Agricultural.

Do Not be Humbugged

If every farmer in the land could read, and profit by the accounts given in the American Agriculturalist during the past year only, of the various special frauds upon farmers, it would, in the aggregate, be a saving of hun-dreds of thousands of dollars to the farming mmunity. There are a set of swindlers whose operations are sepecially dissored towards parmers

It is no reflection upon the intelligence of farmers that this is so. These rascals know that all kinds of fish are not to be caught with one bait; hence they operate with eler-gymen, doctors, merchants, and farmers, each in a different manner. It is safe to predict that there is a new set of traps ready this spring to catch farmers. Of late years the 'agency' dodge has been played successfully, and it has already been started thus ea ly in the season. These swindlers are all after one pattern. A glib-tongued chap, No. 1, wishes to establish an 'agency' for some crinkum. , It may be a stomp puller, a ma-chine for grinding the knives of mowing machines, it may be a chure power, or spring bed .- Whatever it is, chap No. 1, somehow, or in some way, contrives to get the signature of the farmer. Here is where the trouble begins. We have cautioned and reiterated er continue keeping the back exposed to the caution:

'FARMERS BE CAREFUL WHAT YOU SIGN.' To do otherwise is debilitating. but this does not seem to be enough; no matter how much care is exercised, the a colder one keep the mouth closed, so that smooth tounged chap, No. 1, is usually too the air may be warmed by its passage much for the farmer. So we say to farmers, don't not as agents for anything, but if you will not head this, and the temptation as to profit is too great to resist, and you will disregard warnings, we beg of you,

FARMERS, DON'T SIGN ANYTHING. You may be asked to agree to become an agent you may be asked to give your advice, so that the sample machine, to be sont free, ill come all right; you may be merely ask-

Don't, do not-pray refrain from signing your name to anything whatever. Observe this and you are safe, Sign your name on any pretence to anything whatever, and you He is not smooth tongued or persuasive. He marked : has come to collect his bill. You have ordered so and so. The goods are at the depot, here is the bill, and he wants the money. as he must take the next train. You can't say you never ordered the goods, for there is your ture ! You can't deny it, but you signed it as an agreement to act as agent, or signed it as your address-No. 2 knows thing about this cares nothing about it, but wants his money. Here again we say, don't. Don't be bullied into paying it, but let him do his worst. Show him the door, and let him appeal to the court if he dares The game has been begun, and hundreds ners, to avoid trouble will throw away susands of dollars the coming season.

DON'T BE BULLIED into paying a dollar on any such claim. At the most, it can only go to a jury of your neighbors to decide, but not one case in a hundred will ever come to that. One correspondent in writing from Massaetta, says that some of his neighbors think that an agricultural paper can teach them nothing, yet one of the most conceited farmers had to pay $30, which he would have saved, had he read our humbug articles, at the very swindle was exposed there.—From the American Agriculturist for February.

Sowing Oats Early.

In few things have the advantages of an anderdrain soil shown to better effect than in oat-growing. Light soils are not favorable to the oat, and yet it is the light soils which are the early ones. On the other hand the oat requires a moderately low temperature of at least two months to perfect its root organization. It ought to be one of the earliest crops sown in spring, but our strong soils on which the out does best are often wet soils, and very unfavorable to early sow-

Those who have strong soils, and yet tol erable dry, have the very best of oatland, and those who have not must watch every chance to get in the seed early if they would

Those who know this and yet havelland for oats which they feel they will hardly be able to seed before the end of April, sometimes prepare the land in fall, and then sow the seed on the snow in February. Snow in our region is too precarious to found any system thereon. We may have snow or we may not. But in the Western states, where snow is a regular thing at that time of the year, we notice that the practice is growing into favor. Those who have tried it say the seed sprouts as soon at the first warm days of spring come, some two weeks at least a headfofthe regular April'sowings, and the crop onately increased. We may not find this plan everywhere feasible, but we may be encouraged always to sow at the earliest time practicable.—Germantown Telegraph.

A very common mistake is made and much fuel wasted in the manner of replenishing coal fires, both in furnaces and grates. They should be fed with a little coal at a time, and often; but servants to save time and trouble, put on a great deal at once, the first result being that almost all heat is absorbed by the newly put on coal, which does | the rest said ; not give out heat until it has become red hot. Hence, for a while the room is cold, but when it becomes fairly aglow the heat is insufferable. The time to replenish a coal fire is as soon as the coals begin to show ashes on their surface, then put on merely enough to show a layer of black coal covering the red. This will soon kindle, and, as there is not much of it, an excess of heat will not be given out. Many put out the fire by stirring the grate as soon as fresh coal is put on, thus leaving all heat in the ashes when it should be sent to the new supply of coal. The time to stir the fire is just when the new coal laid on is pretty well kindled. This method of managing a coal fire is troubsome, but it saves fuel, gives a more uniform heat, and prevents the discomfort of alterations of heat above referred to.

An exchange says: 'Young man in you teens or just out of them, what are you doing to promote your own culture? You stirring about ; you ought to tory, biography, philosophy, science, or whatever department you may feel the most interest in, and read. Do this every day for a year and you will be surpried at you own advance. If you are ever going to be anything in the world you must begin preparation in your early years. You say you have no time. Ten minutes each day devoted to reading would give you 3,650 minutes or sixty-one hours in a year. And there is not a young man who reads these lines who could not give one hour a day to intelligent reading if he were so disposed. Young man also our advice; improve your time." whatever department you may feel the most

A Mean Advantage.

There were a score or more of women gathered together at Mr. Johnson's house. Mr. Johnson is a good hearted man and a respectable citizen, though he is rather skeptical in some things. The women had just organized the 'Foreign Benevolent Society,' when Mr. Johnson entered the room. He was at once appealed to donate a few dollars as a foundation to work on and then Mrs. Graham added :

'It would be so pleasant in after years for you to remember that you gave this society its first dollar and its first kind word.' He slowly opened his wallet, drew out s ten dollar bill, and as the ladies smacked their lips and clasped their bands, he said :
'Is this organized to aid the poor of for eign countries?" 'Yes-yes-yes !' they chorused

'And it wants money ?' 'Yes-yes.'

'Well, now,' said Johnson, as he folded the bill in a tempting shape, 'there are twenty married women here. If there are fiteen of you who can make oath that you have combed the children's hair this morning, washed the dishes, blackened the cook stove and made the beds, I'll donate ten dol-
