have been lost on the ear of the people, for the evil does not seem to have abated.

SIXTH ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE PROTESTANT Episcopal Church of the Diocese of Central Pennsylvania. This body met in St. Luke's church, Scranton, on Tuesday evening, June 12, at 7 o'clock. Divine services occupied half an hour, after which the roll was called, 65 clerical and some 40 lay delegates answering to their names.

THE DANGER AHEAD. The dissatisfaction in the Republican ranks will continue as a depressing and demoralizing element, rather than an active force of hostility to the Administration. The really serious complications which we regard as not improbable will have a totally different origin. One that has been daily foreboded may arise at the opening of the extra session.

SEVENTEEN YEAR LOCUSTS. The rush of the seventeen year locusts in Pike county, this state, and in the other counties in Pennsylvania and New York bordering on the upper Delaware, is said to exceed anything lurking within the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

THE HOUSE. The Southern Pacific Railroad is made the test case, partly because it has great and widely-diffused strength at the South, partly because it has the support of Northern combinations of capital and influence in an unusual degree.

THE SHERMAN FAMILY. The quick conscience of that patriotic reformer, John Sherman, who, as Wendell Phillips says, is most distinguished for having entered Congress two or left it rich, is greatly exercised because two or more members of the same family are holding places in different bureaus of the Treasury. He has lost sleep in devising plans to correct this shocking evil, and to protect the civil service against similar abuses.

Spots upon the sun do not visibly diminish its brilliancy, but spots, pimples or blotches upon the face, neck or arms seriously detract from female beauty. They may, however, be completely removed by the daily use of Glenn's Sulphur Soap. Dr. J. H. H. and Whisker Dye, black or brown, 50 c.
