The compression of falles' feet to less than u ii their natural size is not to be regarded as a mark, or as a consequence, of the infeciority of the sex. It is really a mark of endinty. Various accounts are given of the origin of this custom. One is, that an emmeror was jentous of his wife, and to prevent iss to m gadding abroad, put her feet in iron stocks. Another, is, that a certain emtres Tan ke (B. C., 1100) was born with and their and that she caused the emperor i on a set of adopting her foot as the noist of beauty and requiring the compressing of lemale infants' feet so as to conform to the imperial standard ; while a third acecount is that the Emperar Le yuh (A. D., 061) was munsing himself one day in the palars, when it appeared to him that he might improve the feet of a favorite concubine. He caused her feet to be so bent as to raise the instep into an arch, to resemble the new moon. The figure was much admired another emperor, 200 years later, placed a
