The only way to tell huckleberries and flies apart is that the latter kick the most as they go down.

We have discovered why it is that people will not believe all they read in newspapers. It is because there is so much fake on the type.

We understand that there will be no services in the Presbyterian Church during this month, unless the pulpit is supplied, the pastor Rev. S. Mitchell being absent on a vacation.

THE COLORED CAMP MEETING.—There was an unusually large crowd on the grounds at Knorr's Grove last Sunday. The rites of baptism were administered to several candidates in the Fishingcreek.

There will be a festival at the Havencree Presbyterian Church on Saturday the 18th inst. The public is respectfully invited. Proceeds for the benefit of the church.

John Laycock, proprietor of the Central Hotel has improved his bar room and office by laying a new floor. The Central is a good house, and its landlord knows how to make things comfortable.

Like beautiful jewels in brass settings are handsome features upon a face marked by signs of deep poisoning. The great purifier of the blood is Dr. Bull's Blood Mixture.

Mrs. Bishon came home on Monday night, having reached Philadelphia on Sunday in the steamer Indiana of the American line from England, where she had been for more than a year visiting friends of her husband.

A large lot of Estate record books for executors, administrators, guardians &c., just printed and bound at this office, for sale cheaper than ever before. Books contain from 25 to 100 receipts.

You can get twenty five visiting cards neatly printed on the Bristol board for thirty five cents, or fifty for sixty cents; lower rates according to quality of card, at the COLUMBIAN office.

John Parcel of Lightfoot, an old man 86 years old, took up his section of oats on the farm of his son Robert, four days in succession, and did not complain of fatigue. That is doing pretty well.

A number of specifications for the new county jail were distributed for examination. Persons having such and having no special use will please return them to the Commissioners' office. They are needed here and you will oblige.

There are several men in this town who have been talking considerable talking in sympathy with the rioters in other sections of the state, but as they are mostly men who never did honest day's work in their lives, and who would rather stand by and dig their talk down to harm. They should be careful not to go too far, however, as it is the duty of all peace officers to arrest any one who uses threatening language or attempts to incite to riot. Any such attempts should be summarily dealt with. The law must prevail.

The Sheriff is also increasing in number. It is some satisfaction to see among the list the names of a number of Republicans who voted for "Hayes and Good Times." They've got 'em.

"The Baby's Best Friend" Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup, since it maintains the Baby's health by keeping it free from Colic, Diarrhea, etc. Price 25 cents per bottle.

When you visit the jail, be very careful not to irritate a certain prisoner. He sometimes grows unmanageable and has been known to skin people's noses. Beware of Kelly, the "Bum." For further particulars inquire at Centre township.

Phillip D. Appelman, Jr. while using a mower in his field near Holsburg ran across and cut in two a black snake which measured four feet nine inches. The head part, measuring two feet, ran clear across the field after severance.

The Democrats of Montour county have revised their rules, which are now an almost exact copy of ours. To have made them perfect the clause giving minority representation should have been inserted, and it would have saved much trouble.

On Friday night while L. S. Winterstein, a law student in the office of Col. Knorr, with some companions was in bathing, some person or persons took from his clothing about $70 and a draft for several hundred dollars. No trace of the thief could be obtained. Payment of the draft was stopped so that the loss will not prove a total one.—Rep.

A. S. Barnes & Co. publish the National and Independent Series of school books. This series is largely used in Columbia county, and the publishers desire to say that the school books published by said firm have been reduced in price as the result of a new arrangement. Any order for production or correspondence relative to the same may be addressed to C. P. Flint, 822 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

SUBSCRIBER.—Wm. C. Johnston, Esq., Register and Recorder of Columbia County, has been on his best on Friday morning and fell in the Court House yard, where he lay for some time until he was discovered. In falling he lacerated his face considerably. He was conveyed home in a sedan chair, but has since recovered and is again at his post.—Davids Intelligence.

Jacob Yeager of Slabtown heard a noise resembling the peep of a chicken the other morning when he went in his store. On investigation it proved to emanate from a box of eggs that he had taken as country produce. Selecting the noisy egg, he put it in a warm place and soon had the pleasure of seeing a little chicken running about. Those eggs ought to be worth more than fourteen cents a dozen.

We have received from Geo. Stinson & Company, Portland, Maine, four beautiful chromes, "Christ our Refuge," "Welcome Home," "Water Lilies," and "Morning Glories." They are the finest chromes of the kind we have seen. We also return to kind to them for a handsome steel engraving of a Family record. This firm stands among the highest as Art Publishers.

BUCK HORN AHEAD.—On Tuesday, the 2nd inst., a large picnic and fishing party was made up in Buckhorn. There were about twenty men, women and children in the company. A procession was formed at about ten o'clock in the morning, which, headed by Fogg's Corn Band, started for Tremble's dam below Light Street, where they camped in the grove. Croquet, dancing and fishing were the amusements of the day. Prof. Harris of Hamburg is reported as being the most fortunate fisherman in the party. At about five o'clock in the afternoon the company returned home after a very pleasant day.

A BULLDOZED SOLDIER.—He was from Berwick and he came on here to join his company of Berwick soldiers. He had on his uniform and felt like a fighting cock. No striker would dare cross his path, for he was a soldier with uniform just new from the box, and fully armed. When he stepped from the car upon the Kingston platform he felt as though he was monarch of all he surveyed. Strikers and workmen have bunched their fists in a vain effort to humiliate the invincible. They noticed the Berwick soldier and were for him. They took away his arms and passed him around the crowd like a child. He was frightened. He felt as though he was not equal to the occasion. He wanted to go home. He felt that his presence was not needed in the coal regions. The crowd yelled and laughed as if such a crowd can yell and laugh. At length a man who had seen duty in a fully enjoyed, and the soldier gave up for lost and was resigning himself to his fate, they sent him down and gave him his gun, and he trotted off to his company like a big boy who's been "bounced." There will be a uniform to him in Berwick company when he gets back home, and the applicant must take an oath that he will not allow himself to be bullied by the strikers.—Sunday News.

E. M. LUDWIG.—Many of our readers remember Ludwig, (we do) and will smile at the following description of him taken from Bland county (Va.) Gazette: "E. D. Ludwig, Esq.—Do you know him? He is the intelligent, energetic and honored President of the Kimberling Spring Company, who has associated with him, as Vice President, Capt. C. H. Boyd, and J. D. Harris, as Secretary—worthy associates of a stirring and wise head. Mr. Ludwig is the right man in the right place," occupying his position with great prudence and forethought, with an "angel's power behind the throne" of the feminine order "with whom we are well pleased." He is a Swiss, either by way of activity or extraction, or both; and his seven or eight inches in stature is an oval face, good forehead, and black hair, eyes black, as to the iris, with an ample jet; complexion dark, with all that enters into contour in excellent proportion; countenance bland and open, with the inside man revealed in expression and look, and waves of honesty and kindness and firmness and good will, and control, he is never disconcerted, but moves right on with his business. Now, if in traveling, you meet anybody filling the above description, that is E. D. Ludwig."

It is an awful thought to say that his lame case came from a wound received during the late war. He was not there.

The Cantata of the Haymakers at the Opera House on Friday and Saturday nights last week was worthy of a better attention. The slim audiences that attended any kind of public exhibition where an admission fee is charged, is one of the strongest evidences of the hard times. Loose quarters are a scarce article just now.

SEVERAL FIRMS.—On Friday last the barn of William Miller of Centre Township, was burned to the ground. He had just hauled in the last of his crop. The loss was a total one, including three horses, a lot of hogs the wagon, harness, &c. In trying to save some of the property A. K. Shuman had his hand severely burned. The insurance had expired. The fire was the work of an incendiary.

DROWNED.—Vine Cannon, son of John C. Cannon, south High Street, aged two years and four months, was drowned Monday afternoon by falling into a pit that had recently been dug for an outhouse, and filled with water during the recent rains. The child had been playing with other children, and wandered from them, and was raised by his mother, who found him shortly after, but too late.—Herald Sentinel.

The contract of Rollins & Holmes on the new jail includes gas and water pipes, drainage, tinning and steam heating. They are now engaged in a similar contract in the Sunbury prison. These gentlemen are gaining a wide reputation, and their work shows that they are justly entitled to it. Formerly it was necessary to employ a contractor to do the plumbing, &c., but now they are doing it all themselves, and are establishing an establishment at home that can do all jobs in their line in a skillful manner.

SINGULAR ACCIDENT.—During the shooting on Wednesday night a lady in town was standing off at a distance witnessing the battle, when a report that had been fired up into the air, dropped on the lady's head and imbedded itself in her black hair. Her hat was also knocked off but she did not know what caused it. When she got home and prepared to retire, the ball dropped out of her hair and fell on the floor. The gentleman who was in company with this lady was demoralized when the shooting began and left for safe quarters, permitting the lady to take care of herself. She remained until the war was over and then went home alone.—Standard Times.

Below we give a statement of the contract for work, the names of the contractors, and the amounts for which the work is to be done.

Stones and mason work, Sterner & Co., $30,000.00

Heating, gas-fitting, plumbing, &c., Rollins & Holmes, 6,465.00

The carpenter work, painting and plastering has not yet been allowed.

The stone for trimming and warden's house are the Ferrandville stone from Clinton county. The cells, guard wall, etc., will be Shick-shiny stone.

The Bloomsburg Columbus finds fault because our militia is not composed of veterans. The best way for Col. Brockway to remedy that is to organize a company of veterans if he can, and see that it is drilled.—Jude.

In reply to the above we would state that we did organize a company of men a few years ago, mainly veterans, and at considerable expense. Our roster numbered over 100 men, good and true. They were duly mustered in, commissions were issued, guns were promised if we would pay the freight, which we agreed to do. The guns never came, and who knows where they are now. The company was disbanded. [Now, Brother Bixby, we may add that during the late emergency we offered the Governor 150 picked men, but he declined the offer with thanks.]

A SNAKES CHANGE.—On last Monday morning Samuel Stiltz, a clerk who for some time past has been hanging around this place, was arrested on the charge of an assault with an attempt to commit a rape on the body of a young daughter of James Dennis, a respectable colored man of this place. He was promptly placed in jail after a hearing before Justice Brower. It seems that Miss Dennis and another colored girl on last Saturday night were out for a walk in the park, and were overtaken by Stiltz, who at once made indecent proposals to the Dennis girl. Upon refusing, Stiltz struck her whereupon she screamed for help, which came at once. The girl was then released, and the scoundrel fled.

P. S.—Since writing the above we have learned that Stiltz has been released from jail upon condition that he pays the cost of his trial. We hope the county for nine months unless sooner recalled for a very pleasant day.

THE ABOVE DESCRIBES OUR SITUATION EXACTLY, and we hope every one who is in debt to us will take it as though we had written it ourselves.

Thomas H. Greer was yesterday elected recorder of Altoona. There were two things which materially aided him. Altoona is Democratic through and through, and so is Greer. Altoona is full of strikes, and so is Greer. He is not very learned as a lawyer, yet he is shrewd, and Altoona may be congratulated on having a recorder who fairly represents the views of a majority of her citizens.—Gazette & Bulletin.

An oriental traveler describes this busy scene, witnessed on historic shores: "Our steamer landed on a beach which was the port of Dr. J. Christians. There was no town at the water's edge, no people, no wharf. The passengers and the merchandise were put ashore in lighters, which ran up into the sand. A troop of camels, with their drivers, lay on the beach, ready to transfer the goods into the interior. Among the articles landed were boxes of Dr. J. Christians' medicine, and a large quantity of the same. The camels were loaded with the medicine, and the drivers were ready to transport it to the interior. The scene was a busy one, and the camels were the main mode of transport."
