BUCKHORN, Nov. 4th, 1878. Moors. Editors Columbian:

Saturday evening November 2d was the oc easion of mirth and glee at the residence of Mr-Sylvester Pursel. T'was "Clark" the only son who caused the trouble. He being tired of hunting and fishing alone took unto nimself wife. The amiable and esteemed Miss Allie Dieterick, being the honored victim. Invitations having been issued, the guests began to arrive about 4 o'clock, among whom were noticed the Buckhorn band who seem to be per feetly adapted to such occasions, being a vocal, suring and brass combined. Supper was soon alled when fifty or more partook of such a repast as is seldom gotten up even in our cities; wife, and as many thanks to Mrs. and Mr. Pursel for the kindnesses received at their hands. On the eve of an election it is a disreputable but customary practice to circulate falsehoods too late to be denied, that are expected to benefit favorite candidates. It is useless as a general thing to attempt to refute these yarre- but now that the election is over we refer to a falsehood used by a greenbacker gain votes for his candidate for State Senator. On Monday evening a few hours before the polls opened w were informed that a package of tickets contain ing the names of all the democratic candidates except that of Geo. D. Jackson, for Senator, in been delivered in Madison township, to a member of the Democratic Standing Committee, with the assertion that the package was sent to him by one of the editors of the Columbian. This was out, but on the contrary, refused to give this formation as to whom he should deliver them We printed the tickets for the same reason that we printed some for Mr. Klotz, for Mr. Ent, for the Greenback party, because they were order ed and paid for, and our refusal to print could by no means have prevented their circulation as they would have got them elsewhere. Any assertions, however, that we did anything for any body but the straight Democratic nominee are false. We were for Dill and the whole tick et, first, last and all the time, but we could not

THE NEWSPAPER BUSINESS.—Here is how brother journalist puts it: "We suppose that many people think that newspaper men are persistent duns; let a farmer place himself in similar business position and see if he would not do the same. Suppose he raised two thousand bushels of wheat, and his neighbor should come and buy a bushel, and the price was a the neighbor says, "I will hand you the amount Coughs and colds; and if you are thus afflicted, in a few days." As the farmer did not want to be small about the matter, he says all right, and the man leaves with the wheat. Another comes in the same way until the whole of the one thousand bushels of wheat are trusted out to one thousand different persons, and not one o it, for it is a small amount that he owes the farmer, and of course that would not help him any. He does not realize that the farmer has frittered away all his large crop of wheat, and that its value is due him in a thousand little driblets, and that he is seriously embarrassed in his bultures is cashe his debtors treat is as a !! tle matter. But if all would pay him promptly it would be a very large amount to the farmer and enable him to carry on his business without

THE WALKING MAN.

Prof. H. Faux, the great walker, who ap-peared in our midst a few days ago gave an exhibition of his powers on Washington street on Monday last. square heel and the walk.

The fastest time on record is that of an English professional, whose record for a single attack on Lord Beaconsfield's Eastern mile is 6:10. Mr. Faux claims that he can walk a mile in five minutes. If he can do it, he is the fa-test walker in the world. He claims to have walked 110 miles in 19 hours, and says he can produce a lady pedestrian who can walk 19 miles in four hours. • • • He weighs 142 pounds and is 23 years old. His residence is Scranton where he first took to walking." Prof. Faux was employed the past week at Hambleton Fair, next week will be em ployed by the Fair in Kent county and after that by the Maryland State Fair. - Easton Md.

November, the first month proclaiming the embers of the dying year, is upon us. It derives its name from Novem, nine. The last o the autumnal signs was Sagitariue, because when the sun passed it the trees were nearley divested of their foliage which the ancients considered as indicative of the season for hunting, About 9 o'clock the quests began to leave, but and hence they represented the constellation un. leaving their many well wishes for Clark and der the figures of an archer with bow and arrows. The Saxons named it Wint Manath (wind month). The closing day of November is St. Andrew's St. Cecelia has also conferred a ghostly honor on his month, as well as upon music. Leigh Hunt says November "with its loss of verdure, its frequent rains, the fall of leaf, and the visible approach of winter, is undoubt edly a gloomy month to the gloomy, but to others it brings but pensiveness -- a feeling very far from being destitute of pleasure; and if the healthiest and most imaginative of us may feel their spirits pulled down by reflection connected with earth-its moralities and its mistakes, we shall but strengthen ourselves the more to make strong and sweet music with the changeful but harmonious movements of nature."

But what is there sad in November? The crysanthemums and dahlias are out in their glory; the forest trees are as gay as a rainbow; the air is bright, crisp and invigorating; there are corn huskings in the barns of the farmers; apples are gathered in ; fires are kindled, parties and balls are given, business is brisk in town and country. The leaves fall in October, it is true, but there is nothing sad or melancholy in that any more than there is in putting off an old must not be forgotten that they enrich the soil and protect the roots of the trees which bore them. If they did not fall there would be no green bads and white blossoms in the spring. October and November are bright, jolly and enjoyable months, the most so of any year. 'There oothing so bright as a day in June' except s day in October. But the brightness glories and guieties of November will follow their predeces sors into the dread and solemn past, covered by the pall of dark December. Coming after the sad summer wherein a destroying peetilenc benumbed the energies of the people in one of the airest por tions of our land, and caused the orlinary pleasures and recreations of society to be neglected and the nations to be,bathed in sorrow because of the carnival of death, a sadness marks its advent that all its brilliancy cannot efface. But its bracing atmosphere will stop the tread of the resper and dry the tear of grief and sorrow and bring security to the house of mourn-
